Leo J. Barry Named Principal of N.H.S.

Leo J. Barry of 344 Woodward street, Waban, took over the reins of Newton High School today (Thursday), as Raymond A. Green officially marked the end of 14 years as principal of the nationally-known school.

A member of the Newton High faculty since 1941, the new principal became an administrative assistant after returning from Naval service during World War II and was named assistant principal in 1951.

The assistant principal post will now be filled by James D. Laurits, who has been assistant principal in charge of instruction. The appointments were made Thursday night by the Newton School Committee, which advanced its regular Monday meeting date to allow Supt. Harold B. Gores to attend a convention of educators.

Before coming to Newton, Principal Barry taught English in Danvers for seven years. A graduate of Bates College, he edited "Navy News in the Pacific" as a Navy lieutenant, covering the war crime trials in the Philippines. In his former high school position, he edited "School Age" and was director of radio for the Newton schools.

In April, he was elected president of the Newton Community Council. Mr. Barry earned his master's degree in education from Boston University, and received his Doctor of Education degree in June from Harvard University.

Dr. Anderson to Direct Teachers College Study

ALDERMEN OBJECT TO SALE OF 23-ACRE C. H. TRACT OF LAND

Appeal Board Approves Plea for 3 Apartments

After three attempts at gaining the extra apartments were turned down, the Westbrook Company which operates a large apartment block at the corner of Wesley, Church and Centre streets, Newton — was granted permission last week by the Board of Appeals to construct additional basement dwelling units.

In its decision, the Board of Appeals pointed out that basement apartments are provided in the building code for buildings of that type of construction, and a similar apartment house nearby does have the basement units.

"However," the Board of Appeals report stated, "since these apartments were built in 1945, the lot which they occupy, has been rezoned to Residence D, where apartment houses are not allowed. Therefore the building commissioner had no choice but to deny the aforesaid applications."

At a hearing the morning of June 8, the Westbrook application was opposed by several neighbors, who based their objections on the increased traffic the apartments would cause.

"Of course," noted the board, "the same objection would apply to all new families moving into Newton. While we realize that an increase in population increases the traffic, we think the traffic problem should be solved in some way other than by excluding an increase in population."

"On the evidence presented to this board, we find that the granting of these applications has no substantial relation to the public safety, public health or public welfare," the board continued. "We also find that it would amount to an unreasonable and oppressive deprivation of applicant's interest in its private property to deny these applications."

The board pointed out that while their action was contrary to a recent vote by the aldermen, the approval was not a reversal of the aldermen's decision since the appeal was made from a ruling by the building commissioner.

"Whatever reasons the aldermen may have had for denying these applications," the Board of Appeals stated, "we are required by the General Laws of Massachusetts to decide the applications on the facts before us, and on these facts we have no question as to the result."

The board's report cited a number of Massachusetts court cases. One decision was quoted as "Where the application of the by-laws to a particular parcel of the land together with the attending peculiar circumstances demonstrates that the imposition of the zoning regulation in such an instance has no real or substantial relation to the public safety, public health, or public welfare but would amount to an unreasonable and oppressive deprivation of the owner's interest in his private property, then the application of the regulation has been struck down."

The Board of Aldermen have turned down a pair of petitions by the Westbrook Company this year for the basement apartments. The first petition sought a change of zone, and the second asked a variance of the zoning ordinances.

Following the second refusal in May, the company asked Building Commissioner Arthur A. Campbell for permits to construct three basement apartments. He refused to allow the construction, and the firm appealed his decision.

Temple Seeks To Build New Comm. Center

Opposition to the sale of a 23-acre tract of Metropolitan District Commission-owned land in Chestnut Hill to a Roxbury temple for a community center was voiced in a resolution adopted Monday night by the Newton Board of Aldermen.

The resolution, offered by Alderman Lawrence B. Damon, urged the MDC to hold the land "for development and the continuing use as recreational area for park purposes."

The resolution was voted by a 15-3 vote after Alderman Damon reported the MDC was scheduled to vote tonight (Thursday) on the sale to Temple Mishkan Tefila of Roxbury. The MDC owns 51 acres in all in the west side of Hammond Pond parkway, but the temple is seeking to purchase only 23 acres of this. It wants to build the community center here because nearly half the congregation now resides in the Newton-Brookline area.

Alderman Damon's resolution was discussed briefly by the aldermen before they thrashed out the details of it in executive, closed-door session.

A strong plea for the sale was made by Hersh Sharf, who said that allowing the land to be used by a religious group could not possibly do any harm along the parkway.

W.N. Raid Uncovers Huge Gambling Ring

A 42-year-old Revere man is scheduled to face two gambling charges tomorrow (Friday) in Newton District Court after a police raid uncovered what was described as one of the largest betting rings to operate in Newton.

Murray Sherman of 138 Ocean avenue, Revere, is free on $2000 bail pending tomorrow's trial. He faces charges of being concerned in setting up and promoting a lottery, and registering bets on the speed of horses.

The defendant pleaded innocent to both charges Monday, but the case was continued.

Sherman was arrested Saturday afternoon when a 4-man police raiding party found him in a second-floor room at 34 River street, West Newton. Police

Grant Permit to DuMont For TV Tower in Hig'lds

A permit for a third television transmission tower in Newton was granted by the aldermen Monday despite an adverse report on the project by the claims and rules committee.

Following a lengthy debate which centered about the financial advantages to the city from a television tower, the board overturned the committee's report 15-5 and then approved the tower with only Wendell R. Buckman, president of the board, still opposing.

The permit allows the Allen B. DuMont Laboratories to erect a 922-foot transmission tower at the corner of Curtis and Winchester streets, Newton Highlands. This tower will only be built if DuMont receives Federal Communications Commission approval to operate Channel 5.

Alderman Leo M. Cannon, making his first appearance on the board since a serious auto accident, was the first to object to the claims and rules report recommending "leave to withdraw."

Pointing out that locations have already been allowed for two other stations seeking Channel 5, Mr. Cannon said he was "a little bit alarmed" because the city may be discriminating against one company. He said the board should vote the permit "to get a better chance at taxable property."

His stand was seconded by H. Eugene Jones. He explained that only a small triangular-shaped area has been approved by aeronautical authorities for television tower construction, and the "triangle" is composed almost entirely of Newton and a small section of Boston.

Though the city may keep the tower outside its limits, Alderman Jones continued, we would not be free from it since DuMont would probably find another location slightly across the Boston line.

President Buckman argued — PERMIT —

The Newton Centre Improvement Association will again sponsor an all-day celebration of Independence Day for the children of Newton Centre Monday morning and afternoon both at Crystal Lake and the Newton Centre playground.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Row Over State Committee Chairman Hurts Democrats ... Murphy Supporters Causing New Discord in Party Ranks ...

Until now it appeared that the main handicap confronting Representative Robert F. Murphy of Malden, who was nominated as the Democratic candidate to run against Governor Herter next fall, is that he is not nearly as well known as Herter in most sections of Massachusetts.

Now it seems that Murphy's supporters risked defections within their own party in their unsuccessful attempts to oust John C. Carr of Medford from the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee and replace him with one of Murphy's lieutenants.

Representative Murphy is considered an honest, sincere, hard working official who has set a high campaign tempo four full months before election and may prove to be a potent contender. But his judgment in seeking to take over the chairmanship of the Democratic State Committee is open to question.

In the first place, Murphy is not yet the official nominee for Governor and will not be until after the Democratic voters nominate him in the primary next September. He probably will be the primary choice, but there is always the possibility that someone will move in to challenge him. Former State Treasurer Francis X. Hurley has been considering doing so and has been making checks to ascertain what strength he might draw, if he opposed Murphy.

lege of business administration in 1922, holding degrees also from Williams College and Harvard Law School. He was born in Shelburne Falls, Mass.

JOSEPH E. PERRY

Following his graduation from the Law School, Mr. Perry practiced law in Boston, specializing in tax corporation law. He served for three years in the Massachusetts Income Tax Department and for six years in the Massachusetts Legislature, where he served as Chairman of the Committees on Taxation and on Constitutional Law. From 1940 to 1944 he was Commissioner of Banks for Massachusetts and Chairman of the Board of Bank Incorporation and in 1943-4 he was President of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks.

For the past 10 years he has been President of the Newton

Savings Bank with offices in Newton, Wellesley and Needham. He has been active in city, state and national banking organizations and has served as President of the Newton Bankers Association, the Massachusetts Savings Bank Life Insurance Council, and the Savings and Mortgage Division of the American Bankers Association. He has been a frequent contributor to banking periodicals and has addressed bankers' associations in a number of states.

Mr. Perry was Grand Master of Masons in Massachusetts from 1938 to 1940, was President of the State Association of Y.M.C.A. for Massachusetts and Rhode Island, in 1936 and 1937; and Chairman of the Trustees of the Belmont Methodist Church for 25 years. He resides at 18 Holt street, Belmont and has served on the Belmont School Committee, the Harvard Law School Council, and as President of the Belmont Rotary Club and a Director of the Newton Rotary Club of which he is now a member.

argued William R. Mattson, "has been to maintain property owned by the MDC and the city for recreational or park purposes." Stating the vote would be "not antagonistic to any group," he urged passage of the resolution.

Four items were listed in the resolution as follows: "Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Board of Aldermen of the City of Newton hereby—

"Declares its belief that this area of approximately 51 acres should be held for and voted solely for park purposes and the recreational use of the general public;

"Request that the MDC continue to hold and develop this property for such public purposes and use;

"Request that in the event the sale of MDC land in Newton is proposed by the MDC at any time, the MDC shall give written notice thereof to the Board of Aldermen through the City Clerk and a first refusal to the City of Newton to purchase such property for a period of 30 days at the offered price.

"Direct the city clerk to mail forthwith to the MDC... a copy of the foregoing resolution."

Permit-

strongly against the permit, declaring, "There seems no sacred spot in which a tower must go for valuation purposes. I do not go along with the idea that valuations are the only thing we want in this city."

Public Hearing

At a public hearing on the DuMont petition last week, Atty. Harris A. Reynolds explained that the tower would cost nearly a million dollars. It emits "no smoke, noise or offensive odors" and would not require any services from the city other than water and sewer installation.

The assessed value of the tower would be greater than any other business property which could be attracted to the site, he continued, giving the city "a substantial windfall over the years."

Atty. Reynolds offered to let the Police Department attach one of its radio antennae on the tower, eliminating a number of weak reception areas throughout the city. DuMont, he stated, would also provide space for receiving equipment without charge.

Real estate values in the neighborhood would not be lowered by the presence of the tower, and the structure would actually protect a wide area from being struck by lightning, the speaker claimed.

The board previously voted to allow the Columbia Broadcasting System to erect a 1050-foot tower in Newton Highlands and to allow the Herald-Traveler to build its tower in Newton Upper Falls. Plans call for all three towers to be placed close to the Boston and Albany Railroad tracks.

In no event could all three towers be constructed, however, since the firms have all filed applications for Channel 5 in Boston. This is the only free channel left in Boston, as the FCC allotted only four stations to this area. Two channels are already in use and another has been set aside for educational television.

The lone speaker in opposition to the petition was Dino DiCarlo, who owns property directly across the street assessed for $300,000. He said the tower would detract from his property, and "in case of war, the tower would be one of the first targets."

A petition in opposition, signed by 20 residents, was also received by the aldermen.

playground in the morning. At 12:30 p.m., swimming races will be held at Crystal Lake. Races and contests for the older children will be conducted back at the playground at 2:30 p.m. The fireworks display will be set off starting at dusk.

The Newton Centre Improvement Association sponsors the all-day celebration in the hope that the children may enjoy a safe holiday. All expenses, amounting to "well over $1000," are borne by the Association with the aid of contributions from Newton Centre citizens.

Should there be rain, the fireworks will be staged the following Saturday.

The bicycle parade will start at 9 a.m. from the lawn in front of the Mason School on Centre street. The bicycles will parade through several streets and will line up in front of the playground house on Tyler terrace. A prize will be given for the best-decorated bike.

The bicycle event will be followed by a doll carriage parade. Prizes will be awarded for the most original carriage, the prettiest carriage and the best-dressed doll.

One handicraft exhibit for girls and one for boys will also be staged. Prizes will be given for the most original and prettiest in the girls' competition, and for the most original and most useful in the boys' section.

All pets except dogs and horses are eligible for a general pet show. Prizes include the prettiest, ugliest and most original pets.

Dog, "Mutt" Shows

Pedigree dogs are not necessary for winning one of the three prizes for the "most individual" entries in the dog show. The same awards will be given for dogs exhibited in a "mutt" show.

Boys and girls are scheduled to race individually in a tonic race, peanut race and 35-yard race to wind up the morning part of the celebration.

Swimming events will get under way at 12:30 p.m. at Crystal Lake. Ten to 13-year-olds will race in the 15-yard dog paddle and the 25-yard freestyle. Those entrants from 14 to 17 years of age can compete in the 25-yard freestyle, 25-yard backstroke and 50-yard free style. Boys and girls will race separately.

Returning to the playground at 2:30, there will be field events for the 10-17 age group. The 10 to 13-year-olds will participate in a 35-yard dash. The older competitors will have a 50-yard dash. Also scheduled are a sack race, three-legged race, shoe race and baseball throw for boys for accuracy and for distance.

Females of all ages are eligible to enter the "Miss Newton Centre" contest at 7:30 p.m. The winner will be chosen by public acclaim. Following awarding of prizes and the lowering of the flag, the program will close with the fireworks display.

Barry-

Mr. Laurits, who will continue as director of Newton Junior College, was graduated from Yale College, received a master's degree from the University of Chicago and is working towards his doctor's degree at Harvard University. He formerly taught in Elgin, Ill., was a teaching fellow at Harvard and was assistant to the dean at the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

Other Principals
The School Committee also appointed Frank Zervas, a teacher at the Cabot School in Newtonville, to be acting principal of the Hyde School, Newton Highlands. The school's principal, Clarence E. Churchill, teaches in England under a Fulbright Scholarship next year. In return, an English teacher, Eric Waller, will teach science at Newton High School.

Miss Olive Eldridge was named to succeed Francis A. Tanner as principal of the Memorial School in Newton Centre. The School Committee accepted "with regret" the resignation of Mr. Tanner.

Cecilia A. Dunlop, a teacher at the Ward School, Newton Centre, was appointed head teacher at the Burr School, Auburndale. The former head teacher, Leslie Tourville, was granted a leave of absence to study in the new doctoral program in educational administration at Harvard University.

Appointed head teacher at the Oak Hill School was Genevieve B. Ford; at the Bowen School, Newton Centre, Mary S. McPartlin; and at the Spaulding School, Newton Centre, Catherine T. Taber.

The retirements of three school teachers, whose combined service totals 94 years, were approved by the committee. Retiring are A. Hortense Church, who has taught in the Commercial Department of the High School since 1913; Frances Knowles, who has taught two separate terms in the High School for a combined total of 29 years; and John L. Sullivan of the Technical-Vocational High School, who started his teaching career here in 1918.

lice said they found two telephones, hundreds of slips containing horse race, baseball and number pool bets, an electric clock and an all-band radio.

The telephones were connected into a trap door in the floor, and all the gambling items seized could also fit into the secret compartment. One of the police investigators said the hiding place was so cleverly concealed you could stand on top of it and never notice it.

Also seized were records of the gambling operation, including the names of the agents in Revere and Winthrop. Police stated that none of the agents operated in Newton.

After being booked at Newton Police Headquarters, Sherman was released in $600 bail on the two charges. Police requested an increase in bail to $1000 on each count Monday morning. After Judge James E. Luby agreed to the increase, Sherman produced the difference between the two sums in cash and was released.

The defendant's trouble appeared to be increasing even as he pleaded innocent to the charges, as representatives of the state and federal income tax divisions and a member of the district attorney's office were closeted with Police Chief Philip Purcell.

The raid on the River street house was conducted by Lt. George W. O'Neil, Sgt. James E. Halloran, Insp. Joseph B. Lyons and Insp. Augustus E. White.

After warrants were issued early this week for their arrest, a West Newton brother and sister were charged with being concerned in the setting up and promoting of a lottery.

Pasquale Yerardi of 34 River street, and Mrs. Anne T. Gangi of 117 Warwick road, both pleaded innocent to the charges. Their cases were also continued until tomorrow (Friday).

Police stated that a telephone used by Sherman was listed to Yerardi and Mrs. Gangi was in the River street house at the time of the raid.

Fulbright Scholarship

Priscilla Chapman of 84 Highland street, West Newton, who was graduated this month from Radcliffe College, has been awarded a Fulbright Scholarship for a year's study of French literature at the University of Aix Marseilles in southern France.

News of Warren

The 231 members of the Class of 1954 of the Levi F. Warren Junior High School in West Newton recently attended their final assembly as Warrentes. In traditional class-day form, the histories of each of their three years at Warren were read by Brian Smith, Lois Marchant, Mary Ann Cushing, Gloria Rowe, Marie Venuto and Fred Kinsella. The class will be read by Harris Funkenstein and Ann Ostroff.

The class president, Carl Cioppa, presented to Paul C. Scarborough, principal, as a gift from the class, a check to be used toward the purchase of a basketball score board.

An interesting part of the final assembly program each year is the awarding of the athletic awards for the spring sports.

Each year a cup is presented to the Girls' Color Team which has won the most points in their after-school sports program. The results were very close this year, but final tallies showed the Green Team in first place with 255 points. The cup was presented to captain Judy Brown by Esther Jacobson, captain of the Blue Team which had custody of the cup during 1953-54. The Red Team and Yellow Team tied for second and third places with 245, and the Blue Team was fourth with 230 points.

Twenty-five girls were presented softball emblems and letters. Twenty of the varsity baseball players and 19 of the junior varsity baseball team received baseball emblems and letters.

At the track meet held at the Senior High School, the Warren Junior High placed second against the other Newton junior high schools. Outstanding performances were given by Peter Nelson who won three of the events, by Jack McCree who set a new ninth grade broad jump record of 18 ft. 7 1/2 in., and by Bruce Hatch who tied for a new seventh grade 50-yard dash record of 6.4 seconds.

Letters were awarded to these three boys, also to James Saklad, Sam McClary and Mark Albert of the seventh grade; Robert Farrell, Richard Gores, Charles Stewart, and Colin Formalarie of the eighth grade; and Arthur Sullivan, Allan Martin, John Beggs, and Lawrence Kellem of the ninth grade.

Service Awards

The Warren Junior High School maintains a point system whereby pupils may earn points for services rendered to the school and receive numerals, seals and pins. Yellow numerals are awarded for earning 15 to 25 points; red numerals for 26 to 40 points; the school seal for 41 to 55 points; and the highest award, the school honor pin, for 56 or more points.

Because of the large number receiving them, the yellow and red numerals were presented to pupils in the homerooms. From the stage of the assembly hall, however, Mr. Scarborough presented the school seal to 19 pupils and the school honor pin to 20.

Music Awards

This year for the first time awards were made to the boy and the girl in each of the musical organizations for outstanding achievement, effort and citizenship in music. So honored this year were Janet Goldrick and Drew Weyland, both of whom play trumpet in the school band. Orchestra awards went to Judy Brown who plays clarinet, and to Robert Seyfarth who plays saxophone. Chosen from the glee clubs to receive the medals and have their names inscribed on the music award plaque with the other winners were Christopher Marsh and Catherine Rizza.

Surabian Memorial

Several years ago Warren Junior High School established, in memory of a member of its faculty who died in service during World War II, Lt. Simon Surabian, a memorial award for achievement in athletics. Lt. Surabian, a Junior III mathematics teacher was keenly interested in sports. To-day his memorial award is the highest athletic award for which boys and girls may work. The audience sat almost breathless as Mr. Scarborough tore open the envelope to learn the names of the Jr. III girl and the Jr. III boy who had been chosen as worthy of this honor. Thunderous applause broke forth as the names were announced—Peter Nelson, chosen from the boys; Janet Goldrick and Lois Marchant from the girls. For the first time since the origin of this award, two girls were so closely tied that it was impossible to decide between them, and the award was made to both girls. Allan Martin also received honorable mention for his athletic achievements.

Rep Heaney to Be Candidate For Reelection

Representative Arthur G. Heaney has announced his candidacy for reelection in the Republican Primary, September 14th in the Fifth Middlesex District, Ward 4, 5 and 6 of Newton. Heaney was elected March 9th of this year to fill the unexpired term of Mayor Howard Whitmore, a contest in which he demonstrated his vote-getting ability by gaining a 2 to 1 majority over his Democratic opponent despite an all-out effort by the opposition to stage an upset.

He has an impressive background of the 25 years experience in accounting and business administration and is a member of the National Association of Cost Accountants and the Boston Wool Trade Association. Recently he established an office at 8 Beacon street, Boston, adjacent to the State House, which will enable him to more efficiently perform his duties as Representative to the General Court.

Since establishing residence in Newton some 15 years ago Representative Heaney has actively participated in church, charitable and civic affairs and is a member of a number of organizations including the Newton Republican Club, Republican Ward 5 Committee, Oak Hill District Improvement Association, Newton Chamber of Commerce and Men's Club of Newton Highlands. He is a lieutenant in the Newton Auxiliary Police, past president of Oak Hill District Improvement Association, former treasurer of St. Paul's Episcopal Church and presently chairman of its Chancel and Organ Fund Raising Committee.

During his short tenure in the House of Representatives he has been assigned to the Committee on Public Service and the Committee on Pensions and Old Age Assistance, has consistently supported Governor Herter's program, and concentrated on learning as much as possible about the duties of his office.

News of the Day

The final examination week brought the pupils of F. A. Day Junior High School to a well-earned and long-anticipated vacation.

The Day Track Team won, for the second straight year, the inter-school meet among the four junior high schools. The score: Day 81, Warren 70, Weeks 49, and Bigelow 45. Ted Goldthwaite of Grade 7 broke the running broad jump record for that grade, setting a new 16 feet, 9 inch mark. He also tied with another boy in making a new 50-yard dash record.

The Farewell Assembly to the ninth grade was presented at the end of the day on Friday, June 18. It was generally agreed to have been an excellent show. The script was written principally by Ellen Maslow, Bruce Egan, Linda Gould, and Joe Francione, outgoing ninth grade president.

All participants were ninth graders. Ellen Maslow and Joe Francione were announcers, and Nancy Wilbert and Louis Farrugia read the results of balloting for grade nine "Superlatives." Linda Gould and Bob DelGizzi enacted the class prophecy. Janet Roy and Dave Martowski read the Will. Tommy Melideo and Alan Lockwood assisted with stage and mikes; Bruce Egan was assistant director and teacher Addison Cowles director of the one hour show.

Also included were Vincent Battista, Sandra Minnis, and Betty Briggs, who sang; and Barry Bograd, Lucas Taddeo and Ronald Connelly on special numbers with the dance band. Mr. Cowles played a few rounds on his banjo, bravely assisted by a number of ninth grade girls. This year the ninth grade, through its president, Joe Francione, presented a money gift to Mr. Eldert and Mrs. Emerson of the Physical Education Department to be used for anything extra that might be needed.

After the assembly the final issue of the Dayonian came out.

It may be noted by parents that pupils under 15 years of age may travel to playgrounds, parks, and swimming pools on the regular lines of the Middlesex and Boston for half-fare during the summer months only.

News of the Day this year has been written by Catherine Tobin, Jesse Favre and Addison Cowles.

An All-Out Program

His Excellency Christian A. Herter, Governor of the Commonwealth and honorary chairman of the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee, and Registrar of Motor Vehicles Rudolph F. King, chairman of the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee, have announced that all enforcement personnel of the Registry of Motor Vehicles, State Police, Metropolitan District Police and police departments of communities throughout the state will combine in an all-out program of traffic regulation and control during the long July Fourth holiday weekend.

"There has never been a more acute need for public cooperation with official traffic accident prevention programs than exists in our Commonwealth today," says Governor Herter and Registrar King.

"The increase of more than 60,000 motor vehicle registrations over last year and the increase of more than 30,000 licensed drivers will create the greatest highway traffic hazard in our history during the July Fourth holiday weekend.

"We will make every effort to prevent accidents which result in death, personal injury, and huge economic losses. Control and regulation of traffic on every highway will do much to save lives. The cooperation of every highway user is absolutely essential to carry out the enforcement program of highway officials.

"Unreasonable and excessive speed, speed too fast for conditions, following too closely, failing to yield the right of way, improper passing, and acts of dangerous discourtesy are heavy contributors to death and destruction. Conviction in court for a speed violation will result in the assessment of points under the Massachusetts Point System.

"Motorists and pedestrians must recognize their responsibility and do their part to contribute to its success. Parents and guardians of children should be extremely vigilant in the protection of youngsters from highway accidents."

Governor Herter and Registrar King, speaking for the entire Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee, urge the cooperation of all citizens in the prevention of highway traffic accidents and loss of life over this holiday period. Highway safety must be everybody's business—now more than ever. It is a partnership between enforcement officials and drivers working together as a great team. Pedestrian protection is an important part of this life-saving program.

Give Thought to Pets

An appeal to pet owners planning a summer vacation to give thought to arrangements for the care of their pets was made today by Carleton E. Buttrick, president, Animal Rescue League of Boston. Mr. Buttrick suggested that those people who have a pet and intend to spend a vacation away from home without the family dog, cat, or other animal with them, should be sure to make arrangements for the pet well in advance of their departure date. Animals, and cats in particular, have an uncanny way of sensing in advance any change in their ordinary routine. Consequently, it is a good idea to keep cats, as well as other animals, under restraint or surveillance while out of doors when vacation time is imminent so that the animal will not be among the missing when the actual moment of departure is at hand.

If left behind when the family closes the house, the dog or cat often becomes a stray or a neighborhood nuisance, Mr. Buttrick said. Most cases of desertion of animals are unintentional, due principally to lack of foresight in making the necessary arrangements. If the pet is to be boarded, Mr. Buttrick advised that arrangements for doing so be carried out well before the actual time of departure. If for any reason the animal must be disposed of, it should be taken or sent to the nearest animal welfare organization where it may be placed in a new home or humanely put away.

The Challenge

Our country continues to grow at a record rate. Births are so far in excess of deaths that the population increases 7,000 every 24 hours.

Their needs are great, beginning with layettes and cribs; they will grow up to even greater needs. Our expanding business and industry happily will supply these needs—right up to the ultimate need of employment.

The labor force, now about 66 million, may total 88 million by 1975. It takes a private business investment of $12,000 for each job in manufacturing—22 million new jobs mean business and industry must find some $264 billion in the 21 years ahead.

This is a challenge to Americans to "invest in America," and to Congress to foster the kind of economical, efficient government that will make it possible.

School Is Out

The beginning of school vacation is an exciting event in the lives of over 900,000 children who have been looking forward to days of summer freedom. It's also an event in the lives of adults who must exercise full-time control and protection of the young fry during the summer months.

Parents have a duty to perform and motorists, too, have a great responsibility in this accident prevention activity. Child safety demands the fullest cooperation of everyone and since vacationing children will not be exposed to the presence of safety patrols or the supervision of teachers during the summer, the burden shifts to others. Vacation time means more motoring visitors to our state while others travel through it to destinations beyond our borders. The number of registrations has been increased by 76,000 over last year. All of these facts build conditions which, trafficwise, must be considered when thinking of safety for children.

Rudolph F. King, Registrar of Motor Vehicles and chairman of the Massachusetts Highway Safety Committee, urges every parent and every motorist to work closely with the Commonwealth's enforcement and safety officials in the prevention of accidents to children during this summer vacation period.

Are You a Heel at the Wheel?

The National Safety Council, which is coordinating a nationwide Fourth of July safety campaign, holds up six mirrors. If you can see yourself in any of them, then be prepared to become a holiday statistic.

The Me-First—this is the selfish competitive character who must be first away from the traffic light, can't stand to have anyone pass him, and risks the life of anyone who gets in his way.

The Big I—this is the fellow who is too big for the rules. Others can obey the law and a code of decent and courteous behavior, but not this self-inflated big shot. He's above all that.

The Know-It-All—this driver is good, in his own estimation. He knows just what the other driver is going to do, just how fast he can stop, just how much room he needs to cut in on another car. But the only way this over-confident jerk escapes painful disillusionment is that the really good drivers give him a wide berth.

The Swashbuckler—this fellow thinks he expresses his masculinity or something by living dangerously behind the wheel. He believes that he who hesitates is lost, and that his luck will hold forever.

The Sorehead—this fellow is just plain hostile. He drives with a chip on his shoulder and is ready to lock fenders for any real or imagined wrong. He's sore at everyone, and very brave while surrounded by a steel automobile with the windows rolled up.

The Show-Off—this is the exhibitionist. He's graduated from no hands on a bike to no sense at the wheel. He just wants people to admire his flashy performance, but most other drivers are too busy getting out of his way.

Take a good, long look at yourself in one of these mirrors. See anything?

A heel at the wheel gets by because the good drivers give him the margin of safety he fails to give himself. But the heavy Fourth of July traffic will reduce that margin. Watch it!

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Democratic members of the U. S. Senate are split as to how much federal income taxes should be reduced. One group is pressing for a $200 rise in personal exemptions, a second for a $100 exception increase and a third for a flat $20 cut for all taxpayers.

Congressman John W. McCormack will attend a strategy meeting of top Democratic politicians in Washington this week to map plans for the fall campaign.

After Attorney Joe R. Atencio of Denver had delivered an eloquent and impassioned defense of Isaac F. Scoles, who was charged with drunken driving, Atencio was ordered removed from the courtroom and was later booked for allegedly being drunk and disorderly.

Congressman Franklin D. Roosevelt is waging an all-out drive for the Democratic nomination for Governor in New York State.

Philadelphia police officials sent back 21 snub-nosed 38 caliber revolvers they had ordered for the department's police-women after discovering that the feminine officers were not strong enough to pull the triggers.

Three youths arrested for stealing an automobile in Toledo protested to police that action also should be taken against the owner of the car because the windshield wipers didn't work, the speedometer showed 94 miles an hour, "when we were only doing 85," and the brakes "were awful."

Red Cross Water Safety Program Seeks to Reduce Death Total

The aid of the Newton Red Cross Water Safety program is to do its share in cutting down the 6,000 annual deaths caused by drowning.

At Crystal Lake in Newton Centre Learn-to-Swim classes are available to both adults and children during the seven week period from July 6 through August 20. Instruction in all phases of swimming and life saving will be given to children Mondays through Friday, morning and afternoon. The minimum age for children is five years.

This Red Cross program has made it possible for hundreds of children to learn how to swim. Others have been taught the rudiments of diving and life saving. Registration is made at Crystal Lake.

"But how many of our adult population realize that we also have classes for them?" said Gilbert J. Champagne, chairman of Water Safety for the Newton Chapter. "Each year the group in our evening class becomes a little larger. While enjoying sociability its members are also serious in applying themselves to learn the basic fundamentals on the more advanced techniques of proper swimming methods."

Classes for adults will be held Tuesday and Thursday evenings, 6 to 7 and 7 to 8 p.m. Registration may be made at the Lake or by contacting the Newton Red Cross LA 7-6000 or BF 4-9591.

Muchnick Will Run for Congress

Former School Committee Chairman Isadore H. Y. Muchnick of West Roxbury, announced today that he will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 10th congressional district.

Muchnick said that he entered the contest at the suggestion of friends and Democratic leaders who believe he would have an excellent chance of winning election next November as the Democratic candidate.

The 10th district includes Wards 4, 5, 10, 12, 19, 20 and 21 of Boston, the entire city of Newton and the town of Brookline.

A graduate of Harvard College and the Harvard Law School and an outstanding practicing attorney, Muchnick represented the Ward 14 section of Dorchester in the City Council before moving to West Roxbury and was one of the most widely respected members of that body.

Muchnick served in the School Committee from 1948 to 1954 and was the chairman of that board in 1952.

"In offering my candidacy to the voters of the 10th Congressional district, I do so in the sincere conviction that I can be of service both to the people of the district and to the Democratic party," Muchnick stated.

"I realize," he said, "that no Democrat ever has been elected from this district, and I believe that fact poses a challenge not only to me but to the Democratic voters to nominate a candidate who can win in election."

I would not enter this contest, if I did not believe I could win."

5th Annual Feis Sunday, July 11, At Boston College

The Feis, a festival of Irish culture, traditional in Ireland, dating back to the time of Christ, has attracted more than 125,000 spectators and contestants in the past four years.

There will be more than 100 contests with over 1000 contestants from all over the Eastern United States. These contests will comprise poetry, musical composition, instrumentalists, singing dancing, history, story-telling, literature and elocution.

Application blanks have been distributed, and any one wishing to participate in the various events, should contact the Feis headquarters at 184 Dudley street, Roxbury, 19.

Consul Shields, in assuming the honorary chairmanship, said, "Our efforts for a bigger and better Feis will be for the sole purpose of making the true spirit of Irish culture better known in the Eastern United States."

W.N. Unitarian Couples Club

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Sears of 309 River street, West Newton, were voted co-presidents of the West Newton Unitarian Couples Club at the cook-out picnic meeting which wound up this season's activities. They will succeed Mr. and Mrs. George C. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gurry of 57 Hunnewell avenue, Newton, were named vice-presidents, and Mr. and Mrs. Philip W. Cranshaw, 28 Orchard avenue, West Newton, will serve as secretary-treasurers. The nominating committee presenting the slate comprised Mr. and Mrs. L. Fabian Bachrach Jr., and the Rev. and Mrs. Ernest W. Kuebler.

On behalf of the Club, I want to thank you for your splendid cooperation at all times, and for your generous contribution of space in The Newton Graphic in connection with publicizing our activities.

Political Overtones

In the second place, Carr has done a pretty good job as chairman of the Democratic State Committee. Under all the circumstances it's extremely doubtful that anyone else could have done any better.

An odd aspect to the situation is that, while Murphy's supporters have been maintaining that Carr supported Executive Councillor Patrick J. McDonough in the recent fight for the Democratic State Convention's endorsement for Governor, there was no evidence that this was so.

As far as this observer could see, Carr directed the convention in a completely neutral and unbiased manner. He was not a delegate, but his son, Mayor John C. Carr, Jr., of Medford, was one, and he voted for Murphy. If Chairman Carr was backing McDonough, he didn't go even to the extent of influencing the vote of his own son.

After the bitterness aroused by the Democratic assembly in Worcester and the subsequent charges by McDonough that ex-Governor Dever maneuvered Murphy's election, shrewd politics would seem to dictate that Murphy devote some time to binding the wounds and soothing the scars within his own party.

The meeting of the Democratic State Committee on Monday night, marked by confusion, rancor and threats of dissension, when Carr's followers beat down the attempt to oust him, certainly did the Democratic party no good.

Murphy must have suspected that because at the close of the stormy meeting, he said: "I've had nothing to do with this move to have new officers, so the result of the meeting tonight could be for me neither pleasure nor displeasure."

Perhaps, Murphy had nothing to do with the move. This writer would accept any statement he made as an honest one. But his supporters certainly did have something to do with it, and the man who stands to be injured most by the strife they created is Murphy himself.

If he did not have anything to do with the move, as he stated, he also did not do anything to prevent it. Some of his backers announced that they will seek another session. It will be interesting to see whether Murphy intervenes to prevent them from doing so.

There is scant likelihood of any showdown during the present session of Congress on either of the resolutions which have been introduced in the U. S. Senate against Senator Joseph R. McCarthy.

Two powerful considerations probably will cause the pigeon-holing of measures filed by Senators Ralph Flanders of Vermont and Herbert H. Lehman of New York which, if adopted, would remove McCarthy from the chairmanship of the Senate Committee on Government Operations and its subcommittee on investigations.

One is that a debate on so highly controversial an issue would unquestionably postpone indefinitely the scheduled July 31 adjournment date and delay members of Congress from starting for vacation resorts or back to their home districts to begin campaigning.

An even more impelling factor is that the politically minded Senators recognize that a vote either for or against McCarthy might cost them votes.

If they voted for the adoption of the resolution to unseat McCarthy from the chairmanship, they would bring the wrath of the McCarthy admirers down upon their heads, and the indications are that the Wisconsin Senator has some measure of support in every State in the Union.

And if they voted to give McCarthy what could be construed as a vote of confidence, they would invite the hostility and opposition of the anti-McCarthyites who comprise a very vociferous and articulate bloc.

The removal of a Senate committee on any grounds except moral turpitude, which had been proven through the regular processes of law, also would establish a precedent and probably cause a series of running political and personal feuds.

What is likely to happen, however, is that a majority of the subcommittee members undoubtedly will insist on the resignation of Roy M. Cohn as chief counsel of the McCarthy committee unless Cohn beats them to the punch and steps out first.

Some of the testimony against Cohn in the recent McCarthy-Pentagon hearings did not stand up too sturdily. For example, it is somewhat difficult to reconcile the statements of Army Counselor John G. Adams that Cohn raved and cursed at Adams and McCarthy at one New York luncheon with the admission by Adams that on that same occasion he asked Cohn to get him theatre tickets and make a reservation for a family dinner party.

A man who was cursed, as Adams said he was, and in the midst of it requested a favor of the person assailing him in vituperative language would have to be bereft of any personal pride whatever.

There appears to be no question, however, on the basis of all the evidence that Cohn did use undue pressure in attempting to obtain preferential treatment for Schine.

Senators McClellan, Symington and Jackson, the three Democrats, and Senator Potter, Michigan Republican who lost both legs in World War II, are expected to demand that Cohn quit or be fired.

The fact, however, is that Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor Adams should also be forced to turn in their resignations. As Senator Potter said in the statement he issued at the close of the historic hearings, Stevens and Adams should not have encouraged requests of favors for Cohn and permitted the situation to reach the stage that it did.

Whether McCarthy will fight a move to oust Cohn is uncertain. He probably will go through the motions of putting up a battle. It might well be McCarthy's attitude, that if Cohn is asked for his resignation, Stevens and Adams also should be requested to turn in theirs. But, of course, there is nothing the committee members can do to oust Stevens and Adams beyond recommending that President Eisenhower or Secretary of Defense Wilson get rid of them. That is what they are likely to do.

Jackson J. Holtz Gains Strong Support in Quest for Office

Support of virtually every Democratic organization and leader in the 10th Congressional district, representing Brookline, Newton and Boston's Roxbury, Jamaica Plain, West Roxbury and Brighton sections, has swung sharply this week to Jackson J. Holtz, candidate for Congress.

Holtz, a lifelong Democrat, a former state representative and assistant U. S. Attorney, is the first candidate from this area to receive such solid support.

Closely allied to the Democratic Party through his executive duties as a leader in the senatorial campaign of John F. Kennedy and Congressman John F. McCormack, Holtz was drafted at the recent State Convention by Democratic leaders to be a candidate for Congress in the 10th district.

Michael J. Neville, convention chairman, pointed out that Holtz was the only Democratic candidate strong enough to gain victory in what has always been regarded up to now as a solidly Republican area.

Holtz who has served as a member of the Special Recess Commission to Investigate Subversive Activities in Massachusetts and also chosen as a member of the Committee of the American Bar Association to investigate subversion, has an outstanding military record.

He has risen through the ranks to Colonel, having served in World War II and the Korean conflict. He now is active in the U. S. Reserve forces and taking part in overall planning for this area's defenses.

Civic leaders also have flocked to the backing of Holtz—community representatives from all walks of life in Boston, Brookline and Newton.

They have pointed to his work as a national commander of the Jewish War Veterans, a director of Temple Israel and a director of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

Holtz, who as a leading attorney in Boston has participated in many important cases,

Oak Hill Cubs Clinch Pennant In East League

The Oak Hill Cubs clinched the championship of the Newton East Little League when they defeated the Athletics 15 to 1.

The Cubs still had three games left to play at the time, but their 11.4 record was tops for the league since the second-place Newton Centre Senators had an 8.8 record with two games left to play. Even if the Cubs had dropped their last three and the Senators won their last two games, the Cubs were assured of the pennant.

Outstanding in the Cubs stretch drive to the league leadership was the batting of Paul Weinbaum, Dave Rose, Mike Rudy; the pitching of Bill Sklar, Neil Driscoll, and Alan Gordon, and the all-around play of Roger Goldstein, Johnnie Borofsky, Dick Aborn and Richie Isenberg. The complete roster of the 1954 Newton East Champs follows:

Three O'Clock Ceremony Unites Miss Angier and Mr. Salinger

Wearing an heirloom princess and Duchess lace mantilla, her long-sleeved candlelight satin gown edged at the portrait neckline with Alencon lace appliques and ending in a cathedral train, Miss Ruth B. Angier became the bride of Mr. Richard B. Salinger. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Salinger of Newtonville. The 3 o'clock ceremony last Saturday, was performed by Dr. Ray A. Eusden and a reception followed in the church parlor.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Angier of Newton, carried a crescent bouquet of stephanotis and Eucharis lilies. Given in marriage by her father, she had Mrs. Howard Bruce Parker, Jr., of New York as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Sally A. Larson of Newton; Miss Regina Daly of Auburndale; Mrs. Russell P. Bourne of New York; and Mrs. Robert P. Ronshell of Brookline, sister of the bridegroom. All the bridal attendants wore white pique gowns with lace covered Mediterranean blue satin inserts on the bodices which had sweetheart necklines and short sleeves. Their hats were of matching blue flowers and green ivy, and they carried crescents of coral geraniums and ivy.

The ring bearer was Frederick C. Angier of Newton, brother of the bride. The bridegroom had his father as best man. The ushers were Dr. Robert P. Fornshell of Brookline, Mr. John L. Angier of Newton, brother of the bride; Mr. John G. Salinger of Waban; and Mr. Thomas F. Lyndon of Newton Centre. The bride was graduated from Wheelock College in 1953 and the bridegroom prepared at Wilbraham Academy for Bates College. After a wedding trip to New Hampshire, they will live in Georgia.

ENDICOTT PEABODY

Seeks Democratic Nomination for Governor's Council

Endicott "Chub" Peabody of Cambridge, attorney and former Harvard All-American football star, has officially announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for the Governor's Council from the Third Congressional District. The third district includes all of Newton.

Mr. Peabody, presently a partner with the Boston law firm of Peabody, Kaufman & Brewer, was previously regional Counsel in the Small Defense Plants Administration and assistant Regional Counsel in the Regional Office of the Office of Price Stabilization. A portion of the candidate's World War II record of service with the U. S. Navy on submarine duty was revealed in one of the outstanding books of the war, "Submarine". Peabody received the nation's third highest recognition for his war duty, the Silver Star. Peabody's submarine also received the Presidential Citation for outstanding service. It was during Peabody's service with the U.S.S. Tirante, that his commanding officer received the Congressional Medal of Honor for leading their submarine on the surface into a Japanese harbor and sinking three ships of the enemy navy.

Among the organizations which Peabody is connected are the Cambridge Civic Unity Committee; the Council of the Boston Bar Association; Board of Overseers, Boys Club; Director of the YMCA; Member, Civil Liberties Union of Massachusetts; The Greater Boston Area Council, and the American Bar Association.

The former All-American has also served on the Overseers Committee to supervise athletics at Harvard College. In 1947, Peabody was freshman football coach at Arlington High School. He also has a long and outstanding record in veterans affairs. The young lawyer has served as State Chairman of the American Veterans Committee.

Peabody is married, and the father of two children.

Funds Voted For N'ville Fire Station

An appropriation of $237,276 for a Newtonville fire station—the first of three new stations scheduled to be built—was unanimously authorized by the aldermen Monday.

Also voted was $218,000 from surplus funds for repair work on the City Incinerator. The incinerator project includes modernization of the burning equipment, repairs to the "now deplorable" building and rebuilding of the stack. A contract for most of the work has already been signed, but the smokestack repairs will have to be put out for bids.

The fire station appropriation was voted after the city turned down bids on two other stations. Although the city accepted the bids entered for the Newtonville station, estimates on two other stations were rejected as too high.

The Newtonville station is to be located at Crafts and Watertown streets. It will replace Engine 8 in Nonantum and Engine 4 in Newtonville.

The other two stations, for which bids will be opened July 9, are on Willow street, Newton Centre, and on Elliot street, Newton Highlands. Bids were entered for the three buildings on both a "package" and individual basis.

By a 16-4 vote, the aldermen appropriated $2300 for the construction of two "shelter houses" at local playgrounds. Refusal of the funds was urged by Earle D. Wood, chairman of the finance committee, who termed it a "budgetary item" which was "thrown out" when the budget was adopted. He said there was no reason these "attractive nuisances for children" should be allowed at this time.

Also voted was a total of $5,786.40 for salaries at the pumping station serving the south side of the city. Although the city is now serviced by MDC water, the south side still suffers from water shortages during hot spells, Alderman Wood explained. The appropriation will pay the station salaries through August and September. A total of $11,500 for drain and sewer construction on Simpson street, Newton, was held by the public works committee after Alderman Winfield C. Anderson attacked the appropriation as "a speculative proposition."

On the property at present, Mr. Anderson stated, "there's just a ditch cut down the middle and a sign 'Lots for Sale.'" He urged using the money where it is needed more urgently rather than on undeveloped areas.

Alderman Richard H. Lovell agreed the project would amount to a "speculative land scheme, making the place more attractive for people who may not ever be residents."

Mr. Wood lent his voice to the argument against the project, declaring the city "should not make a monument to the builder" by supplying these services before ever a foundation has been placed on the property.

Home for Jewish Children Elect Chairman

The Board of Directors of the Home for Jewish Children at its recent meeting elected committee members and chairman for the 1954-1955 season. Mrs. Edward A. Klemmer, president of the Home, thanked all members and directors for their co-operation in making the season one of the most successful in the Home's history.

"I am humbly proud," she said, "of this year's achievement and co-operation which was demonstrated throughout the year by each chairman and member of the Board. It was wonderful to have the chance to know and work with all in a united goal. Next year we hope to surpass even this year's success in working for underprivileged children."

Mr. Wood lent his voice to the argument against the project, declaring the city "should not make a monument to the builder" by supplying these services before ever a foundation has been placed on the property.

TELE-VIEWING THE NEWS
By LEE LOUMOS

The new 60-minute show starting in the fall with Sid Caesar as star (scheduled for Monday night from 8 to 9 p.m.) will be the most expensive, lavishly hour-long show on television. And to replace Sid in the Saturday night "Show of Shows" time, Producer Max Liebman has signed Steve Allen, the "What's My Line" panelist, for 15 programs (about one every other week). Liebman is also negotiating with movie star Judy Holiday for some of the shows. In his studio, Allen will not only function as a comic. He'll sing and dance in production numbers as well. Another new show for the fall is the Boston Symphony orchestra, which will appear regularly on radio and also on TV. It replaces the NBS symphony because of the announced retirement of Arturo Toscanini, who organized the NBS orchestra. Robert Rockwell is the real name of the bachelor school teacher, Richard Boynton, who is always being pursued with eager matrimonial intent by "Our Miss Brooks." In point of fact, Rockwell is happily married, recently the father of his fourth child, a boy. Guess it takes a married man to portray the wary bachelor properly. Experience tells in an actor... and experience counts in a TV service, too. Our technicians have the wide electronics background—factory training and on-the-job experience—to solve your service problems.

Robert Craig, who has made several public appearances during the past season, including a broadcast over Station WBUR, played selections from Bach and Chopin. ## Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hamilton Palmer to Reside In France

Pale pink peonies, white snapdragons, delphiniums and white gladioli decorated the Matha March Chapel in Sudbury, when Miss Suzanne Warner Ewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard V. Ewer of Waban, was married last Saturday afternoon to Mr. Bruce Hamilton Palmer of Wellesley Hills. The Rev. Joseph C. MacDonald officiated at the 2 o'clock ceremony and a reception followed at the Wayside Inn, which was decorated with pink peonies, white gladioli, snapdragons, and blue delphinium.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gownned in bouffant candlelight taffeta. Her off-the-shoulder V neckline of imported Alencon lace and seed pearl cloche held her layered imported French illusion finger-tip veil in place and she carried white cattleya orchids. Miss Jacqueline Ewer of Waban and Centerville was maid of honor and only attendant for her sister. Her ballerina gown of pink tulle over taffeta was fashioned with fitted bodice and a skirt of tiered ruffles from waist to hem. She wore matching colored shoes and a crown, and carried a bouquet of pink vanda orchids with ivy.

Garden Reception Held After Webster-Rockett Nuptials

A garden reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Worthington Webster of Waban followed the marriage of their daughter, Miss Betsy Caroline Webster, to Mr. Robert Lyons Rockett, son of Mr. and Mrs.

riage by her father. Her gown of white mouseline de soie had a fitted bodice, short sleeves and a portrait neckline edged with imported Alencon lace. The bouffant skirt terminated in a cathedral train and her full-length veil of imported French silk illusion was caught to a wedding ring wreath of wax orange blossoms. Mrs. T. Bradley Rockett of Needham was the matron of honor. With her ballerina-length gown of embroidered white organdy over orchid taffeta she carried a sheaf of orchid, yellow and white snapdragons.

The bridesmaids were Miss Joan Webster of Summit, N. J.; Miss Carolyn Stomer of Washington, D. C.; and Miss Judith Tracy of Delmar, N. Y. They all wore embroidered white organdy, one over yellow, and two over green taffeta, and carried sheaves of orchid, yellow and white snapdragon and gypsophyllia.

Mrs. Webster, the bride's mother, wore sea green silk chiffon with a corsage of white orchids. Mrs. Rockett, the bridegroom's mother, was gownned in ice-blue lace. Mr. T. Bradley Rockett of Needham, twin brother of the bridegroom, was best man. The ushers were Mr. Henry W. Webster, Jr., USAF, brother of the bride; Mr. Thomas L. Fenn, Jr., of Newton Highlands; Mr. David R. Palmer of New York City; Mr. Graham G. Palmer of Westwood; Mr. Paul Wiggins of Waban, and Mr. Robert Sweeney of Trenton, N. J. The bride was graduated from Dana Hall in 1949, from Mount Holyoke College in 1953, and received her Master of Education degree at Harvard this June. The bridegroom attended Northeastern University. After a wedding trip to northern New England, they will live in Waltham.

slated for closing later after the new Eliot street, Newton Highlands, fire station is built. Four others are still under study by the Public Works Department.

The crossovers have been blamed for a large part of the accidents on the turnpike. Cars attempting to reverse their direction are often struck in the rear while entering the crossovers or are hit when they try to enter the flow of traffic on the other side.

The last official count of traffic on the highway revealed that 28,000 cars per day pass through.

In an interview published last year in the Graphic, Mrs. A. Hutton Vignoles of 1235 Boylston street, Newton Highlands, called the accident-plagued highway "murder on my doorstep." There have been more accidents on the Worcester turnpike stretch through Newton than on any other comparable thoroughfare in the city.

According to Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe, some crossovers are remaining open because they are in heavily settled residential areas or they have ample room for autos to wait without protruding into either lane. No motorist, he said, will have to travel more than a half-mile before coming to a safe crossover.

Crossovers in Newton scheduled for closing are:
Newton Centre: at Jenney Manufacturing Company; 300 feet west of Langley road; 300 feet west of Dudley road; 300 feet west of Dudley road; and at Old Field road.
Newton Highlands: at Walnut Hill road; at Cloverdale road; at Aberdeen road; at Delaware road; at Dickerman road; and at Margaret road.
Newton Upper Falls: at Bacon place and at Rockland place.

Under study are crossovers at Florence street, Newton Centre; at John street, Newton Centre; at Circuit avenue, Newton Highlands; and at Eliot Hill road, Newton Upper Falls.

The three crossovers remaining open are located at Langley road, Newton Centre; at Dudley road, Newton Centre; and at Woodward street, Newton Highlands. Those remaining open until the Eliot street fire station is completed are at Woodcliff road, at Hartford street and at Glenview terrace, at Newton Highlands.

Recreation Head Predicts Record Playground Year

Sudden showers didn't stop the activities in the Newton Playground areas on Monday as they opened for the summer season, according to C. Evah Johnson, recreation commissioner.

"Most of the activities in the area were of the story and group game type," said the commissioner. "Good attendance was reported in all the areas, and grounds were in excellent condition."

Improvements made at the Thompsonville Playground on the baseball diamond, the wooded area and the approach to the Bowen School were very much welcomed. Resurfacing of the baseball diamond at the Cold Spring Playground also brought a satisfied response.

In conclusion, Mr. Johnson stated that first day attendance "would seem to indicate that we will have a record summer playground season."

Await MDC Decision on Selling Land Temple Seeking To Build Center In Chestnut Hill

The Metropolitan District Commission is scheduled to decide today (Thursday) on the possible sale of 23 acres off the Hammond Pond parkway, Chestnut Hill, to Temple Mishkan Tefila of Roxbury for a community center.

Following a public hearing Friday, the five-man commission decided to reserve the land for sale to the Temple, but made no decision on whether the sale would actually take place. The Temple is seeking land in Newton for its community center since more than half of its congregation resides in the Newton-Brookline area.

The land is located on the northwest side of the parkway, a short distance from the Brookline boundary. The MDC owns 51 acres of land in that area, but has not developed it during its 40 years of ownership.

At the public hearing, the sale was protested by Atty. Charles F. Hoyer, who said he represented 45 residents of the district. He claimed the land should be retained for park purposes. Other speakers also urged keeping the tract for recreational facilities.

The petition was backed by more than 50 persons, including leaders of the Temple and several Protestant clergymen.

Make A Beach Stole From Two Towels

You can make the most unusual and attractive beach stole under the sun in a matter of minutes. All you need, says the Woman's Home Companion, are two colored bath towels about 22 inches by 44 inches, a spool of thread, one and one-half yards of cotton fringe and one yard of cotton rope. In the July Companion they show one made up from two fluffy blue Cannon towels and trimmed with heavy white fringe. It looks perfect to cuddle up in on a windy day at the beach or to protect you from the sun's burning rays.

Here are the directions for making, which the Companion illustrates with sketches:

1. Cut one border (about 5 inches) off each towel. Turn edges and stitch so they will not ravel.
2. Seam towels together on wrong side with uncut border on either end. Press seam open. Tack down the stitched edges for a neat finish.
3. For cuffs, turn back each border seven inches. Stitch together through all four selvages on wrong side. Turn to right side, tack edge of cuff.
4. Stitch fringe to inside of lower edge of stole. For ties, cut rope in half, knot one end of each piece. Sew other end to each side of neck.

FAIR AND COOLER

Hot days are on the way, but they needn't bother you too much. Just remember this: if you look cool you'll feel better. Here are a few simple suggestions from Hazel Rawson Cades, good looks editor of the Woman's Home Companion, to help do the trick:

When bathing, why not apply bubble bath or bath salts to oil before you shower? Or add the tub? Starch, bicarbonate of soda or borax in the water will help make an irritated skin more comfortable.

After your bath give yourself a delightful all-over treat with ew Body Tone. It makes your skin feel cool and silky smooth.

One quick way to make your-

VA News Letter

Several important steps have been taken by Veterans Administration to reduce backlog developing in the GI loan program as a result of the recent spurt in GI housing, William J. Blake, manager of the VA Boston Regional Office, announced today.

"During the past three months," Mr. Blake said, "the easing of the supply of GI money has increased the number of appraisal requests for both new and existing homes being submitted to VA by lenders on behalf of veterans."

"During the past three months the number of appraisal requests received exceeded the number received during the previous three months, by more than 800."

To reduce the amount of processing time and minimize the number of complaints, Mr. Blake said that loan guaranty officials in his office are taking the following steps:

1. Subject to certain safeguards, VA is assigning inspectors for site approval of projects even though VA has not completed the appraisals. This is being done so builders can proceed with construction while VA is analyzing the projects and determining reasonable values. VA is doing this only after a preliminary review of a project shows there is no likelihood of special site development problems and deficiencies in construction.
2. In order to accelerate production by technical personnel, telephone calls and personal interviews with appraisers and construction analysts are being restricted to between 3 p.m. and 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays. VA considers that in the long run the interests of the veterans, lenders and builders will be better served by limiting the interruptions of these employees.
3. Clerical, stenographic and typing personnel from other divisions of the regional office will be detailed to the loan guaranty division to help overburdened employees. In addition, loan guaranty personnel have worked overtime — evenings and on weekends — to increase production.
4. The VA Boston office is using fee appraisers and inspectors to supplement the salaried staff in various review functions.

Mr. Blake has requested the cooperation of veterans, builders and lenders so VA may keep its loan guaranty activities moving as expeditiously as possible.

Care For Pets!

In an annual appeal to all animal lovers, Dr. Eric H. Hansen, President of the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has urged vacationists not to abandon their animal pets when leaving the city for their summer homes.

"During the ensuing months," stated the Society President, "many families will take their well-earned vacations, and with them will go the family pet, a dog, or a cat, or sometimes both. Unfortunately, there will be some people who will shed their responsibilities and leave their pets to fend for themselves; others will acquire animals at the seashore or in the country. The former, we urge to make proper provision by boarding their pets, either in kennels or with friends; the latter should take their newly adopted animals back to the city with them or arrange with the nearest humane society or veterinarian for humane disposal."

Dr. Hansen averred, however, that people should not pick up animals which they only believe to be lost or strayed. He particularly referred to fawns, stating that in most instances the mother of the animal is nearby, and that the person picking it up is merely condemning the creature to a life of captivity or death. "If we leave them where they are, they have a better chance, than if misguided kindness attempts to do that which nature never intended."

In conclusion, Dr. Hansen said that vacation periods bring to the Society scores of complaints about the abandonment of pets, and that stories of this thoughtless cruelty tell of animals suffering from hunger and exposure.

Jiffy Devil'd Corn

There's no finer accompaniment to a fried chicken supper than devil'd corn. And it's so speedy to fix if you follow these Woman's Home Companion instructions: Heat can of whole corn or cook package of frozen corn, drain, add small can of devil'd ham, cut up, and 1/2 cup of cream. Blend flavors by heating.

Ads Are News, According To Herald Writer Elie

Occasionally, when our paper runs unusually heavy on the advertising side, we get reactions from our customers to the effect that "there is nothing in the paper." At times like this we point to the obvious fact that advertising pays for the paper (and our salary) and that regardless of the amount of advertising, there is still plenty of news for the price it costs the reader.

However, we came across a reprint of a column by one of our favorite writers, Mr. Rudolph Elie of the Herald, in a recent issue of that paper. Mr. Elie presents a fact which is apt to be overlooked, but which is still cogent. We are especially aware of this particular fact by the way our classified pages are read. Mr. Elie points out that in effect, "advertising is news." He goes on to tell why. We reprint excerpts from his column, in which he explores this philosophy.

"Every once in a while I encounter someone at a party or somewhere and when they learn I write for a newspaper they say, oh, is that so? Well, the trouble with newspapers (they go on) is that there is too much advertising in them. 'I don't know whether there is or not, but all too few seem to realize that advertising is news. It is news in the same way that news itself is news, which is to say it is interesting to those who identify themselves with it then and there.'

"For example, if you have just bought a few shares of Amalgamated Coal Hold, the most interesting news in the whole paper is the quotation in the stock market reports concerning its ups and downs. If you do not own any stock at all, know nothing about it and care less, you don't bother to look at the quotations at all."

"This is the basic principle of readership identity in anything from a short story to a novel, from a newspaper story to an advertisement. People who follow baseball devour the news regarding it; they may never read an editorial at all. On the other hand, those who read editorials may never glance at the sporting news, though they suddenly and certainly would if their son, say, made the college football team."

"People's interests shift and change as they develop, too. Young people probably never read obituaries but obituaries, to older people, are of the greatest interest. In short, people read what most personally and vitally interests, affects and touches them, and their opinion of the day's news is based on the number of things in the paper that does interest and touch them."

"If a large number of items develop response in the reader he says there is a lot of news in the paper today. If only a few items appeal to him he says there is no news in the paper today. Actually, there was as much news as ever —

Circus Time at Shoppers' World

It's circus time again at Shoppers' World.

For two weeks, from June 28—July 10, the central green will echo the strains of carnival music from Ernie's Circus, an exact replica of the three-ring Barnum and Bailey production.

Young and old alike will thrill at the sight of this intricate miniature show, complete in every detail. It may be seen daily during store hours—Monday, Tuesday and Saturday from 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.; Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 12:00 noon to 9:00 p.m. Admission is free.

The circus is 32 feet by 12 feet, with 25,000 individual pieces, all hand-carved. The show includes hula dancers, about 500 horses, at least 30 performing elephants, cowboys and Indians, wild animals, tight rope walkers and acrobats.

So complete is it that there is a boy sneaking under a tent to see the show, a doctor bandaging an acrobat's wounded hand, and a pickpocket in the crowd of spectators.

The show was built at a cost of $8,000 and is insured for $50,000 by the Lloyds of London.

Vegetable Kebabs

Cook these in your kitchen broiler or on your outdoor grill—they need no precooking!

Alternate pieces of green peppers with mushroom caps on one skewer. On another place a row of small firm tomatoes. Or fill a skewer with small onions or tiny new unpeeled potatoes. Turn skewers and brush green peppers, mushrooms and onions with French dressing as they broil. Potatoes and onions take about 30 minutes until done; tomatoes, mushrooms and green peppers about 15.

Nash Agency Back in N.C. At Old Site, 724 Beacon St.

Nash is back in Newton Centre. The new dealership—Gene Brown Motors, Inc.—is at the same location and has the same service personnel that Nash owners have come to recognize for many years at 724 Beacon street.

Mr. Brown, himself a Newton Centre resident at 11 Vineyard road, offers a complete line of the popular, economical Nash autos, in addition to an out-standing service department equipped to handle all makes of cars.

The service personnel is the same as has been pleasing customers for years at 724 Beacon street. With Iver Osterlund as manager, Nils Sjilander, Jeff Leroy, Donald Kydd and Bill Daniels offer a total of 90 years experience in servicing cars.

Mr. Brown, who has been in the auto business for 27 years, hopes to sell service at his new agency rather than placing more emphasis on cars.

He believes it is more important to satisfy customers by servicing their cars in the best possible manner, rather than just sell a new car and then take no further interest in the customer's investment.

Mr. Brown also owns a service station in Boston, which he has operated for 17 years. Married, he has a son, David. David is a senior at Newton High School and has won an American Field Service Scholarship for a summer in West Berlin.

'Y' Starts Class In Strength Requirements

The Newton YMCA has announced the starting of a class for instruction in the Civil Service strength tests requirements for men taking the examination for the police and fire departments. Instruction will be given by Mr. Simmons, physical director at the local "Y". The class will meet on Wednesdays at 8:00 p.m., starting June 30.

The "Y" has the complete equipment for carrying on the instruction and testing in the nine police and seven firemen strength requirements. Police requirements are the dummy lifts, standing broad jump, dumbbell lifting, abdominal test, rope climbing, fence vault, descent of a ladder carrying a dummy, the 440 yard run and the 50 yard swim. Fireman requirements are the same with the exception of the 50 yard swim, and the standing broad jump.

Complete Line of Cigars Offered at Mac's Smoke Shop

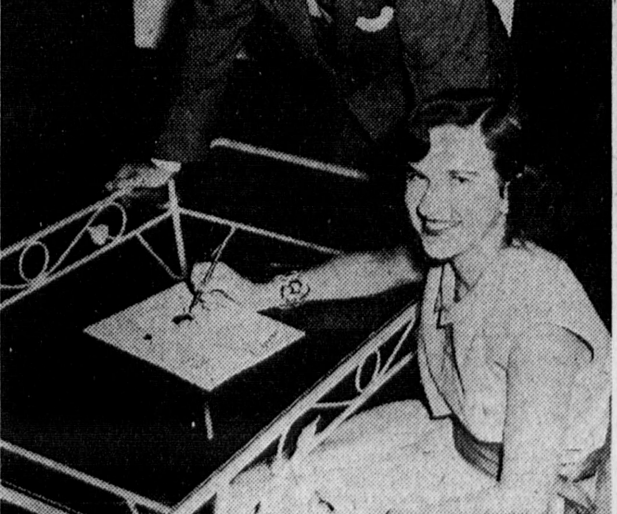

No matter what size, shape, brand or type of cigar you smoke, you're sure to find just what you want at Mac's Smoke Shop, 295 Centre street, Newton.

Salvatore Raguso, owner of Mac's, stocks one of the most complete lines—if not the most complete—of cigars in Newton. All other tobacco products are also found in the popular Newton store which counts among its customers persons who come from neighboring towns just to shop here.

In addition to tobacco products, Mac's also has newspapers, magazines, books, gifts, toys, novelties, ice cream, candy and stationery. You can find everything from a safety pin to a radio or bicycle.

Mr. Raguso has been operating the shop for two and one-half years. The tobacco shop itself has been in its present location for about 15 years, formerly being known as Buddy's Smoke Shop. After Mr. Raguso took over, he has twice expanded the size of the store and its stock.

Mac's Smoke Shop is open six days a week from 5:30 a.m. to 10 p.m., and Sundays from 6 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

City Committee for two years, after continuous membership since 1930 on the Ward 1 Republican Committee. He was a charter member and secretary of the Young Republican Club of Newton and has been a delegate to several State Conventions including the last two at Worcester.

Mr. Gibbs has received his training in Government through nine years service on our Board of Aldermen being first elected in 1941. He has served as chairman of The Public Buildings Committee, chairman of Franchise and License Committee. He has also been a member of Public Works Committee, the Claims and Rules Committee. Mr. Gibbs also served as chairman of the Off Street Parking Committee which was created at his suggestion. The parking lots in Newton, Newtonville and Newton Centre were the direct result of his work on this committee. For his last two years on the Board Mr. Gibbs served as chairman of the Finance Committee which has given him an intimate knowledge of Finance and Taxation. Such broad service to Newton has been an excellent background for his present position as Representative from the fourth Middlesex district.

Rep. Gibbs shortly after his election conceived the idea of building a footbridge across the Charles River so that Newton children might receive some benefit from the M. D. C.

The Atom is already in peacetime use. More than 1,600 firms in the U. S. and Canada are now using atomic energy in radiation instruments that inspect metal parts of the products they make. Atomic thickness gauges are also used to measure and control the coating on such things as paper and galvanized iron. In addition the atom is at work in the oil industry and in medical research." — Worth Repeating.

we want it to stay in Massachusetts, that we realize an obligation to our workers and our citizens, that through discussion and understanding of our problems we can arrive at good, sound legislation for Massachusetts and for Newton.

Theatre on the Green Presents "The Crucible"

New Englanders saw their first professional production of "The Crucible." Arthur Miller's dramatic attack on hysteria, at Theatre on the Green in the Wellesley College amphitheatre on June 30th. The play produced by the Group 20 Players will run through July 11th.

New England audiences will find this play especially interesting because of its distinctive setting in colonial Massachusetts. Salem's current mayor, Mayor Francis X. Collins and members of the Salem City Council were invited to attend a performance of the dramatization of events which actually took place in 17th Century Salem.

Michael Higgins, a favorite with Group 20 patrons last summer, is starred as John Proctor who struggles against the unfounded accusation of witchcraft. Previously, Mr. Higgins has appeared on Broadway with Katherine Cornell and Olivia de Havilland. Jerry Kilty, also well known to Boston audiences for his work with the Brattle Theatre is seen as Reverend Hale. This season in "The Crucible" and "The Frogs of Spring."

Nancy Wickwire and Thomas Barbour respectively play Abigail Williams who sets off the hysteria of accusation, and Massachusetts Governor Danforth. Laurinda Barrett is cast as Proctor's wife, Elizabeth.

Reservations for "The Crucible" and other Theatre on the Green productions may be had by calling Wellesley 5-5870 or by stopping at ticket reservation booths in Jordan's of Shoppers' World and Stearns of Chestnut Hill.

Robert K. Shapiro, Managing Director of the Paramount Theatre, announced that the public will have the opportunity of witnessing, for the first time in a leading Broadway movie theatre, the simulcast of one of radio's and television's oldest and most important shows — "The Voice of Firestone" — in addition to the regular screen attraction, when the stage of the Paramount Theatre becomes the regular weekly scene of the simulcast which began Monday evening, June 21.

It Isn't Funny

This column is sponsored, in the interest of better health, by: Malden Board of Health, local Tuberculosis committee, and the Middlesex Health Association.

Tripping and falling flat on one's face isn't funny, even if the only hurt is to one's dignity. It is definitely unfunny when skinned knees, bruises, or even broken bones are involved.

"Accidents will happen," we sometimes say, and perhaps this bit of philosophy helps us feel better when one has happened to us. But many accidents wouldn't happen if we were less philosophical and more careful about preventing them.

So often what causes an accident is such a little thing. A little spot of wax on the floor that wasn't thoroughly rubbed — a little tear in the stair carpet — a little toy left in the dark of the upstairs hall — a little nail loose in a board on the porch — little things that should have been taken care of before they could cause trouble.

Most of us are "going to" fix the things around the house that we know are hazards. We are "going to" find a place to put the flower pots that have piled up on the cellar stairs, and we are "going to" fasten the screen in the children's room more securely, and "going to" get a covered metal basket for burning trash in the backyard, and get a non-skid pad for the rug in the front hall.

"I must have a small step-ladder in the kitchen," we say, but we go on using a precarious chair to stand on.

Today is a very good day to do these things we are "going to do." And while we're at it, why not have an electrician check that wiring we've had our doubts about? Why not put a lock on the medicine cabinet, so that the youngsters can't help themselves to the grown-ups' pills? And how about a screen to fit clear across the fireplace?

Because accidents aren't funny. Bruises and burns and broken bones are not funny at all.

Frozen Fruit Salad

2 No. 2½ cans fruit cocktail, drained
¼ cup juice drained from can
32 marshmallows
2-3 oz. packages cream cheese
2 cups heavy cream
¼ teaspoon salt
Drain fruit cocktail. Put ¼ cup juice drained from can and marshmallows in top part of boiler. Place over hot water and heat until marshmallows are melted. Meanwhile soften cream cheese with a little of the heavy cream in a large mixing bowl. Beat cream until thick and glossy. Stir salt and melted marshmallows into softened cream cheese. Fold in whipped cream to four No. 2 cans. Cover top cream and fruit cocktail. Spoon with aluminum foil or waxed paper. Place in freezing compartment of refrigerator and freeze at least 4 hours with refrigerator set at coldest point. If cans will not fit upright in freezing compartment, place them close to freezing unit firm, then turn cans on sides in freezing compartment. To serve, remove bottom of can with can opener, loosen salad around edges with knife. Push out from bottom. Cut in slices — four slices to the can. Serve on crisp lettuce. Makes 16 servings.

"5" GREAT WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS
FOR THE PRICE OF 1

Ready, Willing and Able

The Pacific Northwest is undergoing a psychological readjustment that is hard for some people to swallow. For more than a generation the region has been dependent upon federal appropriations and political expediency for development of a large part of its electric power needs. The investor-owned taxing electric companies of the Pacific Northwest conducted their businesses in the shadow of nationalization while the public was conditioned to federal power monopoly by an unending barrage of dramatic announcements from politicians. Now the situation is different. The federal government is attempting to withdraw from its dominating position in the electric power field. The Pacific Northwest has been given an opportunity to reassert its independence and its initiative. This is not easy after more than two decades of dependency. Some feel that Uncle Sam ought to at least remain in the Northwest as a "senior" partner in the power business, even if he has forsaken the roll of boss. However, there is plenty of evidence that the Northwest will readjust quickly and reassert the resourcefulness which led it to great electric achievements long before a federal power program was ever heard of.

According to J. E. Corette, President of the Montana Power Co and currently heading a five company power development program, "Enough kilowatts of new electrical energy to meet the estimated needs of customers for twenty years can be generated at no cost to the federal government." The five companies have proposed a plan to meet this goal. It has been approved by the Department of the Interior. "The companies," declared Mr. Corette, "see a combined need for 150,000 to 200,000 kilowatts a year for the next twenty years and they are willing to spend about $50 million a year to provide that power."

Tractor vs. Horse

As everyone knows, the horse and the mule are no longer the staple sources of work on typical American farms. Agriculture has turned to machines—the remarkably effective products of the farm equipment industry.

A study made by economists at Cornell University shows the reason for the change. According to this, it costs $282 a year to maintain a team of horses on a farm, including feed, bedding, the labor required to care for the animals, and so on. So, as the Fowler (Kansas) News observes, "When one considers the low cost of tractors and figures out the hourly cost of using a tractor, he can see that it compares favorably with the cost of using a team of horses, or even mules. That, in short, is the answer to the question of why farmers have been turning from horses and mules to tractors and mechanized equipment."

On top of that, there is simply no comparison between the amount of work modern farm equipment can do in a given period of time as compared with that of even the best and strongest animal teams. The tractors and all the other machines and attachments are in no sense a luxury. They are a necessity to profitable and business-like farming.

Middleman Not The Villain

Some people seem to be surprised that there is a wide difference between the per-pound value of a steer on the hoof—and price charged for beef in the butcher shop.

A business letter which is published by the National City Bank of New York recently gave a graphic explanation for that difference. It said: "Several years ago, when the Federal government was having its troubles getting rid of a mountain of potatoes it had bought up to support the price, it offered to give the New York City Welfare Department a substantial part of its stock free, if the Department would come and get it. The City found it couldn't afford the potatoes even as a gift. Freight, packaging, storage and other expenses were too much. As the Wall Street Journal remarked at the time, 'Maybe the poor middleman is worthy of his hire after all.'"

"The same principle goes for beef. On the hoof it is not the same as sirloin steak on the table, any more than a potato in the patch is the same as 'French-fries,' or a steel ingot the same as an automobile."

The letter also printed some statistics of record which thoroughly dispute the idea that the spread in meat values between farm and store is largely due to the packers' profits. Over a 10-year period, 1943-52, the packers' return on their net assets was about half of that earned by manufacturing industry as a whole. In that same period, they had an annual average profit of less than one cent on each dollar of sales. This simply bears out what the last Fall—that there was no profiteering among the Department of Agriculture found in the investigation—packers, wholesalers or retailers of meat.

Rejuvenate Summer Chairs

If the summer chairs you've just taken out of the attic or garage look drab and seem a bit rickety, you can spruce them up and give them longer life by following these few tips from workshop editor Guy Henle's article in the June Woman's Home Companion:

1. Recovering chairs has been made easy with a new home-recovering kit which includes canvas cut to size, fully hemmed, and enough tacks for complete job. Use old cover as guide in tacking. Covers are made for deck or sling chairs.
2. Before putting on new canvas covers be sure to tighten wooden chair frame. Reglue all loose joints (use waterproof glue) and add strengthening nails or screws where necessary. Straight or angle braces will often save otherwise useless wood frame.
3. Paint chair with sash-and-trim paint (not house paint) for longest-lasting outdoor wear. With enamel undercoat as base, paint will brighten chair, protect wood from moisture.
4. If your outdoor chairs are too broken for the above fix-up treatments, or if you need new furniture, the Companion shows a set of table and chairs which any amateur can make from stock lumber, new do-it-yourself aluminum and plastic webbing. The patterns include a list of materials plus complete step-by-step directions for this set.

Top to Toes Tips for Summer

The season for swim suits and playclothes is almost here and because more of you will be showing you'll want to look your best from top to toes. Here is a simple good grooming check-up which Norma Craig, associate beauty editor of the Woman's Home Companion, suggests you follow during the summer months:

1. Be sure to keep creams and lotions on hand to combat the drying effects of sun and water. If your skin is sensitive, choose a sun protective with extra screening effect.
2. If blackheads are your problem, clean skin with soap and water, steam with hot washcloth, press out with comedo extractor. You can cover birth and vaccination marks with tinted waterproof cream.
3. Defuzz legs and underarms at least once a week with depilatory or a razor. There are new shave lotions made especially for women. Thin fine hair may be erased from forearms and legs by means of a rubbing device.
4. Pretty-up your feet by massaging daily with an emollient. Smooth off calluses with moistened pumice stone. Pedicure at least once a week. A base coat, two coats of polish and a top coat will stand rough wear at the beach.

How to Get Along With Men

The question of how women can get along with men no doubt can be best answered by a man, especially if he is a man who can tell women the truth about themselves and make them like it. Margaret Thompson Biddle, European editor of the Woman's Home Companion, asked this question of just such a man — novelist Somerset Maugham. In her June Companion column she passes along this sage's advice:

"A woman should keep herself as physically fit and attractive as possible throughout her life—this for herself and the men she will have to cope with. She should make any man she is talking to think he is the one man in the world she wants to talk to at that moment."

Richard J. White Installed as President of Rotary Club

New officers of the Newton Rotary Club for the year 1954-55 were installed at the meeting of the club held Monday, in the Brae Burn Country Club in West Newton. Ralph H. Alton of the Uxbridge club, a past district governor of Rotary International, was the installing officer.

The new officers installed were Richard J. White, president; Edwin F. Weldig, vice-president; Dwight Colburn, treasurer; G. Winthrop Brainerd, assistant treasurer; Herbert N. McGill, secretary; and Warren L. Huston, sergeant-at-arms. Miss Helen P. Morton will remain as the club's executive secretary.

Retiring president was Charles E. Hilliard who presided at the meeting and reviewed the activities of Newton Rotary in the past year. In that time eight new members came into the club, material assistance was given to the Newton Boys' Club program, and there had been general growth of the club and its members in the four Rotary avenues of service, club service, international service, vocational service and community service, Mr. Hilliard stated.

Walter H. Phillips, vice-president of Phillips Publishers, Inc., was introduced and welcomed as a new member of Rotary by his father, Walter P. Phillips, Dr. Frank Clark and Charles H. Meeker.

Larry Frederick led the singing with Louis Haffermehl at the piano. Robert Deacon announced the annual club members' outing to be held this year on August 16 at the home of the new president, Richard J. White, 211 Conant road in Weston.

Oak Hill Park Ass'n Begins Safety Drive

The Oak Hill Park Association, through the efforts of its safety committee and district representatives, is launching this week a "20 M.P.H. for Safety" drive throughout the park in an effort to influence residents of the development to keep the speed of their vehicles to 20 miles an hour or below.

Basing the drive on the assumption that "safety begins at home," the association has noted with increasing concern in the past few weeks, that many residents, as well as visitors and retailers, use Spiers, Wiswall, McCarthy and Hanson roads and the numerous roadways, as they would the Indianapolis Speedway. The drive is to urge the residents to control their own speeds, lest one or more of the development's 1200 children meet with fatality or injury.

The speed limit in the park is 20 M. P. H., as in every densely populated area.

All residents of the park are being urged to support the drive and to "pass the word" along to their relatives and friends who visit in the park, as well as to delivery men and others who constantly use the park roads.

In addition to the speed safety drive, the Safety Committee has announced it is launching an extensive safety campaign in every direction where safety is a concern, including hazards at street corners, appropriate signs and warnings to motorists, and safety in and around the construction area where excavation has begun on stores for the area. V. Ciulla and Son, contractors, have indicated their full cooperation with the drive.

Members of the Committee on Safety are: James P. Waters of 26 Shute path, chairman; Stanley L. Markow of 10 Keller path, co-chairman; Bert L. Harmon of 247 Spiers road, who is director of safety education for the Massachusetts Safety Council; and Dave Kronard of 65 Indian Ridge road, an active member of the Highway Associates.

Fifty Real Estate Brokers Conduct Golf Outing Mon.

The Newton Real Estate Board held their annual golf outing at the Woodland Golf Club Monday. Fifty active brokers took the day off to have an enjoyable day climaxed by a dinner, at which time the new officers were elected.

G. Wallace Odell, past president for 1953-54, was presented a gift in token of the realtors' appreciation for his help and civic-mindedness.

The new officers elected were Francis White of the Walter Channing office, president; John Pauler of Brodick Brother, vice president and John Gordon of Auburndale, secretary-treasurer.

Many gifts were donated by the various offices. Mrs. Kate Smith, vice-president of Longwood Associates, was chairman.

Ban Vendors Halting Near Crystal Lake

Ice cream vendors were banned from halting within 1500 feet of the Crystal Lake bathhouse and its parking area by an amendment to the "Hawkers and Peddlers" ordinance passed Monday night.

In recommending the amendment, Mayor Howard Whitmore wrote he believed the measure was "essential to the protection of the appearance of property in the vicinity of Crystal Lake bathhouse, as well as to the safety of children in the area who cross streets now to purchase from these ice cream vendors."

"The increased use of Crystal Lake bathing facilities has expanded our problems relative to parking and maintenance of clean appearance of streets and sidewalks in the area. The restrictions that would be imposed upon ice cream peddlers by my suggested amendment seem warranted if we are to maintain the objective for the bathing facilities, which is to provide, not an eating area, but a healthful recreational activity," the mayor said.

7-Year-Old Boy Wins Coloring Contest in N. C.

U.C.P. Affiliate Day Camp Opens For 2nd Season

The Newton-Wellesley-Weston Affiliate of the United Cerebral Palsy Association will open its Day Camp, Wednesday, for the second season. Held at the Newton Centre Playground for children five to 12 years of age, the camp will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday, from July 7 to August 24.

Children who live within the affiliate area are eligible to attend camp. They bring their own lunch each day and are transported by the Waban Taxi Company.

Miss Virginia Spinney, a teacher in the Boston public schools, will be the girls' counselor for the second year. Boys' counselor will be Harold L. Schwab, a Harvard graduate and Boston Law School student. Mr. Schwab has had considerable experience with children's group work in social service agencies and camps. Assisting again this year will be Miss Caroline Davis of Newton Centre, a Newton High School graduate and herself a cerebral palsy victim.

The camp program includes games, music, free play on the apparatus and in the sandbox and handicrafts. Both counselors are happy to give tutoring help to these children.

The appreciation of the parents whose children attended camp last year is proof of the need and value of this program. For many mothers this was the first time they had ever had any free time, knowing their children were well cared for and having an opportunity to participate in group living with children of their own age.

For additional information about this program or to register children call Mrs. E. Lake Jones, DEcatur 2-1629.

OPEN THURSDAY and FRIDAY EVENINGS 'TIL 9 P. M.

Former Attorney General Francis E. Kelly, who boycotted last month's Democratic State Convention, will provide a few political headaches in the September primary for one of the convention's nominees, but he hasn't decided whether he will single out Representative Robert F. Murphy, State Treasurer Foster Furcolo or State Senator John F. Collins to run against.

Persons close to Kelly declare that he intends to make Senator Joseph R. McCarthy the issue of his campaign and to seek nomination on a pro-McCarthy platform. If he follows that strategy, he's likely to cause embarrassment for both Democrats and Republicans, many of whom have carefully avoided taking any stand either for or against McCarthy.

The unpredictable Kelly cannot be lightly dismissed, however he decides to challenge. He is shrewd and resourceful. He has demonstrated his ability to pull votes in a Democratic primary, and he has been over the State more times than any other Democrat in Massachusetts, including Paul A. Dever and James M. Curley.

It will not be at all surprising if Kelly does step into some contest because he has been a contender in every Democratic primary in Massachusetts in the past 18 years, starting back in 1936, when James M. Curley, then completing his own term as Governor, made his unsuccessful bid for a seat on the U. S. Senate.

13 Newton Explorer Scouts To Get Taste of Ranch Life

Thirteen Explorer Scouts from Newton left on Tuesday afternoon for a 26-day trip to New Mexico, where they will enjoy Western life at the Philmont Scout Ranch in Cimarron.

In the beautiful mountain country of the Santa Fe Trail area, they will spend 22 days of mountain climbing, horseback riding, mule skinning, and learning western skills.

The Norumbega Council contingent, under the leadership of Explorer Advisor George Higgins of West Newton and John O'Donnell of Waban, will spend two days traveling by train with a short stop over in Chicago. Before returning by train July 29, they will visit some ancient Pueblo Villages. The group of 28 Explorers and two leaders consists of boys of Wellesley, Quincy, Brookline, and Needham in addition to those of Newton.

This high-adventure experience for young men in scouting over the age of 14 is a high point in their camping experience. Camping skills learned locally will be put to the test when the lads do all their own cooking and transport all their equipment as they average 15 miles a day of hiking on the rugged and scenic trails of the Historic Southwest.

According to Scout officials, Norumbega Council has for the past six years been the leading Council in New England in participating in this activity. Large numbers of Newton Explorers have always participated. This trip is one of several summer time activities provided by the Norumbega Council, a Red Feather Agency, covering Newton, Wellesley and Weston.

The young men from Newton who are going on Philmont Wagon Train 309 are as follows: From Post 7: James King; from Troop 7C: James C. Dangle; from Troop 9: David Levin and David Raab.

From Troop 10: Nathaniel H. Morse; from Troop 16: Richard W. Reynolds; from Post 17: Merrill Berman, Thomas Gochberg, Richard Herman, David Horvitz and Dan Mordecai.

From Troop 17: Charles Robins; from Troop 19: Bennet Serkin.

Lauds Planned Replacement Of Two State Police Barracks

Terming the present State Police Headquarters at Bridge-water "unsanitary and a fire trap," Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton this week praised the replacement of this and another station as provided in the Capital Outlay Bill.

"This year's Capital Outlay Bill," stated the Newton representative, "which was signed by Gov. Herter as Chapter 471 of this year's acts, contains two items of much interest to me—a new State Police Headquarters for Troop D at Middleboro, and a new State Police substation at Foxboro.

"When legislation was filed last year, supported by Public Safety Commissioner Otis Whitney and referred to the Public Safety Committee of which I am acting chairman, I made a personal inspection of the present quarters at Bridge-water.

"In my opinion," Rep. Rawson declared, "they are unsanitary and a fire trap. The Wrentham substation, formerly the Wrentham Town Farm, is worse. To me it is shocking that the Commonwealth would quarter members of our State Police in buildings that its own division of inspection would condemn if under private ownership.

Meadowbrook Road Building Tenth in Post-War Program

Bids for the construction of Newton's fifth junior high school, a 21-classroom, two-story brick building on Meadowbrook road, Oak Hill, will be publicly opened Tuesday afternoon at Newton City Hall.

The new school will be on a six acre city-owned lot adjoining the Oak Hill Elementary School. Work has already been completed on leveling-off a large playground area which will be used by both the junior high and elementary school students.

School officials hope that at least the classrooms will be occupied by September of 1955, when "a certain amount of dislocation" is predicted for the junior high population. The "dislocation" actually is expected when the schools open in September, but the problem will not become acute until the following year.

The Meadowbrook road school will open with room for 800 pupils, and as the junior high population grows the school will also expand over the years to 1200 pupils. Only classrooms will have to be added to the building, as plans call for enough gymnasium, auditorium, cafeteria, shop administrative and special purpose space to service 1200 students.

Junior high enrollments are on the upgrade, after slumping to a low of 2440 in 1947. Since then, the enrollments have steadily increased until a record total of 2808 was reached in this year's classes. According to School Department estimates, the junior highs will reach 4500 at the peak of expansion at about 1961.

The Oak Hill junior high will be the tenth new school in the city's post-war expansion program. Nine elementary schools have been built either to replace older buildings or to make room for the influx of children from the "baby boom."

The new elementary schools, which cost about $8,000,000, are Beethoven, Waban; Bowen, Newton Centre; Claflin, Newtonville; Countryside, Newton Highlands; Memorial, Oak Hill Park; Murray Road, Auburndale; Pierce, West Newton; Williams, Auburndale; and Spaulding, Oak Hill.

Besides building schools, additions have been constructed on the Ward School, Newton Centre; Emerson School, Newton Upper Falls; and two on the Franklin School, West Newton. General purpose rooms, auditoriums and gymnasiums have also been converted to classroom space in several other schools.

Red Cross Head Explains Disaster Relief Program

American-Korean Foundation Drive Asks $10,000,000

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., is honorary chairman and Denholm H. Jacobs of Waban is active chairman of the drive by the American-Korean Foundation to obtain funds to assist in the rehabilitation of war-ravaged South Korea.

The nationwide goal of the drive is $10,000,000 and the campaign will continue through this month. The importance of the campaign was indicated recently in a letter sent by President Eisenhower to Dr. Howard A. Rusk, associate editor of the New York Times and president of the American-Korean Foundation.

"The timing of the American-Korean Foundation's campaign is particularly fortunate for, with the truce talks at Geneva, it is urgent that we do everything possible to let our brave Korean allies know how deeply we feel toward them and

In order to answer the questions of many Newton residents, the Newton Red Cross Chapter releases the following statement by E. Roland Harrison, chairman of the American National Red Cross.

"Since the June 1954 National Convention in Los Angeles and as a result of my report to the chapter delegates assembled there, some confusion has arisen concerning the disaster relief program of the Red Cross.

"The Red Cross is obligated by law under its congressional charter to render disaster relief whenever and wherever in the United States a disaster occurs. The Red Cross has carried out this obligation for over 70 years and will continue to make available its total resources to disaster-affected communities. The Red Cross relief funds are expended first for emergency assistance to individuals and families, but the largest portion is used for long-range rehabilitation to assist the disaster victims, beyond their own resources, to again become self-sustaining members of the community. The yardstick the Red Cross uses in giving this relief is the disaster-caused needs of the sufferer, not the replacement of his disaster-caused losses.

"The Red Cross never asks for reimbursement or repayment from any community or individual receiving disaster relief. All it has asked is that the individual family use its own resources and that the affected community right from the time the disaster strikes do what it can to assist in aiding its own people in the total job to be done.

"For over 70 years the Red Cross has met this responsibility in this way and in so doing has earned the confidence and the communities. These have support of the people and of given generously in times of disaster and during regular annual campaigns.

"Recently a new concept of disaster relief has evolved that represents a serious departure from these established relief practices. This new concept envisages the establishment and use of local disaster funds in disaster-affected communities separate and apart from the Red Cross. These collateral funds are usually applied for relief purposes over and above that given by the Red Cross and after the Red Cross has completed its job. These funds are frequently distributed on the basis of the total loss suffered by an individual rather than the need of the individual for help in the essentials to permit him to resume his self-supporting activities in the community. In some instances a part of these collateral funds are channeled through the Red Cross, thus participating to some extent and right from the start in the total job on the basis of need.

"Obviously, this change in concept presents a serious problem to the Red Cross because they, in the final analysis, are responsible for raising all funds expended by the Red Cross. Much of the burden of carrying out disaster operations and raising disaster funds falls upon the chapters. If this new concept of disaster relief continues to grow, it will make the chapter job extremely difficult or impossible because it is doubtful whether any program of relief based on the replacement of loss can ever be supported by voluntary contributions.

"Therefore, I reported to the National Convention as follows: 'There is a fund raising problem which requires our full and immediate attention. Developments in recent disaster operations make it necessary for the Red Cross to return to its pre-

MDC May Act Today On Selling C.H. Land

A vote is expected either today (Thursday) or next Thursday by the Metropolitan District Commission on the sale of 23 acres of land off Hammond Pond parkway, Chestnut Hill, to Temple Mishkan Tefila for the site of a school and community center.

The possible sale was discussed at last Thursday's meeting of the MDC commissioners, but the matter was tabled without a decision. The commissioners included in their lengthy discussion a resolution adopted by the Board of Aldermen last week opposing the sale. The aldermen recommended keeping the land for recreational purposes.

The commissioners recently voted 3-2 to sell the Chestnut Hill tract to the Temple, but withdrew their decision in favor of holding a public hearing. The only official representative of Newton at the hearing was Alderman Lawrence B. Damon, who later presented the resolution against the sale.

After the hearing, the commissioners voted to reserve the land for the Temple, but did not promise that the sale would go through. Reserving the land meant that if the land was to be sold, the Temple would have the first chance to buy.

No price has been placed as yet on the 23-acre tract. An appraisal of the land is underway, and the sale tag will be placed on the property when the appraisal is completed. Then the Temple will have the opportunity to accept the land at the stated price or drop its option.

The land sought by the Temple is part of a 51-acre tract which has been under MDC control for 40 years. Although several plans have been forwarded for its improvement, the property has not been developed.

The resolution asking the MDC to retain the land for park purposes was passed by the aldermen 15-3 after arguments on both sides of the move were heard in executive session.

Alderman Damon's resolution, passed with only minor changes, declared it was the board's "belief that this area of approximately 51 acres should be held for and voted solely for park purposes and the recreational use of the general public."

The aldermen requested that, when sale of MDC land in Newton is contemplated, the city should have written notice beforehand and should also have "a first refusal . . . to purchase such property for a period of 30 days at the offered price."

After police testified his "bookie" operation was grossing nearly $2500 a day, a 42-year-old Revere man was fined $1000 and sentenced to a year in jail on a pair of gambling charges Friday in Newton District Court.

The defendant, Morris H. Gerber of 148 Ocean avenue, Revere, appealed both decisions by Judge Frederic A. Crafts. When arrested in a West Newton house June 25 by a police raid, year-old Revere man was fined self as Murray (also known as Melvin) Sherman, but his true identity was found through police records.

Mrs. Anne T. Gangi of 117 Warwick road, West Newton, who was aiding Gerber's operation when the house at 34 River street was raided, received a one-month suspended sentence and was placed on probation until December 4 on a charge of setting up and promoting a lottery.

A third defendant appealed a 6-month sentence to the House of Correction after Judge Crafts found him guilty of the same lottery charge as Mrs. Gangi. He was Pasquale Yerardi, brother of Mrs. Gangi, who lives at 34 River street and in whose name was listed the telephone used by Gerber.

Insp. Joseph B. Lyons testified that he and an accountant went over Gerber's records covering an eight-day period early in June. Gerber handled a total of $18,802 in bets and had to pay off $15,895 to winners, he stated. Bets averaged, the inspector testified, $2350 a day.

Sgt. James E. Halloran described the raid, testifying that Gerber and Mrs. Gangi were discovered at a telephone and its extension when police entered the room. He said Gerber then claiming to be Murray Sherman — admitted running the gambling operation and, when officers answered his telephone, asked, "Please don't embarrass me by taking any more calls."

The maximum jail sentence and fine was recommended by Lt. George W. O'Neil, who prosecuted the case and also testified as a member of the raiding party. None of the defendants testified in their defense, and Atty. Charles O. Monahan argued only for Yerardi. The lawyer claimed that the fact the phone was listed in Yerardi's name did not necessarily mean he knew of the bet-taking.

Miss Spillane will have visited eight European countries. A 1951 graduate of Newton High School, she is majoring in chemistry at Jackson College, where she is a senior. She is vice-president of the Tufts Chapter of the American Chemical Society and is treasurer of Chi Omega.

Political Overtones

The record books clearly indicate Mr. Kelly is neither easily discouraged nor dismayed by the fact that the odds may be heavily against him. Whatever else may be said about him, the persistence of his efforts to achieve public office has certainly been a shining example of the try-try-again adage.

Kelly was elected Lieutenant Governor in 1936, scoring a terrific upset over Leverett Saltonstall. Then he was defeated for the Democratic nomination for Governor in 1938, 1940 and 1942, running against James M. Curley and the late Charles F. Hurley in 1938, against Paul A. Dever in 1940 and against Roger Putnam in 1942.

He was nominated as the Democratic candidate for Attorney General in 1944 and 1946 but lost the subsequent elections. He was nominated a third time for Attorney General in 1948 and won election. It had then been 12 years between his political victories. Kelly was reelected Attorney General in 1950 and defeated for a third term in 1952. What chapter this year will add to his political story remains to be seen.

President Eisenhower will have to walk a political tight rope next autumn, when he takes the campaign stump to urge the reelection of Republican Senators and Congressmen, unless he confines himself to individual personalities and does not try to throw out a verbal umbrella to cover his entire party.

The President has declared repeatedly that the program adopted by the present 83rd Congress will be the issue on which the 84th Congress will be elected. That in itself is going to make it a little difficult to like to call for the reelection of some Republican Congressmen.

There has been no major question before Congress this year on which President Eisenhower has not had some Democratic support and some Republican opposition. On occasion he has had more help from Democrats than from Republicans.

For example the rollback in the national House on the foreign aid authorization bill saw 118 Republican and 141 Democrats voting for the measure, with 78 Republicans and 47 Democrats recorded against it.

It may be pointed that one reason for this is that Mr. Eisenhower has maintained a foreign policy which conflicts with many Republican ideas and traditions.

No other issues come to mind on which the President received greater backing from the Democrats than from his own party. But there have been instances where the President received as much or almost as much Democratic support as Republican help, and on several occasions the Democrats have saved him from defeat.

The St. Lawrence Seaway bill was supported in the Senate by 25 Democrats and 25 Republicans. The Hawaiian Statehood measure was passed by 33 Republican and 23 Democratic Senators.

All this poses the question of whether President Eisenhower can urge the reelection of Republican Congressmen who voted against him and the defeat of Democrats who voted with him. The obvious answer is that he cannot.

Yet, Dwight D. Eisenhower is the chief hope of the Republican party for maintaining the slim margin of G.O.P. superiority in the House of Representatives and for solidifying the Republican hold on the Senate which from the time of Senator Taft's death last July until Senator Hunt's recent suicide, had more Democrats than Republicans.

What the President undoubtedly will do will be to concentrate on extending a helping hand to those Senators and Congressmen in close districts and States who have consistently supported him and leave the others to provide their own means of political survival as best they can.

One of his final stops, incidentally, will be in Massachusetts to urge the reelection of Senator Saltonstall and Governor Herter. It is tentatively expected that he will come here just before the close of the fall campaign.

That former President Truman is still immensely popular a year and a half after his retirement from the White House, was demonstrated by the avalanche of "get-well" letters which followed his recent surgical operation.

Republicans and Democrats sat down to write a note to the little man who waged so courageous an uphill fight for the Presidency back in 1948. At last count the number of communications and calls totalled more than 100,000.

Some came from persons who told Mr. Truman they had thought things over and had decided he wasn't "the worst President we ever had by any means."

Even the Chicago Tribune, one of the outspoken newspaper critics of the Truman regime, declared in an editorial:

"Merely because he is a very sick man, we shall not pretend for a moment that Harry Truman is either a great statesman or a noble character. The phrases that we applied to him in other years were warm, but the provocation was great and the condemnation was no more severe than the facts warranted.

"In all sincerity, we express the wish that Mr. Truman will make a speedy recovery and that he will remain with us long. There are a lot of things wrong with Harry Truman, but there always was more candor, less hypocrisy, and more natural man in his words and behaviour than most politicians would dare display."

When Mr. Truman was in Boston earlier this year to speak at a Truman Memorial Library luncheon, he declared that he would return in the fall and make a fighting political speech, if he was wanted. The Democrats had better sign him up, if he's able to come.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Providence police are still puzzled by the theft of the swinging doors from a barroom in their city last week. Maybe one of the patrons is going on a vacation and was fearful he would be lonesome for the establishment.

Guenther Henneberg, 17, was sentenced to a year in jail by an East German court last week for drawing a beard on a poster of Communist President Wilhelm Pieck of East Germany.

Henry Ford II, who should be quite an authority on automobiles, inspected Russian-made cars at an industrial fair in Copenhagen last week and reported he was not at all impressed by them. He found that the latest models of Soviet automobiles are about the same type as were made in this country 20 years ago.

A housewife in Sacramento, Calif., brought suit last week to recover $8540 her husband had lost playing cards. Judge Ralph McFee ruled against her, declaring that to find for her would enable all husbands to recover their gambling losses.

An army colonel with an outstanding war record admitted to police in Las Vegas, Nev., last week that he had burglarized several hotel rooms "for a thrill."

Mrs. Margaret McCarthy, seeking a divorce in Los Angeles, testified that her fourth husband had falsely claimed that he owned a house and 180 acres of land, that he stood to win a $5,000 lawsuit over oil rights and that he represented himself as being 56 years old, when he was really 86.

Carleton J. West, 24, of Minneapolis hastily stopped his car on a bridge over the Mississippi River, jumped into the river to save a woman from drowning, gave her artificial respiration to revive her, then went back to his automobile to find he had been given a ticket for illegal parking.

After Baltimore police arrested 100 persons in a night spot featuring a striptease act, Magistrate William Laukaitis threw the case out of court, declaring: "The fact that a male applauds a female for taking off her clothes does not constitute disorderly conduct."

Democratic members of the U. S. Senate are split as to how much federal income taxes should be reduced. One group is pressing for a $200 rise in personal exemptions, a second for $100 exception increase and a third for a flat $20 cut for all taxpayers.

Congressman John W. McCormack will attend a strategy meeting of top Democratic politicians in Washington this week to map plans for the fall campaign.

After Attorney Joe R. Atencio of Denver had delivered an eloquent and impassioned defense of Isaac F. Scoles, who was charged with drunken driving, Atencio was ordered removed from the courtroom and was later booked for allegedly being drunk and disorderly.

Congressman Franklin D. Roosevelt is waging an all-out drive for the Democratic nomination for Governor in New York State.

Philadelphia police officials sent back 21 snub-nosed 38 caliber revolvers they had ordered for the department's police-women after discovering that the feminine officers were not strong enough to pull the triggers.

Three youths arrested for stealing an automobile in Toledo protested to police that action also should be taken against the owner of the car because the windshield wipers didn't work, the speedometer showed 94 miles an hour, "when we were only doing 85," and the brakes "were awful."

Red Cross-

vious practice of conducting special campaigns when disasters strike. The American people have supported the Red Cross disaster programs because they have been in sympathy with our policy — our sound policy — of meeting basic needs and basic needs alone. We have expended the funds given through Red Cross generously but prudently, and we have never asked for more than was necessary to do the job at hand. We have never considered that the public wishes us to act as an insurance company and replace disaster losses on the basis of loss.

Largely due to our reluctance in recent years to go before the public in special appeals, the generosity of the public, lacking a point of focus, has been scattered among various local funds and organizations. Now I'll say this: When a community wishes to spend disaster funds raised by its own citizens in its own way, it has every right to do so. But first things come first.

In Flint, Michigan, when the tornado hit last June, Red Cross immediately moved in to meet the needs of the sufferers. We spent nearly $600,000 contributed by all the country. Meanwhile a committee in Flint solicited funds and received over $900,000. Not one cent of this was turned over to Red Cross to meet needs. On the contrary, after Red Cross finished its job, all that money was distributed to people over and above what they had received from Red Cross — irrespective of whether they could have taken care of themselves from then on in whole or in part. Communities that don't help themselves in the total responsibility of a disaster can scarcely expect in the future to be recipients of nationwide generosity.

This kind of situation has also happened elsewhere and has convinced us of the wisdom of emphasizing special disaster fund appeals for the Red Cross.

"I have made no statements in my report or in any press release or news conferences that: (1) in any way questioned the integrity of those responsible for collecting or administering these collateral disaster funds; (2) indicated any request for repayment or reimbursement of money spent by the Red Cross for disaster relief purposes by any community or individual; (3) questioned the right of communities to collect these collateral disaster funds and to expend them for whatever purposes they desired.

"In some instances news stories have failed to convey the intent of my report to the convention and have carried statements that confused the issue under discussion.

"Regardless of this, I am satisfied that the press by placing this issue before the public has contributed to an understanding of the problem and to a better appreciation of the disaster relief program of the Red Cross."

The Worcester Tornado occurred a year ago on June 9th. As of September the Red Cross had spent $901,121.19 for relief of tornado victims. About one fourth, or $236,500, was received from the Central Massachusetts Relief Committee. Direct donations to the Worcester Red Cross Chapter amounted to $60,668.41 while $603,952.78 was contributed from the National Red Cross Disaster Fund.

Named to Office With Lions' Band

Miss Rose Boyce of Newton has been named music librarian and uniform custodian of the Franklin Lions Club Band, the only band under Lions Club sponsorship in the 33rd District and one of the few in the state.

The band is made up of musicians from Franklin and neighboring towns and is under the direction of Carl Wongberg, a music instructor in the Newton schools. Among those from Newton in the band, besides Miss Boyce, are Bob Sostillo, first trumpet; Frank Sweet, first trombone; Ellen Regan, second trumpet; and Bill Harting, baritone.

Graduates Magna Cum Laude

At commencement exercises on June 26, Miss Anne T. King, daughter of Mrs. John J. King of 82 Larch street, Brighton, received her bachelor of arts degree from Calvin Coolidge College of Liberal Arts. Miss King who was graduated magna cum laude, also was chosen as salutatorian of her class because of her high scholastic standing for the past four years.

Barracks-

placement of the Bridgewater building, which had been included by Ways and Means in last year's Capital Outlay Bill, it was defeated on the house floor in a wave of false economy headed by a Boston Democrat who is now a candidate for lieutenant-governor.

He continued, "This year Commissioner Whitney again recommended replacement of these buildings. The Committee on Public Safety unanimously endorsed the bill and instructed me as chairman to carry it. Ways and Means included the two items in the Capital Outlay Bill, and it was enacted."

The new Troop D Headquarters will be constructed at a cost of $375,000 on state-owned land at the Middleboro traffic circle. There will be barracks for 30 men officers, detention rooms, garage, auto repair shop and facilities for housing emergency details of men in addition to other items.

The proposed substitution barracks at Foxboro, replacing the Wrentham building, will provide living quarters for 13 men in addition to other facilities found in a headquarters.

"Replacement of these two old unsafe buildings with modern-age structures," Rep. Rawson concluded, "has been a 'must' for some time, and I am glad to have had a part in it."

Appointed Chief Of Camp Drum's Visitors' Bureau

MAJ. Clarence H. White of 375 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, has been appointed chief of the visitors bureau at Camp Drum, field training ground for 60,000 Army Reservists and National Guardsmen in the eight-state northeastern corner of the nation.

In his new post, Major White will greet all in-coming high-ranking official guests and arrange for accommodations during their stays on the post. Following termination of his special assignment here when the field training period ends in mid-autumn, the major will return to his permanent station at the Doston Army Base, Mass.

A veteran of two global wars, the major served in World Wars I and II. He is a graduate of Purdue university. His wife, Lucille, and their two daughters, Mary Eleanor and Carol, are currently residing at Newtonville.

Comedians with restraint, subtle trimming, and intelligence seem to be on the way out, in favor of the loud-mouthed, all-action, forced-pace variety now dominating the scene.

Rep. Laurence Curtis Issues His 'Report from Washington'

The end-of-the-session rush is on, and the really big legislative problems are now facing us. It seems to be the really big legislative problems are now facing us. It seems to be the nature of legislative bodies that they save most of the big, difficult issues for the end of the session. That is true on Beacon Hill as well as on Capitol Hill. It should not be forgotten, however, that the various Appropriation Bills are among the most important and difficult facing Congress at each session, and that this year those were taken up with commendable promptness and are mostly already behind us.

The monumental revision of the Internal Revenue Laws has also passed the House. It passed the Senate last week, and will now come before a Conference Committee to iron out the differences between the two branches which, from an overall point of view, are not great.

Members of Congress have just received a "Whip Notice" that the Mutual Security legislation, more commonly known as the Foreign Aid bill, will soon be before the House, to be followed by the Agriculture bill, which involves the question of flexible farm price support. Other measures involving important parts of the Eisenhower Program will follow in rapid-fire succession.

We members have been receiving many letters from constituents urging support of the Administration for flexible Farm support. This involves no abandonment of Price Support but a modification of the present mandatory high rigid price supports fixed at 90 per cent of "parity." It is this program which compels the Government to buy up huge surpluses of farm products and maintain high prices to consumers.

Although a Congressman should seldom definitely commit himself until he has read the committee report and has heard the debate on the floor,
I have been glad to write to such constituents that I agree with them. It seems to me most unfair to tax consumers in order to support and increase the prices of the very food products which they must buy. If coffee is scarce, people must pay a higher price due to that scarcity. If there is a glut of butter they must also pay a high price in order that the government can buy huge amounts and protect the producers. The poor consumer is hit in either case. People who live in industrial areas should in my opinion give more vocal

Senator Richard H. Lee to Be Candidate for Fifth Term

Senator Richard H. Lee (R-Newton) today released the following statement:

"I have decided to be a candidate for one more term in the State Senate. This year completes my fourth term and marks the partial achievement of some long-range goals, which I have worked for throughout this period.

"One of these is merit rating for compulsory automobile insurance, which will be tried for the first time under a law adopted last year. This law is not as drastic as my original proposal, but nevertheless a step in the right direction. It will take experience and careful administration to make it thoroughly effective, yet it holds promise for the first reduction in premiums in many years.

"Another goal was the equalization of inheritance tax deductions for all taxpayers, to permit deductions for persons of small incomes living on the proceeds of their investments. A start has been made in this direction, but it may require further amendment.

"There are also many minor changes, such as strengthening the local license boards and providing for appeals to the courts from the ABC and other State Commissions, which are improvements but may require further amendment. There are also proposals to improve legislative rules and organization and court reorganization still to be achieved.

"I have greatly appreciated the widespread support which has been given to me during my service in the Senate, including many people whom I did not know at the time they put in a word on my behalf. I have received many helpful and constructive suggestions and only a handful of threats or demands. In comparing notes with my colleagues from other districts, I count myself lucky to represent a district of so high a type, with so many constituents who ask nothing of me but good government."

The reason many husbands lose interest in their wives a few years after marriage is obvious when you look at the wives. The blame for this is another matter.

Annual Irish Feis on Sunday

Cohnacht and Munster, the South and West sections of Ireland, will be well represented when these two Gaelic football teams, meet for an exhibition game at the Fifth Annual Feis, on Sunday, July 11th, at Alumni Field, Boston College, Newton.

A hurling match, a traditional game of Ireland, between "Young Ireland" and "Galway" teams, will also be one of the feature attractions of the affair.

The Feis, sponsored by the Central Council Irish Clubs, is a festival of Irish Culture, traditional in Ireland that dates back to the time of Christ.

Newtonite Guest Speaker at Conn. Salesmen's Class

Roland B. Macdonald of 150 Mt. Vernon street, Newtonville, was guest speaker last week at the graduation dinner of the Aetna Casualty and Surety Sales Course in East Hartford, Conn.

Mr. Macdonald, a graduate of one of the school's first classes, was invited to speak because of his outstanding record in the insurance business in Boston, where he heads his own agency.

In his talk, Mr. Macdonald told the graduates to "worry only about selling your clients the insurance they need. If you do that, you'll be in business a long, long time."

He advised the class to find "some part of the insurance business about which you are specially enthusiastic and become an expert in it." He continued, "It's certainly all right to solicit new business, but make sure you remember the fellow who gave you his business last year."

At Reserve School

First Lt. George F. Snow of 139 Upland avenue, Newton Highlands, is scheduled to return home Sunday after 15

2 TV Tower Firms Seek Extra Time

Two-year extensions of their permits to construct a television tower in Newton have been requested by a pair of applicants for Channel 5, the lone remaining UHF channel in the Greater Boston area available for commercial use.

The extension was asked so that permits to build a tower, already granted by the aldermen, would not elapse before a decision on awarding the channel is made by the Federal Communications Commission. City ordinances require the exercising of a permit to build within six months, but a recent amendment allows the aldermen to extend this time limit at their discretion without another public hearing.

Requesting the extensions are attorneys representing the Columbia Broadcasting Company and Radio Station WHDH. A 1100-foot tower is planned at 181 Needham street, Newton Highlands, by CBS, and a tower of

No Decision By MDC Yet On C.H. Sale

The Metropolitan District Commission again took no action Thursday on the proposed sale of a 23-acre lot of land off Hammond Park parkway, Chestnut Hill, to Temple Mishkan Tefila of Roxbury as a site for its new school and community center.

For the second week in succession, the five MDC commissioners discussed the possible sale, but withheld any vote until an appraisal of the property is completed. The land is part of a 51-acre tract which has been MDC property for the past 40 years.

The sale has been opposed by the Newton Board of Aldermen, which passed a resolution calling for the MDC to keep control of the property for park and recreation purposes. The board also requested that the city be given first choice when the sale of any MDC land in Newton is contemplated.

One of the MDC commissioners—Milton Cook of Newton Centre—has been a strong advocate of letting the temple purchase the land, "rather than having it continue to lie dormant." He predicted that a final decision would be made at

Plastics Plant Again Seeks Storage Tank

Hearing Set Mon. Night

5000-Gal. Tank Asked by Reiss

Another round in the city's battle with Reiss Associates, plastics plant which operates a stone's throw from the Newton Corner business area, will commence Monday night at a hearing on the company's petition for permission to store 5000 gallons of inflammable liquid in an underground tank.

The company, located at 49 Elmwood street, Newton, has applied for a license to store "Class B" inflammables for use in the manufacture of laminated plastic sheets. Previous attempts to secure permits for storage of "Class A" inflammables—more dangerous than the Class B fluids—have been turned down by the aldermen.

The operation of Reiss Associates has long been a source of controversy among Newton businessmen and residents. Strong odors coming from the factory plus the fear of fire and explosion in a thickly settled dis-

Controversy Ends Effect Compromise With Needham

After a lengthy controversy, a compromise with the town of Needham cleared the way for the sale by Newton of about 300,000 cubic yards of fill from the city's water reservation in Needham, Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., has reported.

Newton had requested permission from Needham to sell more than twice as much fill from its reservation and a permit was received from the Board of Appeals. However, the Needham Planning Board objected to the sale and started action in the Norfolk Superior Court, which held up the transaction.

In an agreement, arranged by City Solicitor Matt B. Jones, Newton waived the right to sell fill from the eskar, or dome of gravel, north of the railroad tracks and the Needham Planning Board withdrew its objection to the sale of fill from the land south of the tracks, the mayor announced.

The agreement stipulates that the fill is to be used in connection with the construction of the new Route 128, within the confines of the town of Needham. Newton sold the fill to the John P. Condon Company of Watertown for 20½ cents per cubic yard and the Condon Company in turn, sold the gravel to the DeMatteo Company, which is constructing the new road.

The sale by Newton was made to the highest bidder about a year ago, before the contract for the construction of Route 128 was awarded by the State. The Condon Company was one of the bidders for the contract and on its failure to obtain the award, sold the fill to the DeMatteo Company.

Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt stated that the removal of the fill will in no way affect the water system. The area from which the fill is being taken is completely surrounded by swamp and would be of no value except for its present use, Mr. Pratt emphasized. However, the fill from the present deal, may be of value in the future if the area is developed for homes or industry, he pointed out.

Graduate 6 Medical Technicians

The School of Medical Technology of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital graduated 6 medical technicians July 2. They are: Janet M. Donovan of Quincy, B. Diane MacKenzie of Malden, Mary Anne Strojny of Taunton, Joan Pilkington of Lexington, Sally Heald of Worcester, and Kathryn Louise Dolan of Newton.

The hospital is pleased to announce the names of the 6 girls who will replace those graduated. The new students are: Patricia Anne Blackwood of Wellesley Hills, Claire Phyllis Ducharme of Holyoke, Louise Emily Lamb of Rangeley, Maine, Joanne Nestle of Newton Highlands, Esther P. Kendra of Pine Orchard, Connecticut, and Barbara Spuyt of Waltham.

This School of Medical Technology is a division of the hospital's educational facilities that is sometimes overlooked by the general public, but which constantly serves as an integral part of the Newton-Wellesley and an important asset to the community. The rapidity and ease with which these recent graduates obtained positions is an indication of the importance of their training and the value of their services.

To Have Charge of 9 Communities In 1954 Red Feather Fund Drive

Robert R. Walker of Auburndale has been appointed to one of the top 11 positions in the 1954 Red Feather Campaign of Metropolitan Boston, to be held this fall. General Chairman Theodore "Ted" Chase, Boston lawyer who will head all operations for the coming fund-raising drive, announced this week Mr. Walker's acceptance of the important position of chairman of the North Metropolitan area.

It will be Walker's job to help organize volunteer leadership in nine communities of North Metropolitan Boston who will assist in raising funds in the coming campaign for the support of 300 health and social welfare services which serve more than a half million people each year.

Mr. Walker is a member of the Boston Committee for Employment of the Physically Handicapped, a Director of the Newton Community Chest and Chairman of its Public Relations Committee, on the Board of Managers of Community Workshops, a Director of the School of Nursing at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Vice-Chairman of the Newton Chapter of the Red Cross, and a member of the Steering Committee of the Red Cross Alliance.

In addition to these various activities, he has served in an important capacity in the Red Feather campaigns for at least the last five years: as a member of the Plans Board of the 1954 campaign, head of the Retail Division of the Central Metropolitan area in 1953, chairman of the Newton campaign drive in 1952, Newton Residential chairman in the 1951 campaign, and Auburndale Village chairman in 1950. ## Demonstrate Water Safety Aid Sunday

Red Cross Program to Be Held At Crystal Lake at 2:30 P.M.

This Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock a Red Cross Water Safety demonstration will be held at Crystal Lake, Newton Centre. This popular program under the leadership of Gilbert J. Champagne, Chairman, is carried on each year in cooperation with the Newton Recreation Department and its Commissioner C. Evan Johnson.

Under the direction of Miss Claire McCarthy an exhibition of the various phases of learning how to swim will be given. Assisted by the other Red Cross Instructors Margaret Lane, Carolyn Sanroma and Marilyn Tanner, two hundred children will demonstrate the simple swimming skills taught to beginners to those more difficult ones learned in Senior Life Saving.

Professor Joseph R. Rogers of the University of Massachusetts will show the proper use of a canoe as well as how to handle one which has capsized. The use of a spare tire as a free floating support for making summer rescues will be shown by members of the Newton Police Department. This phase of the afternoon program will be conducted by Safety Officer Charles E. Feeley and Gilbert J. Champagne. Mr. Champagne will also demonstrate paddle-board techniques. In addition to using three various methods of rescuing a drowning person, he will show how to conduct a mass rescue.

The public is cordially invited to go to Crystal Lake and see for themselves what is being done there for the youth of Newton. A special invitation is extended to all parents of children participating in the summer program. It is an opportunity to see the results of the work of four well trained Red Cross Water Safety instructors serving at the excellent facilities furnished by the Newton Recreation Department.

Herter Launches Program to Provide Housing for Elderly; Reflects Humane Side of Administration on Beacon Hill

Governor Christian A. Herter will have a rather imposing record on which to campaign next autumn. Virtually every person in Massachusetts has benefited in some way from the manner in which he has directed the State government.

Probably his most important single accomplishment was to lower the State income tax about 25 percent. The list of his achievements during his 18 months in office is a long one. The effects of some of them will continue long after he has left Beacon Hill.

He has launched one program, however, that has not yet received the attention in Massachusetts that it merits but which is being closely studied by the other States of the Union and probably will be copied by many of them.

It is a plan for providing homes for elderly persons in needy circumstances, and in the next few months small housing developments will begin going up in all sections of Massachusetts under the provisions of a law which was one of the pet ideas of Mr. Herter himself.

If You Own Property Jointly with Another

Where husband and wife or any two or more persons hold property in certain forms of joint ownership, they get the benefit of attractive legal and practical advantages.

Yet, taxwise, joint ownership may be costly. The death of one joint owner may force the survivor to pay heavy estate tax assessments or capital gains taxes. The creation of joint ownership sometimes involves a Federal gift tax.

If you have entered into joint ownership without finding out what tax liabilities might result, check with your lawyer now. Joint ownership may be advantageous for you; on the other hand it may be costly. Your lawyer can tell you.

tract have drawn the ire of many Newton homeowners.

Earlier this year, Reiss Associates sought to store inflammable phenolic resin in a 5000-gallon and a 300-gallon tank. This was strongly opposed by Newton residents and organizations. Following the protest, both tanks were denied to the firm by a 19-1 vote.

The aldermen's attitude toward the plastics plant was expressed during discussion of the two tanks by Earle D. Wood, chairman of the finance committee. He made it plain that the city would welcome the plant's operations — somewhere else than in a residential district.

If refusing the permits forced the firm out of business, he declared, "Everything would be fine." This stand was enthusiastically seconded by Alderman Winfield C. Anderson, who called the company's operation "a direct violation" of the zoning ordinances.

Newton has been before the courts several times in past years with the company, and injunctions have been secured ordering the company to overcome obnoxious odors emanating from the building.

The courts also gave the company 60 days to make improvements in fire safety within the plant. The safety measures outlined were recommended in a survey conducted for the city by a Boston Fire Department expert.

Monday's hearing will get under way at 9 p. m., instead of the usual earlier starting time. The later time has been established by the aldermen so that both committee sessions and the aldermen's meeting can be held the same evening during the summer months.

For the Elderly

Chairman Daniel Tyler, Jr., of the State Housing Board moved this week to launch the $15,000,000 Program to provide public housing for elderly persons of low income throughout Massachusetts.

Massachusetts is one of the first States in the Union to undertake such a program for its elderly citizens in modest circumstances.

Governor Herter proposed the program in his first Inaugural Address in January, 1953. It was held up, however, by a legal technicality in the law enacted last year, which has since been ironed out.

Brochures which demonstrate most modern standards of design of better housing for elderly persons of low income have been mailed by Chairman Tyler to officials in all 351 cities and towns in Massachusetts. They are being sent to Housing Authorities in 88 communities and to Mayors, City and Town Managers and Selectmen in all cities and towns.

With each brochure the local officials also are being sent a list of all registered architects who are residents of Massachusetts and a schedule of architects' fees which may be paid for the design of the dwellings to be built under this law. For the first time the State Housing Board is specifying that the fees for architects must be kept within certain designated limits. Hitherto the architects have been paid on a percentage basis. The Massachusetts Chapter of the American Institute of Architects participated and co-operated in setting up the schedule of fees.

Mainly men and women who are sixty-five years of age or over, and are in the low income brackets, will be eligible to occupy the dwelling units erected under this program. Details of eligibility standards which will govern the selection of tenants will be established by the State Housing Board.

A number of communities which have not previously constructed public housing developments have indicated an interest in the Elderly Housing Program. Any communities which desire to build projects of this type, and which do not now have Housing Authorities, must organize such Authorities before making application to the State Housing Board. Communities seeking State Aid for the erection of such developments must establish that they have elderly persons who are qualified for such dwellings and would desire to occupy them.

The homes to be built under this program will be specially designed, Chairman Tyler stated, to provide conveniences and accommodations for men and women of advanced years. For example, most of the dwellings will be one-story in height. Present plans call for the erection of but few dwellings of a height greater than two floors. There will be no winding stairways in such dwellings. Hand rails will be installed on both sides of stairways. Windows will be arranged to provide a maximum of light and a minimum of glare. Under the provisions of the program windows must equal 15% of the floor area. Every dwelling will have conveniently located bells which will sound in an adjacent home, in the event an elderly occupant should need assistance. Floors will be constructed of materials that will lessen the likelihood of accidents caused by slipping. All light switches will be luminous so that they may be easily found at night. The dwellings will be small and compact and are planned to feature Pullman-type kitchens.

One-person family units will be eligible to occupy these homes. The law provides that insofar as is practicable, the projects shall be built "near the neighborhoods where the elderly persons reside." Chairman Tyler declared. Special recreation rooms will be provided as gathering and assembly places in projects where size warrants this feature.

Political Overtones

The objective of the program is to provide better homes for elderly persons who are living on modest pensions, on small incomes or on old age assistance. A total of $16,000,000 has been allocated for this purpose.

At the State housing offices in downtown Boston, Chairman Daniel Tyler, Jr., and Director Harland A. McPhetres of the State Housing Board are now working on a carefully thought-out plan that will soon be put into operation. Within a short time cities and towns across the State will begin applying for the funds that will be available to make things a little more pleasant for men and women who find themselves with little in the twilight of their lives.

Governor Herter outlined his plan to provide housing for the elderly in his inaugural address on the day he assumed office in January, 1953. A law designed to carry out his idea was enacted last year, but a technical flaw was discovered in it after the Legislature prorogued, and a new statute had to be adopted this year.

The overall program had so much appeal that some communities across the State, which have never built a housing program in the past, are planning to put up at least a few homes for their elderly citizens who may need a helping hand.

Tyler and McPhetres have two primary objectives in carrying out the program authorized under the law Herter had written into the statute books. One is to make the $16,000,000 go as far as possible by eliminating every bit of waste and unnecessary expense, and the other is to produce homes that will offer a maximum of comfort, convenience and safety for the elderly people who will occupy them.

For instance, the windows in the dwellings will be designed to provide a maximum of light and a minimum of glare. Special appointments will be furnished and materials will be used to lessen the likelihood of accidents from slipping. Most of the homes will be one-story structures. None will have more than two floors in height. They will be small, compact and will have Pullman-type kitchens.

To as great an extent as possible, they will be built in the neighborhoods where the persons who occupy them now live so that the tenants will be able to go to the same churches, patronize the same stores, live among the same neighbors and not be forced to undergo an adjustment brought about by moving to a new district.

An example of the detailed thought which Tyler, McPhetres and their staff of assistants have put into the program is that bells will be installed in various rooms throughout the houses which, if pressed, will sound in a neighbor's home in case it is necessary to summon help for any reason.

The homes, which are to be built by local communities with State credit, will rent for not more than $42 per month.

For the first time in Massachusetts history the law specifies that one person may comprise a family unit. That provision was written into the law so that widows, widowers or elderly single persons would be eligible to occupy the dwellings.

Governor Herter is widely shown as a man of great character and ability who brought increased dignity and efficiency to Beacon Hill. It is not so widely known that there has also been a warm and humane side to his administration that is reflected by his program of housing for the elderly and his action in revising the unemployment compensation law to provide increased benefits for jobless men and women.

Muchnick Decides Not to Run for Congress

The action of former School Committee Chairman Isadore H. Y. Muchnick of West Roxbury in withdrawing from the race for the Democratic nomination for Congress probably means that former Assistant U. S. Attorney Jackson J. Holtz of Brookline will be the Democratic candidate against Congressman Laurence Curtis in next autumn's election.

Muchnick stepped out of the contest against the advice of many of his friends who felt that he would have had an excellent chance of winning the Democratic nomination, since the bulk of the district's Democratic vote will be cast in Boston, where he is better known than Holtz, and that he would have been a strong contender against Curtis in November.

Muchnick, however, has waged losing campaigns in each of the past two years. He lost to City Councillor Frederick C. Hailer, Jr., of Roslindale in a fight for the Democratic nomination for Congress in 1952 and was defeated for reelection to the School Committee last autumn. And he presumably decided, after sizing up the situation, not to risk a third successive defeat in a congressional district which a Democrat has never carried.

It is anticipated that Muchnick will now bide his time and attempt to return to the School Committee in next year's Boston municipal election.

City Councillor Hailer has not yet decided whether he will step into the congressional field against Holtz. His friends have obtained the necessary nomination signatures for him in the event that he should decide to do so.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

A tree which grows in Costa Rica and northern sections of South America produces a rich milk which cannot be distinguished from fresh cream when used in coffee. Dr. Paul H. Allen reports in Natural History Magazine.

Alex Diamond of Chester, Pa., insisted that his school speller was wrong and that Pennsylvania was spelled Pennsylvania because that's the way it appeared in his community newspaper. Alex was certain he was right until the newspaper apologized on the front page, explaining that the misspelling was a typographical error.

Policeman Erwin Plessow of Berlin was sentenced to seven weeks in jail after he explained that the reason he didn't chase a fleeing burglar was that he was scheduled to go off duty in three minutes and that he could not have caught the thief in that time.

Weights and Measures Department Renders A Fundamental Service

In an address given at the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club, J. Ellis Bowen, Sealer of Weights and Measures for the city contended that "no other public service is more fundamental than the services of your Weights and Measures Department, and probably only fire, police and health protection are equally so."

Continuing his discussion, Mr. Bowen stated:

"Your Sealer of Weights and Measures stands as an impartial arbiter between the buyer and seller, with due regard for the rights of all, so touching the life of every individual in the community.

"Weights and Measures are of sufficient importance that the Constitution of the United States specifically delegates to Congress the authority to coin money, regulate the value thereof, and 'Fix the Standard of Weights and Measures'.

One power could not long endure without the other, and it is not accidental that these powers were mentioned together. To receive short weight or measure is the equivalent of receiving counterfeit money in your change. Counterfeiting suggests something dramatic, cloaks and daggers, printing presses in dark cellars, FBI raids and gunplay. Yet the matter of weights and measures protection is of equal importance, and there are undoubtedly more people ready to short weight you than there are counterfeiters.

Today's high prices are a most convincing argument that ounces, pints, quarts and yards are dollars and cents. It is axiomatic that how much you get is of equal importance to how much you pay.

To give short weight or measure is a two pronged evil. It not only cheats the purchaser, but provides unfair competition by offering a means of underselling an honest competitor.

To thrive, our system of free enterprise is utterly dependent upon the stimulus of our profit system, and our unparalleled economic climate, providing the world's highest standard of living, is dependent upon the small unit profits of mass productivity and mass distribution. Unit profits being small, it is imperative that the merchant not give long weight or measure. For him carelessly, or unknowingly to do so is to give away his profit, his means of livelihood, and over a period of time to invite bankruptcy.

Neither short nor long weight or measure can be tolerated.

Standards of weight and measure, together with the enforcement of laws relating thereto is a necessary and integral part of economic progress, and affords an equal degree of protection to all who either buy or sell commodities.

Your Sealer is a law enforcement officer and operates under the authority of the General Laws of the Commonwealth and the Ordinances of the City of Newton. In addition to weights and measures matters he is also the licensing authority for City peddlers.

Weights and Measures are with us from the cradle to the grave and are of importance in all things necessary to human existence—in food, medicine and beverages consumed, clothing worn, specifications for shelter, fuel consumed, and household commodities, quantity is a relative factor.

We all learned to consider distance and mass before we learned to write. Even the illiterate must know something of quantity determination for bargaining purposes merely to sustain life. You and I are concerned merely with a refinement of this basic art—a demand for more precise accuracy.

As an illustration let me say that the most accurate figures indicate that about 27 million gallons of motor vehicle fuel passed through the meters of Newton's nearly 300 gasoline pumps last year, for which automobile owners paid over $8 million dollars. Should the meters of these pumps have delivered just one measuring cup short on each five gallons, the purchasers would have been cheated of over $100,000. Conversely, should the pumps have delivered a measuring cup too much on each five gallons the gasoline dealers would have suffered a loss of over $100,000.

It is estimated that about $2½ million dollars worth of fuel oil passed through the meters of Newton garaged fuel oil trucks during the past year. It is obviously important that these meters be kept under surveillance and periodically tested and certified when correct.

It is the Sealer's duty to, at least once annually, inspect and test every weighing or measuring device, used commercially, in the city, and to either approve or condemn same.

This includes the equipment not only of the gasoline or oil dealer, but the butcher, grocer, peddler, iceman, junkman, pharmacist and coal dealer, and many factory scales a number of which are used for counting piecework as a basis upon which wages are paid.

J. ELLIS BOWEN

Your Sealer not only protects your pocketbook, but also your individual physical person.

When sickness strikes you or a loved one, your doctor often hands you a prescription to be filled. This precious paper you take to the pharmacist, a man you are confident will, with his specialized knowledge and skill, carefully compound your prescription exactly as written by your doctor.

But how about the accuracy of the pharmacist's balance and tiny weights at the drug store or at the hospital pharmacy? The degree of accuracy of this equipment can spell your physical wellbeing, and sometimes, perhaps, the difference between death and life itself.

Your Sealer, aware of his responsibility as a partner of the doctor and the pharmacist, exercises the greatest care, and demands extreme accuracy of such equipment before its approval and sealing.

The Sealer inspects, tests, and either approves or disapproves the scales of the Newton District Nursing Association used at several Well Baby Clinics throughout the city. He also does the same with all school scales in both the public and parochial schools within this jurisdiction. This is of considerable importance in connection with the mass, or public health program of the city.

He is occupied with many additional activities by way of investigational and supervisory work, inspections, tests, and trial weighings.

About 5,000 trial weighings of prepackaged goods, taken at random from retailers' shelves, are made each year.

About 1500 inspections of trucks, licenses, motors, clinical thermometers, oil bottles and paper cartons are made.

He stops coal trucks on the highway and demands to see the load certificate, making notes therefrom. The truck is ordered to the nearest truck scale and weighed. After delivery of the coal the truck must return to be weighed empty, the difference in weight being the net weight of the coal.

Because an informed public is a better served public, the Sealer unhurriedly discusses weights and measures matters with every merchant and producer with whom he comes in professional contact, and hands to each a copy of his Annual Report for the previous year.

Merchants generally, prove very receptive to such discussion and information, and express their appreciation for such service in broadening their perspective in matters of mutual concern.

The Sealer also carries on an educational program slanted to the general public by means of talks such as this before service and other clubs and in schools, by means of radio and newspaper and magazine publicity. During this year the Sealer has produced a 23 minute color motion picture with sound narration picturing many of his activities.

This film has been exhibited at the National Bureau of Standards in Washington and commended by the officials of many states.

It is planned to use this in the Newton schools and before other interested groups.

In general this is the type of work done by your Weights and Measures Department in the City of Newton.

"The surest way to have happiness and peace of mind is to give them to somebody else."

YOU SHOULD KNOW

FOR SERVICES YOU MAY NEED!

GROUP OF WINNERS of the Bicycle Safety Clinic at Newton Centre Playground which was held last week is pictured with officials who aided in the program. Among those who attended the awarding of the prizes were Safety Officer Gilbert J. Champagne, Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., Chief of Police Philip Purcell and Safety Officer Charles E. Feeley.

Police and Recreation Department Now Conducting Bicycle Clinics

The Newton Police-Recreation Department Bicycle Safety Clinics to be held on the playgrounds of Newton are designed to further improve safety attitudes in bicycle riders. The emphasis is on safer riding with the use of hand signals to indicate any change in direction. The rider is instructed to ride with traffic on the right hand side of the street and observe all the traffic rules and regulations. Formerly bicyclists rode facing traffic as pedestrians walk at the present time. The pedestrian, however, steps off the roadway at the approach of an automobile but the cyclist cannot do so. Hence the change in the law which requires bicycle riders to ride on the right side of the street with the flow of traffic. The rider is also instructed to look as well as give a hand signal and will know if traffic conditions will permit a safe turn. Other recommendations made include all proper equipment on bicycles, a bicycle that fits the rider, dismounting before crossing a busy street, walking bicycles through business sections and properly parking of the bicycle. Much of the instruction and safety on bicycles can only be accomplished by parental supervision. As a result, each child participating in the program will have a postcard sent home with the results of his or her test so that Mother or Father may use this as a guide and give continual reminders and checkups to the youngsters. The Bicycle Safety Clinics were inaugurated six years ago by Chief Philip Purcell and Recreation Commissioner C. Evan Johnson with Safety Officer Tom McManey as instructor and are now continued by Safety Officer Charles E. Feeley. At the conclusion of each clinic, prizes for the riders who achieve the greatest scores are awarded. Top score for the course is 16 points. Prizes are donated by merchants of the city to encourage a continued interest in bicycle safety.

General Motors Parade of Progress Now In Boston

The General Motors Parade of Progress, a traveling "circus of science", opened a six-day free showing on the Boston Common starting at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday.

The colorful show will run from 7:30 to 10:00 p.m. on opening day, and from 12:00 Noon to 10:00 p.m. daily through July 19.

Visitors to the scientific exposition will learn how research and science have contributed to our nation's progress, and how they offer even greater advances in the years ahead. On the road, the Parade travels in 38 red, white and silver vehicles, including 11 specially built exhibit vans called Futuriners. It carries its own special big top, the Aerodome. This tent is described as the only one of its type in the world, being suspended from above by aluminum alloy girders, rather than being propped up from within by poles.

The Parade of Progress stage show will be presented hourly in the huge tent, which is 152 feet long, 80 feet wide and 26 feet high, with a seating capacity of 1,250.

Most of the Parade's outside "court" exhibits are contained in the Futuriners. These 33-foot long streamlined coaches have 16-foot side panels which open to form stages and exhibit areas.

Exhibits are of three general types — lecture demonstrations, synchronized sound action, or animated exhibits, and audience operated exhibits.

Since leaving Detroit a year ago April, the show has been presented in 52 cities to almost 3,000,000 people.

A crew of 55 highly trained young men operate the show. They are not only showmen and lecturers, but they also drive the trucks and other vehicles on the road, and do all the other necessary jobs to keep the show running on schedule.

One of the show's most popular features is the main stage show in the Aerodome tent. Here, in an actual laboratory demonstration, synthetic rubber is made in just a few seconds with no equipment but an old pop bottle. This is only one of a series of rapid-fire chemical demonstrations.

A tiny jet plane whooshes across the stage as jet power is explained, and the show closes as a "rocket ship" takes off into outer space. The lecturers demonstrate jet engines, principles of heat and cold, and other various scientific fundamentals such as friction and how precision instruments aid progress.

Beneath all of its circus glitter, the Parade of Progress has a serious purpose. It is aimed at bringing about a better understanding of American industry and its objectives.

Boston is one of only four cities in Massachusetts which will see the show on its current tour. The others are Framingham, Springfield and Worcester.

Heating School Now In Session

Boston homeowners planning a home heating installation will benefit directly and substantially from the three-day School of Modern Heating, now being attended by heating contractors, heating equipment wholesalers, architects, builders and fuel dealers of Boston.

The purpose of the school is to equip these men who individually and collectively constitute the local home heating industry with the latest knowledge of how to install more efficient and economical hot water and steam home heating systems.

The school, sponsored by The Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers, is meeting at the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, 250 Stuart street, Boston, Mass. Those in attendance are learning how to substitute scientific methods for rule-of-thumb practices in designing home heating systems to meet specific requirements.

The course is quite detailed in covering new, simplified methods and time-saving procedures for reducing installation costs through proper system design in the first place.

Chairman of the Boston School of Modern Heating is N. Hervan, Assistant Manager, American Standard & Sanitary Corp., 515 Park Square Bldg., 31 St. James Ave., Boston 16, Massachusetts.

Further information about the School of Modern Heating can be obtained by writing to The Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers, 60 E. 42nd street, New York 17, New York, or by contacting the chairman of the school, N. Hervan, Assistant Manager, American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corp., 515 Park Square Bldg., 31 St. James avenue, Boston 16, Massachusetts.

He came to America in 1921 after 6 months on the Canadian prairie. His theological education was obtained at the Meadville Theological School and the University of Chicago. He served as pastor of the Adams Memorial Church in Dunkirk, New York for 8 years before coming to the Unitarian Church in West Newton.

He has acted as director of the Department of World Churches of the American Unitarian Association and in this capacity made 4 trips to Europe after the close of World War II to arrange closer ties between the liberals in Great Britain and on the continent and those in the United States.

Named Deputy Comptroller At Q.M. Center

Thomas F. Callahan, a resident of Newtonville, has been appointed Deputy Comptroller for the new Quartermaster Research and Development Command at Natick. Mr. Callahan was born in North Adams, on December 14, 1909. He attended St. Joseph's Grammar School and St. Joseph's High School in that city and entered Holy Cross College in 1927. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Holy Cross in 1931.

Mr. Callahan entered on duty with the Quartermaster laboratories in January. He had previous Government service with the Ordnance Corps during World War II and the Korean action. Before the war, Mr.
Callahan was associated with the Firestone Tire & Rubber Company. In recognition of his understanding of finance, Mr.
Callahan, in 1953, was selected by the Federal Personnel Council in Boston to supervise a course in Federal Accounting Procedures at the Boston University Institute of Public Service. He is a member of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

Mr. Callahan resides with his wife, the former Florence E.
Crapo, and their two children,
Sheila, 9, and Robert E., 6, at 11 Birch Hill road, Newtonville.

Designed to stimulate an interest in nature and an appreciation of the amazing variety of New England birds, it is a ready reference for the bird watcher, a boon to youngsters working for Scout merit badges, a help to hunters, and a revelation to those who think they can only identify sparrows and pigeons.

Actually, most people are able to recognize many more birds than they think. However, the collection contains numerous surprises, like the local birds of almost tropical brilliance, contrasted with the penguin-like murres, clothed in neat black and white ensembles and seen along the coast from Rockport (Mass.) northward.

Sportsmen will find the complete group of game birds an aid in identifying various

315 Varieties Of Birds Can Be Seen in Mass.

How many kinds of birds can be spotted in New England?
Anything less than 315 different varieties would be underestimating our fine feathered friends, according to the Museum of Science, Boston, where a brilliant collection of New England adult male birds has just gone on display.

All 315 of these land, sea and shore birds have actually been seen in Massachusetts, either as full or part-time residents or during spring and fall migrations. They are, therefore, all likely candidates for bird watchers' checklists throughout New England. Some, considered rare in the Bay State, are common in other parts of the region, like the cardinal in Connecticut, crossbills in New Hampshire, and the Canada jay in Maine.

"At least 80 of these birds are found frequently and can be spotted by anyone who's on the alert," says Richard T. Kleber of the Museum of Science Education Department, who assembled the new exhibit. "An experienced birder will probably see as many as 200 of them in the course of a year."

An advisory committee consisting of Ludlow Griscom, chairman of the board of the National Audubon Society and past president of the Boston Society of Natural History,
Raymond Paynter, Assistant
Curator of Birds at Harvard University, and Mrs. Juliet Kellogg of Andover, Mass., assisted in planning the exhibit.

The Museum of Science is open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Tuesdays through Saturday, and from 2 to 5 on Sundays.
It is closed every Monday.

GM "Parade Of Progress" Show In Boston

The General Motors Parade of Progress, a traveling "circus of science", opened a six-day free showing on the Boston Common at 7:30 p.m. last night.

The show will run from 12:00 Noon to 10:00 p.m. daily through July 19.

Visitors to the scientific exposition will learn how research and science have contributed to our nation's progress, and how they offer even greater advances in the years ahead.

On the road, the Parade travels in 38 red, white and silver vehicles, including 11 specially built exhibit vans called Futurliners.

It carries its own special big top, the Aerodome. This tent is described as the only one of its type in the world, being suspended from above by aluminum alloy girders, rather than being propped up from within by poles.

The Parade of Progress stage show will be presented hourly in the huge tent, which is 152 feet long, 80 feet wide and 26 feet high, with a seating capacity of 1,250.

Most of the Parade's outside "court" exhibits are contained in the Futurliners. These 33-foot long streamlined coaches have 16-foot side panels which open to form stages and exhibit areas.

Exhibits are of three general types—lecture demonstrations, synchronized sound action, or animated exhibits, and audience operated exhibits.

People of the world speak more than 1,000 separate languages or dialects.

Murphy Has Not Been Making Headway Expected ... Has Slipped Into Obscurity Since Winning Nomination ...

The politicians are now wondering whether, in their own words, Representative Robert F. Murphy of Malden, Democratic nominee for Governor, is "dying on the political vine."

Murphy surged spectacularly into the public spotlight seven weeks ago, when he defeated Executive Councilor Patrick J. McDonough for the gubernatorial endorsement at the Democratic State Convention in Worcester.

But after his momentary splurge of prominence, he dropped back into comparative obscurity, and he has commanded relatively little public attention in the intervening month and a half.

In fairness to Murphy, it may be reported that he has had few, if any, opportunities to do anything of a spectacular nature that would carry him into the headlines. He has been working hard building the foundations for his campaign ahead, and his supporters are hoping that his present efforts will pay dividends next autumn.

Only Two Protest Plastics Petition

An expected battle over a petition by Reiss Associates, Newton plastics manufacturing plant, for a storage tank failed to materialize Monday night in City Hall as only two neighbors arose to protest the plant's request.

Previous hearings this year on petitions for storage had packed the aldermanic chamber with residents who vigorously objected to virtually every phase of the firm's operations. About half of the 200 in the spectators benches left at the end of the hearing, but they were mostly interested onlookers who neither spoke at the hearing nor raised their hands to vote for or against the firm's petition. Atty. Hugh S. Boyd, representing the Elmwood street manufacturing plant, came prepared for a battle. He opened his remarks by requesting the opportunity of a rebuttal after objections had been made.

This brought an immediate retort from Alderman Winfield C. Anderson that the hearing was not a debate and that Mr. Boyd's request was clearly out of order. Board President Wendell R. Bauckman adopted a "wait and see" attitude, and, as things worked out to almost everyone's surprise, no rebuttal was necessary.

'God's Smuggler' to Appear At Immanuel Baptist Church

"God's Smuggler"—an exiled Russian pastor who is devoting his life to smuggling the word behind the Iron Curtain—will speak tonight (Thursday) at 8 o'clock on behalf of his Bible campaign, at Immanuel Baptist Church, Newton.

Rev. Basil Andreyevich Malof, president of the Russian Bible Society, will explain the work and the aims of his group during his talk. He is engaged in a three-month tour of New England to gain support for his campaign to spirit 1,000,000 Russian-language Bibles into the heart of Communism.

Pastor Malof established the first Protestant church in St. Petersburg almost half a century ago, and a year later founded the first Protestant church in Moscow. The instant success of the fiery young preacher brought down the wrath of the Czar, and in 1914 he was exiled from Russia on charges that were never made public.

For many years, he devoted his life to aiding refugees—escaping from the revolution and from the stern government which took over Russia. As the government turned against religion and tried to stamp out all traces of it, Pastor Malof took upon himself the task of fighting back with the most powerful weapon he knew—the Bible.

Between 1923 and 1938, from a penniless start, he managed to print 71,000 Bibles in the Russian tongue. What is even more remarkable, he managed to smuggle all the Bibles into Russia.

Coming to the United States in 1939, he traveled the length and the breadth of the country preaching. Despite this itinerant life, he educated his 13 children. Today, three of his 10 sons are college professors and another is a captain in the Air Force.

REV. BASIL A. MALOF

In 1944, he reorganized the Russian Bible Society, which had been first formed in 1823 in St. Petersburg but was abolished by the court of Czar Nicholas the First. The Society took as its immediate objective the printing and distribution of 1,000,000 Russian Bibles, 5,000,000 New Testaments and Psalms, and 25,000,000 copies of Gospel portions. All the Bibles had to be made in new type, since the Soviets had introduced a new alphabet.

Through his contacts from the past, Pastor Malof was able to set up four strategically-located depots to receive his Bibles and to send them by hidden and complex routes into Russia. These depots are located in Finland, Sweden, West Germany and France.

The importance of this strange smuggling operation the world will probably ever see is shown by the fact that, although some churches are allowed to remain open in Russia, anyone under 18 years of age is not permitted to attend services. The Bible, Pastor Malof believes, is the lone way to kindle faith in these young people and "bring the light into the darkness that now cloaks Russia."

Vote to Sell MDC Tract To Temple

Sale of land off Hammond Pond parkway, Chestnut Hill, to Temple Mishkan Tefila of Roxbury — vigorously opposed by the Newton Board of Aldermen — was voted last Thursday by the Metropolitan District Commission on a 3-2 split.

The size of the lot to be sold will not be decided until today's (Thursday) meeting of the commissioners. Last week's vote was to sell either 14 or 23 acres to the temple, to be used as a site for its community center and religious school.

A sub-committee composed of three of the five MDC commissioners met this week with temple representatives to discuss the two available plots of land, and the temple's choice will be reported at today's meeting.

The price of the land was set at $400 an acre following a valuation survey by a state agency. A decision on selling the property was postponed for two weeks as the commissioners waited for the valuation.

The vote to sell included a restriction that the land could be used only for religious, educational or recreational purposes, thus barring resale of

Name Board To Prevent Land Sales

The sale of MDC land off the Hammond Pond parkway to a Roxbury temple brought about the creation of a new Park Commission in Newton Monday night, when the park unit was established to block any future sales.

The Board of Park Commissioners was proposed by Alderman Lawrence B. Damon in a surprise resolution shortly after midnight, when most of the aldermen thought they had finished business for the night.

When some confusion was evident over the duties of the new board, Alderman William M. Powers proposed tabling the matter until the duties could be clearly defined. He stated they should not create a board which has no actual function.

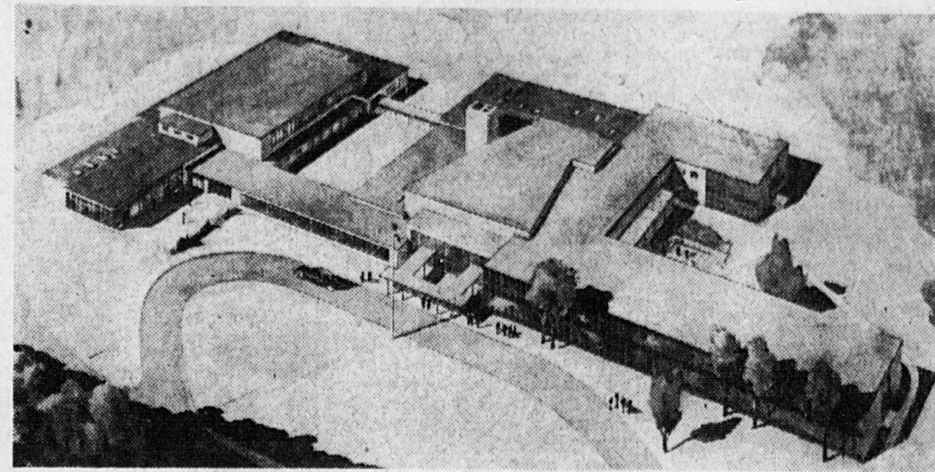

When it appeared that the question of duties might block action on the resolution, the aldermen called upon City Solicitor Matt B. Jones for an outline of the board's functions. Mr. Jones explained that the Park Commissioners would in no way interfere with the operation of the Recreation Department, but would assume some of the duties of the Street Department, which now supervises park work.

Speaking favorably on the resolution, President Wendell R. Bauckman said the city would have been notified much faster of the impending land sale, since laws provide the MDC must notify the Park Commissioners of the towns' involved before any action can be taken.

If Newton had such a body, he said, "it could have made an effort to gain title to the land for the city."

A half-hour recess followed passage of the resolution while Mayor Howard Whitmore considered nominees for the five-man unpaid board. Unanimous approval was then given the mayor's choice of the Planning Board members as the new Board of Park Commissioners. They were named for terms varying from two to six years, so that one vacancy will occur every year. All future members will be appointed for five-year terms.

The members are William E. Hopkins of 11 Willard street, Newton chairman, term expires in May, 1956; William E. Marquis of 79 Ridge road, Waban, term expires in May, 1957; Karl H. Brock of 230 Walnut street, Newtonville, term expires in May, 1958; Stanley W. Merrill of 43 Bracefield road, Newton Centre, term expires May, 1959; and Joseph C. Skinner of 73 Chestnut street, West Newton, term expires in May, 1960.

FIFTH JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL — An aerial view depicts the planned fifth junior high school to be built on Meadowbrook road, Oak Hill. Plans for the building were made by Rich and Tucker Associates of Boston. This drawing was executed by Howard L. Rich of Newton. Although bids have already been received for the $1,900,000 project, the aldermen declined to vote the funds Monday night and kept it for further study.

Over 700 Witness Red Cross Water Safety Demonstration

More than 700 people witnessed the annual Red Cross Water Demonstration at Crystal Lake, Sunday, with a large number of children participating under the direction of Miss Claire McCarthy, swimming director, and Gilbert J. Champagne, chairman of the Red Cross Water Safety and First Aid Services.

Miss McCarthy gave a resume of the Water Safety Program and announced that all classes will continue to August 20 and that adult classes will continue on Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 6 to 7 and 7 to 8. Classes will not be held on rainy days.

Speakers on the program included Robert R. Walker, vice-chairman of the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, who spoke in behalf of William Falconer, chapter chairman, who was unable to be present. In the name of the Red Cross he expressed his thanks to all the parents, instructors and children engaged in this program.

C. Evan Johnson welcomed the parents and friends of the children in behalf of the Recreation Department. He mentioned how harmoniously the Red Cross and the Newton Recreation Department work together at Crystal Lake. He also said that each youngster who learns to swim certainly will be better equipped to handle himself in all water activities.

Wendell R. Bauckman, president of the Board of Aldermen, brought the greetings of Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., who was unable to attend. He stated he was happy to see the program had developed to such an extent that this large number of people showed their interest in the Water Safety Program of the Red Cross.

Guests attending were Mrs. Worthing West and "Nick" Teton Commission.

Miss McCarthy and her teaching staff greatly appreciate the interest and help from all of the parents. They wish to thank the following people for their "splendid co-operation": Chief Philip Purcell, Newton Police Department; Mrs. Morris H. Adler, vice-chairman of the Water Safety Program of the Newton Red Cross, and Mrs. Charles Delaney and Mrs. Solomon Kozol for many hours of registration work. Also thanks to Francis Harrigan and his wonderful corps of Life Guards.

All phases of the Beginners Program were shown including the two tests.

Aldermen Seek Site Change Of Elliot Street Fire House

A Willow street, Newton Centre, fire station costing $290,970 was approved Monday night, but a second fire station costing almost the same and the $1,907,000 Oak Hill junior high school were held over without a decision by the aldermen.

The fire station held for a vote at the next meeting was proposed on Elliot street, Newton Highlands. No action was taken at this time after the aldermen voiced their displeasure at the location of the new building. The junior high school project was kept in the finance committee and was not reported out.

The Willow street station is one of three sought by the Fire Department to modernize its fire houses. A Newtonville station, to be located at Crafts and Walnut streets, received unanimous approval by the aldermen in the last meeting in June. The Newtonville unit, costing $237,276, will replace Engine 8 in Nonantum and Engine 4 in Newtonville.

Although the Elliot street station received a 6-0 vote from both committees reporting on it, the aldermen were unanimous in holding it until more facts can be obtained.

The first objection to passage of the appropriation was raised by Alderman Leo M. Cannon, who said the present location would "show up" a tract of city-owned land ideal for business purposes. He said he thought—up till the time he examined the plans that night—the station would be located closer to Boylston street (the Worcester turnpike).

While he did not oppose the station itself, he strongly objected to placing it near the city incinerator. Previous plans called for construction of the station in front of the Boston Edison generating plant on Elliot street.

President Wendell R. Bauckman commented that past boards had kept the land near the incinerator intact, hoping to sell it for commercial use as a "package." He stated he was also "surprised" to see the site had been shifted.

After it was proposed that the appropriation be passed with the requirement the site be switched back to the old one, H. Eugene Jones pointed out the proviso would be impossible since all bids were made on the newer site. If the Edison location were demanded, he stated, new bids would have to be sought.

General Drop During June In Sanitation

Three proprietors of eating establishments in Newton have been called for hearings before the director of public health after general drop during June, according to the monthly report of Chief Sanitary Inspector Harlan W. Kingsbury.

Mr. Kingsbury reported that out of 236 tests during the month, only 184 were satisfactory. This represented 78 per cent passing the sanitary tests, compared to 86 per cent in previous months.

Where unsatisfactory conditions are found for two consecutive months, the proprietors are summoned for hearings before Dr. Henry W. Godfrey, acting health director.

Restaurants had the worst record in June. Only 68 out of 90 tests proved satisfactory. Taverns had 55 out of 66 tests satisfactory, and 61 out of 80 tests were satisfactory on foundations.

The Health Department also tested the water at Crystal Lake and found it to be safe for swimming. No tests were taken at former swimming spots along the Charles River, since its entire length in Newton is unfit for bathing.

CLARENCE Q. BERGER

Named First Brandeis U. Admin Dean

Clarence Q. Berger of 125 Oakdale road, Newton Highlands has been named the first dean of administration in the six-year history of Brandeis University.

In making the announcement of the new post, Dr. Abram L. Sacher of Newtonville, president of the Waltham University, said it was necessitated by the "broadening of the base of the university's curriculum and activities."

As Brandeis University's first Dean of Administration, Mr. Berger will work with the President's Office in coordinating the University's areas of non-academic administration. Included in these areas are the business operations of the University, Office of University Resources, Office of Public Affairs, Office of Buildings and Grounds, Office of Athletic Activities and the Office of Alumni Affairs.

Coming to Brandeis University in 1948 as director of public affairs, Mr. Berger was named in 1951 executive assistant to the University President. In that capacity, he assumed many of the administrative responsibilities of the President's Office, working with various units to integrate and coordinate the University's activities.

He has lectured at Brandeis in the social sciences, having received his B.A. and M.A. from Harvard University where he formerly was a member of the sociology faculty. He is co-author, with Pitirim Sorokin, of the book "Time Budgets of Human Behavior."

Formerly a research associate for the Social Science Research Council, Mr. Berger has contributed articles to numerous sociology journals.

3 Newton Youths In ROTC Training

Three Newton youths are undergoing four weeks of summer training at New Castle Air Force Base, Delaware, as part of their Air Force ROTC training at college.

They are Dermot A. Cronin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah P. Cronin of 36 Nathan road, Newton Centre, who has already graduated from Amherst College; Norman A. Desrochers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Desrochers of 35 Washburn street, Newton, a Boston University student; and James P. Hanks, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hanks, of 134 Sumner street, Newton Centre, a student at Amherst College.

Three Areas Request City Build Drains

Water on the rampage, washing away holes in streets and flooding cellars and garages, caused West Newton, Waban and Newton Highlands residents to seek city aid through drain construction at hearings Monday night.

After a rainfall, water flows down "like a miniature Niagara Falls," Peter Kananos of 93 Waban avenue, Waban, told the aldermen in urging construction of drains on Agawam road.

The rush of water has created a ravine in which children play, he continued, and there is always a danger of some child being buried alive should the weak walls give way. The soil washes down onto Waban avenue, explained Mr. Kananos, and then blocks that street's water drains and piles "a foot high" along the curbs.

He was seconded by six other residents, who cited dangers from stagnant, germ-breeding pools, land erosion and auto skidding in the piled-up dirt as if it were ice. The aldermen acted favorably on drain construction for this area last year, but no money was available at that time for the work.

Robert W. Moir of 50 Murray road, West Newton, asked for a drain through private land near Larkin road to stop rain water from running down the street into his sunken garage. He blamed the condition on new construction which has filled the natural hollows nearby.

Ever since back yards have been leveled off in 11 new homes, Mr. Moir stated, water gathers three inches deep on the street and then floods his garage to about a foot and a half.

Will Move Oak Hill Fence As Traffic Safety Measure

A high picket fence at the corner of Dedham street and Wiall road, Oak Hill, will be moved back from the street by the owner at the request of the Oak Hill Park Association, which claimed the fence was a traffic hazard.

The fence was inspected by members of the traffic committee of the Board of Aldermen Thursday night, after the Association asked city aid in its safety campaign. Members of the committee, residents of the Park and Sgt. William H. Dowling, head of the police Traffic Bureau, conferred with the owner of the property after seeing the fence, and the owner promptly volunteered to move the fence back about 30 feet from the lot line.

to be made. Mr. Bauckman then directed the company not to present the demonstration, remarking "We don't want to lose City Hall tonight."

The only objectors were Stephen J. O'Brien of 62 Elmwood street and George J. McGoldrick of 60 Elmwood street. Mr. O'Brien spoke briefly, expressing fear that there might be an explosion like the one which leveled the Makalot plastics plant several years ago in Waltham.

Mr. McGoldrick said he wished Reiss officials could sleep in his house for a week if they believe the problem of odors emanating from the plant had been overcome. "They would have to sleep with the windows closed," he stated. "I've often wondered what kind of cigars Mr. Boyd smokes. After seeing him walk down Elmwood street, smoking his cigar, and then hearing him say there is no odor — now I know."

He complained that the plant's operations were noisy at all hours of the day and night, were a hazard to children living nearby and were generally dan-gerous.

In explaining the company's position on the request, Atty. Boyd compared the Class B inflammable resin storage to a fuel oil tank sought by the Newton Highlands Congregational Church in the hearing immediately preceding the Reiss petition.

Describing it as "water soluble resin," Mr. Boyd stated there was no more danger of explosion than in any of the thousands of oil burners in homes and businesses throughout the city. The Class B fluid, he said, has a "flash point" of 117 degrees, compared to 85 degrees for the resin formerly used by the company.

As far as fire dangers are concerned, Atty. Boyd continued, safety improvements under way are making Reiss Associates "as safe as any industrial plant could be." The only possible hazard, "if there is a hazard," he said, is in one small portion of the building.

"Slight odors" still escape the plant "under very unfavorable atmospheric conditions," Atty. Boyd reported, but the new substance "will do away with odors." He also reviewed the number of safety measures taken at the plant, and stated the firm now had a full-time safety engineer at work.

He warned that the city would have a hard time trying to force the plant to move elsewhere. Judges who have heard parts of the case when the city sought injunctions against Reiss Associates to force the firm to adopt safety and odor-killing measures, "are reluctant to act in favor of the city," Atty. Boyd stated.

"If the Board of Aldermen wishes to put this company out of business," he said, "it will have a hard time doing so. I feel sure that if we get into the courts our rights will be respected. I don't think there is any moral justification for trying to drive the company out of the area or out of business."

Mr. Boyd claimed the city should be happy to have a flourishing plant come into the Elmwood street location, which he called a "white elephant." It is an asset to the city, brings in revenue and employs residents, he pointed out.

Following the hearing, the petition was taken under advisement by the franchises and licenses committee.

Approved-

V. Stoddard Bigelow asked for an explanation of the change, and then the board unanimously voted to send the appropriation back to committee for study, acting on a motion by Alderman Cannon.

The school appropriation, recommended by Mayor Howard

Whitmore Jr., was held in committee without explanation. The school project consisted of two measures, one calling for a $2,000,000 bond issue and the other for the $1,907,170 construction cost.

The 21-room school is planned on a six-acre city-owned lot adjoining the Oak Hill Elementary School. It will be the tenth new school in the city's post-war expansion program to provide educational facilities for the "baby boom."

School officials hope that at least the classroom wing will be occupied by September of 1955, when "a certain amount of dislocation" is predicted for the junior high population. The "dislocation" actually is expected when the schools open in September, but the problem will not become acute until the following year.

The Meadowbrook road school will open with room for 800 pupils, and as the junior high population grows the school will also expand over the years to 1200 pupils. Only classrooms will have to be added to the building, as plans call for enough gymnasium, auditorium, cafeteria, shop administrative and special purpose space to service 1200 students.

Fence-

In a statement to the aldermen, the Association had termed the picket fence a "death trap to an unsuspecting motorist." It is located at one of the two roads which lead in to the park from Dedham street, and accordingly is heavily traveled.

The Oak Hill Park Association has started a vigorous safety campaign to cut down speeding and to keep children from being injured during construction work at the new block of stores being built on Saw Mill Brook parkway.

The Association has posted a large number of signs throughout the Park asking motorists to "Love thy neighbors' children" and to observe the speed limit of 20 miles an hour.

In a statement issued recently, the Association's safety committee declared, "The speed limits in congested areas like Oak Hill Park is 20 miles an hour, and near the Park's Memorial elementary school it drops to 15 miles per hour."

"It has been noted recently that speeds far exceeding the law have been reached by people living in the Park. Yet these people have children whose lives are in danger all the time. Bad example is catching. Slow down and save a life."

The Association Safety Committee would also like to impress upon parents that serious and even fatal injury can occur in an open, often water-filled trench, on the business end of a steam shovel or beneath the wheels of a 10-ton truck. Keep your children away from the construction area.

"It has been noted with concern that many residents, as well as visitors and retailers, use Spiers, Wiswall, McCarthy and Hanson roads and numerous lesser roadways in the Park as they might use the Minneapolis Speedway.

"Pass the word along to friends, relatives and delivery men who use Park roads to drive slowly and watch out for children."

the valuable property for home development should the Roxbury temple decide not to build after all.

Although the sale of the land had been opposed by the Newton aldermen in a resolution, the MDC decided cost of developing the area for park or recreational purposes would be prohibitive. The aldermen by a 15-3 vote asked the MDC to keep all its property along the parkway as a recreational area.

9 Attend Class For Diabetics At Nutrition Ctr.

"The way to live a long life is to contract a chronic disease and take care of it," said Sir William Osler. Recently nine Newton-Wellesley residents learned that a chronic condition like diabetes need not prevent one from living a long, healthy, happy life.

They attended one of the series of classes conducted by the Newton-Wellesley Diabetic Education Program.

The teaching in the Diabetic Education Program was shared by a public health nurse and a dietitian. Through the showing of films, demonstrations, discussions and question periods, such topics as "Eating for All Occasions", "How to Use Insulin", "Urine Testing", "General Hygiene" and "How to Travel", were explained.

The nine "students" benefited particularly from meeting other people with diabetes and sharing their experiences. The many questions asked and answered in these classes show the value of this kind of educational program. Some of the troublesome questions that the "students" wanted explained further were:

"Is cold cereal good for me, or must I eat oatmeal?" "How can I follow my diet when I am invited out for dinner?"

"Why do people have to take insulin?"

"How can I carry my insulin when I travel? Do I have to keep it refrigerated?"

"I know that I must avoid infections, but is there something special I should do if I cut myself?"

The Newton-Wellesley Diabetic Educational Program Committee is planning fall classes. Questions on the program may be addressed to Newton Nutrition Center, 1900 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls, or call Bigelow 4-4912.

Naval Reserve Transfers Trio

Division 1-5, one of New England's leading Naval Reserve Surface Divisions, holds weekly meetings each Monday evening at First Naval District Headquarters, Boston. As Reservists, the three Newton civilian sailors are entitled to spend two weeks at sea each year with units of the Atlantic Fleet.

Plan to Teach New Girls' Crafts At Playgrounds

Newton's young girls will be making many new things this year at the various playgrounds during the summer it was announced today by C. Evan Johnson, recreation commissioner.

Recreation Department instructors of Girls' Crafts attended a meeting in Nonantum recently to discuss new projects that will be undertaken. Girls crafts supervisors Mrs. Beverly Brekke and Miss Gladys Forbush presided over the gathering which was held at the Hawthorn Building, Watertown street, Newton.

Several outstanding craft speakers were there. Among them were Mrs. Pauline Teshner who exhibited the things made last year. Mrs. Toher demonstrated the "Macaroni belt" and rick rack jewelry. Mrs. Helen Anderson showed gimp lacing and told of its usages, and Miss Forbush demonstrated stenciling.

Featured this year is the felt hat and bag set with sequin trim and the macaroni belt made from plastic straw.

Newton Federation of Women's Clubs have as a project the furnishing of material for use in Newton playgrounds.

The projects are scheduled for display from 9 a.m. to noon and 2-5 p.m.

Camp Vagabond Takes 6 Boys On Tour of Four N.E. States

Camp Vagabond, a new experience in camping being offered this year for the first time by the YMCA, started on Monday of this week. Six boys, all members of the Newton YMCA, and their leader, David B. Potts, Associate Youth Work Secretary at the Y, left on a week's camping trip through northern New England.

Those making the trip are Jack Roy, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Roy of 36 Fairmont avenue, Newton; Desmond and Joseph Reeves, 12 and 13, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Reeves of 279 Cabot street, Newtonville; Chester Taylor, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. Taylor of 199 Hunnewell terrace, Newton; Ralph Edmunds, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edmunds of 57 Elliot street, Watertown; and Gerald Kenney, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Kenney of 34 Westminster avenue, Watertown.

Before beginning the journey, the boys spent three days in camp orientation which included planning the trip, purchasing basic supplies, and practicing campcraft.

The trip is being made by station wagon and many scenic and historic sites will be visited through Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts.

The boys are camping overnight in state parks and are doing all their own cooking. Scene of their first night's stop will be Sebago Lake in Maine, and on following nights campsites will be selected at Rangle Lakes, Me., Mt. Washington and the White Mountains in New Hampshire, and the Green Mountains and Calvin Coolidge State Park in Vermont.

On Saturday, the group will arrive at Camp Frank A. Day, the Y's residence camp in North Brookfield, where they will spend the weekend.

Proceeding from Camp Day on Sunday afternoon, the boys again will camp in the Monadnock region of New Hampshire, visiting the Cathedral of the Pines, Benson's Animal Farm, and other places of interest, before returning to Newton on Monday. The group will have traveled between 800 and 1000 miles.

It is planned that Camp Vagabond, which is sponsored by the Youth Work Committee of the Newton YMCA, will become a permanent part of the summer camping program offered by the Newton YMCA each year.

Post Office to Commemorate Lewis and Clark

A new 3-cent postage stamp to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the Lewis and Clark Expedition will be placed on first sale through the Sioux City, Iowa postoffice on July 28, 1954. It was at Sioux City that Sgt. Charles Floyd, a member of the expedition died and was buried, and at which place a monument has been erected in his memory.

The stamp will be of the large size, arranged horizontally with fifty stamps to a sheet. Color of the stamp will be brown and 115,000,000 have been authorized for printing.

The central design portrays the landing of Lewis and Clark on the banks of the Missouri River preparatory to going into the expedition's winter quarters. The figure of Lewis is in the foreground and Clark directly behind him. Also shown is the Shoshone Indian Girl "Sagagawea," known as the Bird Woman, who accompanied Lewis and Clark on the expedition and rendered great aid in securing the friendship of the Shoshone Indians and in guiding the expedition over the Great Divide. When Sagagawea reached the Great Divide, she was reunited with her people from which she had been kidnapped. It was through her efforts that Lewis and Clark were able to get ponies from the Indians to continue their overland journey. In the background of the stamp may be seen the figure of Charbonneau, a French Canadian trapper and interpreter.

Collectors desiring first-day cancellations should send addressed covers, and money order remittance to cover cost of new stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster, Sioux City, Iowa. Postage stamps and personal checks will not be accepted.

The outside envelope covering first-day covers and addressed to the Postmaster at Sioux City, Iowa should bear the endorsement "FIRST DAY COVERS."

It is expected that this new stamp will be sold at Boston on July 29, or shortly, thereafter.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, Sunday morning service of 10:45, with Sunday School at the same hour. The Wednesday evening testimony meeting will be at 8. The practical value of the spiritual truths contained in the Bible will be brought out at Christian Science services July 25 in the Lesson-Sermon titled "Truth."

Political Overtones

One of the major problems confronting Murphy, however, is that of making himself known to the voters throughout the State, and it is in this direction that he has made little progress in the weeks since his nomination.

Murphy was an extremely competent, workmanlike member of the State Legislature. By nature he is quiet, reserved and not particularly colorful. He advanced to his role as Democratic leader in the House of Representatives by long hours of hard, conscientious work, which included studying bills about which many of his colleagues would know little when it came time to vote on them.

He is a sincere and earnest speaker, but no silver-tongued orator by any means. He was not one to engage in stunts that would have commanded extensive publicity, and up to the time he became a candidate for Governor he had attracted but little attention outside his home city of Malden and in the legislative halls at the State House where both his ability and integrity were widely recognized.

Politicians have generally realized that one handicap under which Murphy would be laboring in his campaign for the Governorship is that he is not nearly as well known as Governor Dever.

It had been anticipated that the Democratic State Convention would be of some help to him in overcoming that problem, since it would allow him a five-month campaign instead of the seven-weeks period between the primary and election.

A month and a half has elapsed, however, since the Democratic conclave, and it is extremely doubtful that Murphy is any better known now than he was the first weekend in June. It also is unlikely that he can make any appreciable headway in that direction before Labor Day so that the convention may not prove the great asset it was expected to be.

This observer gains the impression from listening to Democratic politicians that they are pinning their election hopes for next November to a very substantial extent on the split within the Republican party over Senator McCarthy and on the decline in popularity they believe the Eisenhower administration has suffered.

Time could prove their appraisals correct, but it remains to be seen whether developments of a national nature have made as much of an impact upon the Republican party at a State level in Massachusetts, as some Democrats believe they have.

Democratic politicians also point out that Governor Herter wasn't particularly well known, when he launched his uphill campaign against ex-Governor Dever back in 1952.

That is true to a degree, although Herter unquestionably was considerably better known at the start of his campaign than was Murphy, when he began his drive.

Herter had been representing a Congressional district which included the entire city of Newton, the town of Brookline and about a third of the city of Boston, whereas Murphy was elected from a section of Malden.

At this time two years ago, an extensive buildup campaign for Herter also was in progress, and he had covered much of the State, making himself known to the voters whose support he was seeking.

It may seem strange that a candidate for the Governorship has to devote so much time to making himself known to the people, but right now that's one of the most important problems facing Representative Murphy.

Because of this it's possible that he might be better off if he has a contest in the September primary than if he gets an unopposed nomination. That would help to focus attention on him.

One of the favorable developments for Murphy is that he apparently is to get substantial help from Senator John F. Kennedy who now stands as the top Democratic office-holder in Massachusetts.

Kennedy can be a very important figure in the coming campaign, but it remains to be seen how many of Murphy's campaign backers he will insist be dropped before he extends his support. That may arouse some feeling. Kennedy is not on friendly terms with some of the persons who backed Murphy at the Democratic convention and went down the line for him.

Sen. Kefauver Fights for Renomination

Senator Estes Kefauver, who is regarded as a potential contender for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1956, now is considered to be confronted with a real fight in his campaign for renomination for the U. S. Senate in his home State of Tennessee.

Congressman Pat Sutton has made so much headway in his race against Kefauver that political observers now believe there is a possibility he may score a terrific upset in the Tennessee primary to be held Aug. 6.

Kefauver is still favored to win renomination, but the political seers consider Sutton has at least an outside chance of winning, where a month ago he appeared to have no chance at all.

A number of wealthy Tennessee businessmen have grouped together to finance Sutton's fight against Kefauver and have made it possible for him to tour the Volunteer State by helicopter and to put on an expensive television campaign.

One of the issues on which Sutton is seeking votes is the promise that he will sponsor a constitutional amendment to nullify the Supreme Court decision banning racial discrimination in public schools.

Republican leaders had hoped to draft Ray H. Jenkins, counsel in the McCarthy-Pentagon hearings, as a GOP candidate for the Senate in Tennessee, but Jenkins declined to run, and Kefauver will be virtually assured of reelection, if he beats back the challenge by Sutton.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

For the past 27 years teachers and pupils have been using fire escapes to enter and leave the Bassett Junior High School in New Haven, Conn. The school was built in 1927, but it was never completed. The work left undone included the installation of doors. Funds have now been provided to finish the work, and doors finally are to be constructed so that it may be possible to go into and out of the school in a more orthodox manner. It is not difficult to picture the outcry that would go up, if any such condition existed in a Massachusetts city or town.

We're still pondering over a despatch from Cincinnati which declares that a court complaint against John Burrell was dismissed after Patrolman Herschell Hall told the court: "He was just driving too carefully. He was so careful I figured he must have done something wrong so I stopped him."

A labor union has arranged to lend $250,000 to a hat manufacturing concern which has factories in Massachusetts and New York so that it may continue operations. The loan is being made in order to preserve the jobs of 1500 workers. As part of the unusual agreement, each employee will personally make a $200 loan, even if he has to go out and borrow the money from a bank.

Albert Simmons was granted a divorce in London after he testified that when he arrived home at 1:30 in the morning after a Masonic dinner, his wife hit him with 18 freshly laid eggs. It wasn't the principle of the thing that most bothers Albert but the loss of the eggs.

The Santa Fe Railway is experimenting with double-deck railroad cars in which the upper deck is devoted entirely to chairs for passengers and the lower deck to baggage store space, rest rooms and service equipment.

One of the issues which will confront Michigan voters in next November's election is whether they should legalize bingo. A total of 326,000 signatures were obtained to place the question on the ballot.

Back in the early 1920's thousands of Canadian Mennonites left Ontario in a self-imposed exile because of a law which required them to send their children to school. A number who went to Chihuahua in Mexico returned last week because of a 10-year drought which parched their crops and threatened them with starvation.

Fire Brigade Captain Franz Fazeny of Steyr, Austria, was convicted of arson after it was found that he had started three fires in nearby Allhaming because his girl friend lived there and the conflagrations gave him an excuse to see her more often.

After a 10-mile chase in Independence, Mo., during which seven patrolman cars pursued him and shots were fired at him, Charles D. Scott, 18, explained: "My foot got wedged on the accelerator." That would have been a good time to turn off the ignition key.

Ronald Fuller of New Orleans was exposed as a bogus physician when, after examining a one-year-old baby with the measles, he told the child's parents, "You had better see a doctor."

After permitting his younger brother to run him down with an automobile, Paul Barnes, 34, told police: "What could I do, show him I was yellow?"

Mrs. Dorothy Halfhill of McKeesport, Pa., asked a judge please to put her husband in jail for six months, explaining: "I love him, but he thinks he loves this other woman. If he's put away for a while, it will keep our home together."

See Books Winning Battle Against TV

Recovering from an early setback at the hands of television, books are now more than holding their own against the hypnotic lure of the flickering "home theater," according to Newton Librarian Harold O. Wooster.

Figures for the first half of this year show a 7.8 per cent jump over last year's book circulation throughout the city, Mr. Wooster pointed out in his annual mid-year report on library activities. This suggests, he said, that interest in television may be lessening. Another reason may be a tightening economy, with readers borrowing books instead of buying them.

Newton residents borrowed a total of 436,868 volumes from January 1 through June 30. This is almost 35,000 ahead of the circulation figures for last year. An encouraging feature of these figures for those who believe television would make reading obsolete for youngsters is that juvenile book circulation jumped 20,726 over last year to date.

To make the library's 268,000 books easier to find, an extensive "inventory-revision program" is under way by the library staff. Outdated, unpopular books will be removed from circulation, and many of them will be replaced by more modern volumes.

"Our current inventory-revision program is designed," reported Mr. Wooster, "to bring the city's book collection in line with modern reading habits in fiction and non-fiction. We also plan to pull out of circulation any books dealing with technical information which are found to be outmoded. Progress brings with it new levels of knowledge, and what was considered authoritative a few years ago may now be recognized as partially or wholly incorrect."

Every tomorrow has two handles. We can take hold of it with the handle of anxiety or the handle of faith.

30 Weeks Play'd Children Shown Nature's Secrets

Children playing at the Weeks Playground and their parents visited the Hammond Pond parkway woods recently to study firsthand the secrets of nature.

The group was separated into six patrols of five children each accompanied by an adult leader. Trails were marked out and followed by each group. Parents and instructors explained the various types of birds, flowers and trees and other natural life to the wonderment of the children.

A casual picnic lunch was served to all followed by group songs. Next the children visited Crystal Lake for their regular "Learn To Swim" classes and returned to their homes to close a very interesting and happy day.

The adult leadership consisted of Mrs. Beatrice Connell, director of the Weeks Playground; Miss Elizabeth Lane, assistant leader; and parent leaders Mrs. T. Foley, Mrs. C. Snider, Mrs. E. Lewis, Mrs. M. Cohen, Mrs. W. Permeth and Mrs. A. Broder.

MRS. JAMES BYRON SNOW, JR.

Miss Sallie Lee Ricker, NHS Teacher, Weds James Snow, Jr.

A marriage of interest to the faculty and students of Newton High School took place last Friday evening, when Miss Sallie Lee Ricker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ricker of 1718 East 30th street, Tulsa, Oklahoma, became the bride of Mr. James Byron Snow, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. James Byron Snow of 3019 North Lee avenue, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

The bride has been a biology teacher at Newton High School for the past school year and will return to resume her teaching when school opens this September. The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Joseph Young of St. John's Episcopal Church of Norman, Okla., following which a reception was held in the beautifully decorated garden of the bride's parents.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white illusion over white silk taffeta trimmed with imported embroidered flowers with a cathedral train. Her headpiece was fashioned of Belgium lace, a gift of the groom, from which hung a fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a Belgium lace fan, also a gift of the groom, and carried a white orchid surrounded by white roses and other small white flowers.

Miss Rhonda Gillespie of Tulsa, Okla., served as maid of honor and was gowned in a ballerina length white pique princess style dress trimmed in sky blue polished cotton overlaid with cotton lace. "BIG DIPPER" CHRISTENED—The Navy's latest and newest weapon the WV-2 AEW Constellation was christened yesterday at the Naval Air Station in South Weymouth by Mrs. Robert H. Wood, wife of the commanding officer of the Naval Air Defense Unit. The flying electronics laboratory is the Navy's latest answer to AEW (Airborne Early Warning). It can direct fighter planes from fleet carriers when it electronically spots danger in front of the fleet and can "see" over thousands of square miles of ocean, affording protection never before possible. It carries six tons of radars and other electronics, has a crew of 32 men and can remain aloft on unusually long missions and operates at an altitude of 5 miles. The WV-2 is the most easily recognizable Constellation in the sky because of its unusual radome which prompted its christening title "Big Dipper." It is valued at more than six million dollars. The publisher, Richard W. Davis, was invited by Commander Wood to take an indoctrination flight aboard the Constellation prior to the christening ceremonies. (U. S. Navy Photo)

Holtz Meets Voters in Drive For Congress

Newton homes by the score were open this last week to Jackson J. Holtz, candidate for Congress from the 10th District, as he spread his campaign to reach the "grass roots" in his area. The district takes in Brookline, Newton and seven Boston wards.

"There is nothing so constructive and so important as being able to face group after group of the voters at informal parties and to answer questions about one's philosophy," declared Holtz.

Hostesses at the "home parties"—one of the new methods of electioneering that has become popular—found Holtz willing and able to answer national as well as local political problems dealing with the functions and duties of a Congressman.

"The idea that a Congressman should remain aloof from his district and be seen there only at election times," declared Holtz, "is one that is dangerous. Closeness to one's constituency enables a Congressman to represent the people properly - to reflect their thoughts more adequately without Washingtonitis."

"Washingtonitis is a disease that affects politicians in that city - it makes them blind and unable to see that there are over 250,000 persons of the 10th Congressional District with ideas and thoughts that should be given representation," Holtz said.

"Nothing clears Washingtonitis from the mind as much as coming down to the level of the people and learning that the public - The great mass of people - are right in the long run."

"Lincoln found this to be true - Roosevelt found it to be true - Truman certainly had the common touch - and a Congressman should learn that these great men learned the right thing long ago and follow the example."

"Be with the people by being with the people in person," is a motto that I shall follow," Holtz said.

Donald B. Falvey Out of Governor Councillor Race

Donald B. Falvey, Jr., of Belmont has announced his withdrawal from the Governor's Council race from the 33rd Councillor District in favor of Endicott "Chub" Peabody of Cambridge.

In his statement accompanying his withdrawal Falvey said, "I strongly urge all those people who have supported me for the Governor's Council, particularly those in Brighton, Allston, Watertown, Waltham and Lowell, devote all their time and energy to elect Endicott 'Chub' Peabody."

Peabody is the former all-American football great and Boston attorney who has previously announced his candidacy for the Council from the 3rd Councillor District.

Continuing his statement Falvey said, "Chub Peabody is the kind of man we need on the Council. I know that he will perform the duties of Councillor in an excellent fashion." Falvey concluded by saying, "Peabody is the kind of Democrat that will win the election for us."

At the same time as he announced his withdrawal from the Councillor race, Falvey stated that he will file papers for the House of Representatives from the 23rd Middlesex District. The 23rd District is made up of Belmont and Precincts 3 and 9 in Watertown.

Peabody and Falvey are both Democrats and were both delegates to the recent Democratic pre-primary convention in Worcester.

MTA Deficit Down $681,418 For First 6 Months of 1954

Reduction of $681,418.59 in the first six months of this year of the deficit after fixed charges of the MTA was reported by the Board of Trustees today, when they made public the road's financial statement for June, and the first half of 1954.

The statement shows that for the first six months this year, the MTA had a deficit, after all charges, of $3,900,707.90, as compared to a deficit of $4,582,126.49 in the first half of 1953.

Results of operations in June, the statement discloses, resulted in the MTA operating $135,909.63 in the "black" after costs of operations and taxes.

In addition, the statement shows that, even after fixed charges, the MTA was $454,592.51 better off for the month of June this year than it was in the same month of 1953. The April fare increase helped the results for June operations to the extent of producing $217,716.15 more revenue than the road received in June of last year. Operating expenses in June of this year were $270,277.87 lower than those of June 1953.

"The Trustees are pleased to report that even after including the cost for fixed charges, the MTA is nearly $700,000 better off at the end of the first six months of this year, than it was at the end of the first half of 1953," read a statement accompanying the detailed financial report. "The results for the first six months, therefore, reduce by $681,418.59 the total deficit of the road, as compared with the deficit in the same period of last year."

"While it should be pointed out that in July and August, with the absence of school and college riders, and the fact that thousands of regular riders are away on vacation, the results will probably produce 'red' figures, the Trustees are confident the final results for the entire year of 1954 will produce an even more encouraging picture for the taxpayers—the owners of the system—than those we now report for the first half of this year."

Curtis Reports U.S., England Closer after Churchill Trip

There have been big doings in the House these days. The foreign aid bill came up for debate at the same time when Prime Minister Winston Churchill was visiting this country; and that was followed by the debate on agricultural price supports.

There were some interesting sidelights to Mr. Churchill's visit, and a certain amount of inside information which was available to a Member of Congress. I had a talk with one of the members of our Foreign Affairs Committee shortly after he had been to a meeting at the White House with Mr. Churchill.

He reported that Mr. Churchill was mentally vigorous and alert, and had the old fire. He also reported that the Foreign Affairs Committee was disturbed about Mr. Anthony Eden's suggestion in his speech in the House of Commons shortly before he left England in which he mentioned the possibility of a Locarno type of agreement for the Far East. This meant some sort of non-aggression pact. In fact, several leading members of that committee at once sent a letter to the President opposing that idea.

This same opposition was also expressed through an amendment offered by that committee to the foreign aid bill which was then before the House. It was a curious fact that debate on the foreign aid bill coincided with Mr. Churchill's visit, and that made it possible for the Foreign Affairs Committee to "get into the act" more than it would have otherwise. This amendment prohibited the use of funds in aid of countries in the Far East which had joined in agreements which guaranteed the fruits of Communist aggression, and was passed by a unanimous vote.

President Eisenhower made a strong statement on the same subject at his news conference, and authorized a direct quotation saying: "I will not be a party to any treaty that makes anybody a slave." This statement was in line with the official British-American statement at the end of the conference: "As regards former sovereign states now in bondage, we will not be a party to any arrangement or treaty which would confirm or prolong their unwilling subordination." This was a clear indication that the British representatives had receded from the idea of a Locarno type agreement.

On the whole, the conference seems to have resulted in some reconciliation of the views of the two countries concerned and a drawing of them together. Progress was made towards agreement for a united front in the Far East along the lines of the North Atlantic Treaty organization, which Mr. Dulles had been advocating; and there has been less talk of active military intervention to hold the line in Indochina.

The foreign aid bill passed with a comfortable majority. Large appropriations were authorized and will now have to be further passed upon by the appropriations committees. There is less emphasis on economic aid, especially for countries whose conditions have improved, but military aid continues in large amounts. The measure had strong bipartisan support, and it was notable that in the final debate the last two speeches were made first by former Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas, the Democratic leader, and then by Speaker Joe Martin. He took the floor himself, which is a rare occurrence.

Several matters are pending in the House which are of especial interest to Greater Boston. An appropriation is being sought for the repair of the Army Base pier. Part of this pier is rented for commercial use, and is of great importance to the Port of Boston. Governor Horton journeyed to Washington last week to appear before the Appropriations Committee in support of this measure.

The whole Massachusetts delegation has joined forces to try to secure the allocation of more work at the Boston Naval Shipyard where extensive layoffs are threatened due to lack of work. Conferences are being held with the Navy Department, and every possible effort is being made to find a solution.

One argument which appeals to me is that the federal government should, in the distribution of work and various benefits, look at the whole picture. It should realize that Massachusetts is a high federal tax paying state, and yet does not benefit from the vast irrigation, reclamation and power projects which benefit other areas, and areas frequently in common.

petition with our own. It seems only fair that in recognition of this situation the federal government should allocate more generously to our region the type of projects which are needed and suitable here.

There is an unaccustomed quiet on the McCarthy front, although letters to Congressmen are urging that measures be taken to improve congressional investigating procedures. The Senate Committee on Rules has been conducting hearings on that subject. Many bills on the subject also have been filed, and Congressmen are watching the Senate hearings carefully with an eye to joining in those suggestions which appear best.

The House was closely divided on the question of rigid farm price supports, largely on the basis of urban areas as against agricultural areas. The first test came on a suggestion that peanuts should be removed from the list of basic commodities receiving price supports. This measure was strongly supported by representatives of the candy industry, which is an important industry in Greater Boston. I spoke briefly in support of this measure, but it did not have the votes to carry.

Many of the New York Democrats sided with the agricultural point of view on this and on other parts of the bill, which is somewhat hard to understand. Perhaps they will have something to explain to their constituents during the fall campaign! It is hard to see how consumers can be enthusiastic over a program which taxes them in order to enable the government to accumulate surpluses through the payment of high support prices and thus keep up the price of the very foods which those consumers must buy.

Before starting out on a long vacation trip take your car to a reliable station and have it thoroughly checked, suggests Robert S. Kretschmer, secretary of the Massachusetts Division of the American Automobile Association. Be sure the electrical system, cooling system, brakes and tires are all in good condition. Vacation driving is fun if your car behaves.

What Shall We Eat... For A Cooling Dessert

A light cooling dessert is the answer when you're looking for something "just right" to top off hot weather meals. It may mean simply a bowl of luscious sliced peaches, slices of chilled melon, or dishes of smooth ice cream.

When company's coming and you want to be a little fancier, it still means avoiding the oven. This rules out pies and cakes, and rules in refrigerator cakes, Spanish or Bavarian Creams, and frozen fruit desserts.

Milk, orange juice and eggs add plus value in both flavor and nutrition to delicate ORANGE REFRIGERATOR CAKE. To dress it up for a party garnish with sliced nuts.

ORANGE REFRIGERATOR CAKE
1 cup milk
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 tablespoon butter
Juice of 1 orange
Lady fingers
Separate eggs. Scald milk. Beat egg yolks with fork, add sugar, cornstarch and butter. Add to hot milk and cook until thickened. Add orange juice. Remove from stove. Cool slightly, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Line ice cube tray with lady fingers. Arrange layers of custard and lady fingers. Chill overnight. Serve with whipped cream. Sprinkle with pecans or toasted almonds. Makes 6 or 8 servings.

JOHN J. DEVLIN

Name NC Man Lieut.-Colonel At Japan Post

A Newton Centre major who was in charge of recording the historic Korean truce talks at Panmunjom last year has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel at his new duty post in Japan.

Lt. Col. John J. Devlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Devlin of 309 Langley road, Newton Centre, is currently serving with the Sixteenth Corps, U. S. Army, in Japan.

He was chosen last year for the peace talk post from a list representing all the officers in the Far East command. He was placed in charge of the historical division of the United Nations Commission living in a "tent city" at Munsan-ni, which was in a neutral zone near Freedom Village and the site of the truce negotiations.

This assignment ended last August, when he was transferred to Japan. His wife, Nancy, and their two children, John Jr. and Teresa, joined him in Japan at the end of August from their home in Santa Barbara, Calif.

Before going overseas, Lt. Col. Devlin earned a citation from the First Army for his work as Civil Defense Officer with the state of New York. Lt. Col. Devlin is the brother of Second Lt. Norman E. Devlin, public information officer with the famous Civil Air Patrol "Minute Man Squadron" at Hanscom Air Force Base in Bedford.

Harry S. Barton, Atlantic division representative of American Can Company, will be the guest speaker at the weekly meeting of the Newton Rotary Club, Brae Burn Country Club, Monday, and the Kiwanis Club's meeting Wednesday at the Commonwealth Country Club.

Mr. Barton has had a long and varied business career, including the development, manufacture and merchandising of industrial products. He also was prominent for many years in the commercial and industrial real estate business on the West Coast. During World War II, Mr. Barton served as the Navy member of the Engineering Board of Review of the Controlled Materials Plan.

He is a past deputy governor of the Toastmasters International and has just completed an extended speaking tour of the Pacific Coast states.

In his talk on the responsibilities of today's citizens to their local communities and to the American way of life, Mr. Barton will emphasize the importance of the teamwork between agriculture and the canning and can-making industries that has created a multi-million-dollar income for the people of this state.

Rep. Murphy Faces Potent Primary Vote-Getter in Kelly; Decisive Victory Would Bolster Him for Fall Election . . .

Representative Robert F. Murphy of Malden will now be forced to fight for the gubernatorial nomination which the Democratic State Convention conferred upon him at Worcester early last month, and he will be facing an opponent in former Attorney General Francis E. Kelly who has been a regular commuter back and forth across the Commonwealth in every State primary for the past 18 years.

The forthcoming battle for the right to run against Governor Christian A. Herter should prove a highly unusual and extremely interesting one, but if Murphy is able to survive it and win by an impressive margin, it could place him in a stronger position for the November election.

Kelly is a potent vote-getter in a Democratic primary, as numerous candidates have discovered upon challenging him. He is a rugged, two-fisted campaigner, has a large personal following, and in some sections of Massachusetts he is probably better known than Murphy.

Murphy will have the backing of most of the Democratic organization, such as it is, but it remains to be seen how many prominent party leaders will plunge into the primary campaign to help him in meeting Kelly's challenge and assist in giving him the decisive victory he needs to bolster him for the showdown run against Governor Herter.

Mosquito Nuisance May Be Own Fault

Bothered by mosquitos this year? If so, the sneaker you wear may be your own — to paraphrase a familiar safety slogan.

Local swamp areas, both in and around Newton, cannot be blamed for the pesky mosquito's appearance. The East Middlesex Mosquito Control Project has seen to it that none of the insects can breed in swamps or damps in Arlington, Brookline, Belmont, Cambridge, Framingham, Lexington, Newton, Waltham, Watertown, Wellesley or Weston.

Should mosquitos be bothering you, says Project Superintendent Robert L. Armstrong, they may be breeding in your own backyard junk or other spots inaccessible to anti-mosquito workers. Ideal breeding places are half-filled cans of water or any depression in the ground that allows stagnant water to gather.

Another first-class offender against the project's efforts have been boats on the Charles River. Some of the boats, neglected for weeks on end, have provided breeding spots for thousands of the annoying mosquitos. Other offenders are old tires, refrigerators, washing machines, barrels — just about anything that will hold water.

Swamps are no longer breeding mosquitos, according to Mr. Armstrong. A long-term drainage and filling-in program by the project has virtually eliminated Purgatory Swamp on the Auburndale-Waltham line as a breeding paradise.

In past years, persons living in that area who dared to sit outside on warm summer nights were in danger of being eaten alive by the voracious mosquitos. Now, thanks to the project's ambitious program, they stand better than a fighting chance to enjoy an evening under the stars.

The project has backed up its swamp-clearing program with "fogging" from helicopter and individual spraying of 14,000 sewer catch basins in the 11 cities and towns.

However, the East Middlesex Mosquito Control Project cannot completely eradicate the pesky mosquito unless residents give their whole-hearted support to cleaning up all possible breeding places.

Reiss Associates President Explains Plastic Operation

By ERNEST REISS, PRESIDENT

There has been much discussion in several newspaper articles published recently regarding a fire and explosion hazard which supposedly exists at the Reiss Associates plant at 49 Elmwood street, Newton.

I am sure that many of the neighbors of this plant have been unduly alarmed by these reports. As president of Reiss Associates and one fully familiar with all operations, I should like to state without reservations that not only is there no unusual fire hazard at Reiss Associates but also that there never has been during all of the time of our occupancy.

As in most cases of this sort fear is usually engendered by ignorance — of the facts. These are the facts:

As part of its process of manufacturing Reiss Associates treats paper with resin. Five treaters are in use at present. One of these treaters out of the five — and one only — uses a material about which all this hue and cry has arisen. This material is known to the trade as phenolic resin. In some industries it is called varnish.

The material consists of from 60 to 75 percent phenolic resin — which itself will not burn, but in order for us to use it is mixed with alcohol and water so that it forms a syrupy liquid through which our paper can pass so that the paper becomes impregnated with this material. It is the alcohol and only the alcohol in the phenolic resin which will burn.

In the present water soluble resin we are now using there is a small amount of alcohol. If you filled a dish with this water soluble resin and dropped a match on it the match would go out, and you would have to heat the material up considerably in order for it to catch fire. Because of the nature of our particular type of work, we actually refrigerate the material to bring the temperature down lower instead of higher.

This material has approximately the same "flash point" as the fuel oil you use in your homes. In your own furnaces you actually ignite the material, and I am sure none of you consider the burning of fuel oil in your furnace and the storage of fuel oil in a tank in your cellar or underground as an unusual hazard. In our plant we do not set fire to the water soluble resin, we merely pass paper through it and then blow tremendous quantities of steam heated air over the paper to dry it.

Technically speaking, the flash point of the water soluble resin that we use is 117° Fahrenheit. This is the heat at which the vapor will ignite on the surface if a match is applied to it. The flash point for gasoline and any gasoline station and in the tanks of your own cars is minus 40° Fahrenheit.

Unfortunately, the word "plastic" is used to designate the industry as a whole, whereas there are thousands of types of plastic. One plastic is not at all like another. Sometimes you hear of explosions in plastic plants and substantial fires. There is as much difference in the types of plastics on the market today as there are in foods. As far as we have been able to ascertain from inquiry

NEWTON MAILS FIRST INSTALLMENT OF REAL ESTATE TAX STATEMENTS

City Sending Bills 6 Weeks In Advance of '53 Schedule

Newton taxpayers whose last names begin with A, B, E and I received their real estate tax bills this week, nearly six weeks ahead of last year's schedule, according to City Treasurer and Collector Archie R. Whitman.

Mr. Whitman, whose office mails out the bills after they have been made out by the assessors, pointed out that all bills are payable as soon as they are received. Prompt payment will save the city money, he said, since then there will be enough money on hand to pay the "running expenses" of the municipal government.

When funds are slow coming into the city treasury, Newton has to borrow funds in anticipation of taxes to meet monthly payrolls and other regular obligations. To date this year, Newton has sought short-term loans amounting to $3,000,000. Last year an additional $1,000,000 was borrowed, and in 1952 the city borrowed a total of $5,000,000.

Residents paying their real estate tax bill late, Mr. Whitman warned, may find a penalty added to the payment. Interest, figured at 4 per cent, will be charged on bills unpaid as of November 1, with interest starting on October 1.

The early mailing this year was made possible when the Board of Assessors established the tax rate of $44.50 far ahead of last year, when the rate was 50 cents lower.

Poll taxes were mailed earlier in the year. Mr. Whitman reported that most of the 22,000 bills have already been paid.

Taxpayers whose last names begin with A were the first to feel the effects of the 50-cent rise in the tax rate. Their bills — for the most part — were delivered in Monday's mail. Those whose names start with E or I received their bills Tuesday, and those with B names found the bills in yesterday's (Wednesday's) mail.

The E and I bills were sent out before the C and D bills since there are fewer names in the former bracket. All bills are expected to be in the hands of taxpayers in the next two or three weeks, Mr. Whitman continued.

The first taxpayer to return his bill was Pasquale Antonellis, who conducts a market and resides at 177 Adams street, Newton. He came to City Hall in the middle of Monday afternoon and promptly settled his account with the city.

Breaking of Glass Causes 4 Arrests

The arrest Thursday night of a State Prison parolee and three companions by Newton police has resulted in the solving of at least four crimes in other communities.

The four were picked up in a car in Auburndale on a tip by an alert citizen who had heard glass breaking at a Waban gas station and had described a car at the scene to officers.

Newton police blamed three of the men as being involved in the attempted break at Jones Esso Station, 1742 Commonwealth avenue. All four were charged with being in the possession of burglar tools and having firearms in their possession.

In Newton District Court Monday, Judge Frederic A. Crafts continued the cases of John L. Murray, 28, of 61 Dartmouth street, Boston; Albert P. Boly, 21, of 1 Madison place, Boston; and Bernard DePina, 25, of 11 Dartmouth street, Boston, until September 28.

DePina pleaded guilty to the firearms charge, but denied the breaking and entering and burglar tool complaints. Bail was set at $5,000. The other two entered innocent pleas to the three charges and were held in $5,000 bail.

The fourth man, Ernani Bortone, 42, of 1766 Commonwealth avenue, Auburndale, on parole from State Prison, requested a hearing on the charges against him. He argued that he would "waste" two months of his current State Prison term if he had to wait until September for trial.

Bortone denied knowing the guns and tools were in the car driven by DePina, claiming he had only asked for a ride. He said DePina first admitted owning the guns and then changed his story several times, trying to "unload the guns on everyone else but himself. Whatever was found in the car," he protested from the prisoner's bench, "I know nothing about."

When Newton Police Lieut. George W. O'Neil questioned him about breaks outside of Newton, Bortone protested, "I don't know why he asked me that, unless he's trying to prove me a bad boy."

Judge Crafts, with a wry smile, replied, "You have been a bad boy."

"I have been," said Bortone, "but I have made an honest effort to go straight."

The judge then found "no probable cause" for involving the defendant in the unsuccessful break — which police say was admitted by Murray — but found probable cause on the other two charges. Bail was set at $2500 on the possession of tools and a like figure for possession of firearms.

Following questioning after their arrest, Murray, DePina and Bortone admitted a $425 liquor store holdup in Norton, according to State Police Lieut. John N. Sullivan. Police say Murray and DePina admitted the holdup of a lawyer in Mashpee last month. DePina is also accused of the holdup of a Brighton antique dealer in his apartment recently, and a burglary in Sudbury.

Set Hearing On 6 Voting Site Shifts

A hearing has been scheduled by the aldermen for 9 p.m. Monday night at Newton City Hall on six proposed changes of voting precincts estimated by City Clerk Monte J. Basbas to save the city $342 in rentals at each primary or election.

The new sites, Mr. Basbas explained, are more centrally located for voters. The savings will be accomplished by eliminating rents at the Newton Centre Woman's Club and at an auto sales showroom at 863 Washington street, Newtonville.

If these changes are approved, the only non-city-owned building still used for voting will be the Church of the Redeemer, Chestnut Hill. The rental for the church is $100 an election.

Mr. Basbas proposes transferring Ward 2, Precinct 1, from the auto showroom to the Carr School, 225 Nevada street, Newtonville, and Ward 2, Precinct 5, from the showroom to the Newtonville Branch Library at 345 Walnut street.

Ward 6, Precinct 2, would be transferred from the Woman's Club to the Weeks Junior High School, 7 Hereward road, Newton Centre. Ward 6, Precinct 4, would go from the club to City Hall, 1000 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, and Ward 6, Precinct 5, to the Mason School, 1243 Centre street, Newton Centre.

The sixth changed proposed by Mr. Basbas is the transferring of Ward 4, Precinct 3, from the Auburndale Branch Library to the new Williams School, 141 Grove street, Auburndale.

Waban Man Chief Of Residential Div.

Edward A. Green of Waban will be chairman of the residential division in the 1955 Red Feather, campaign to be held this fall, according to an announcement made this week by Benjamin Shattuck, Newton campaign chairman.

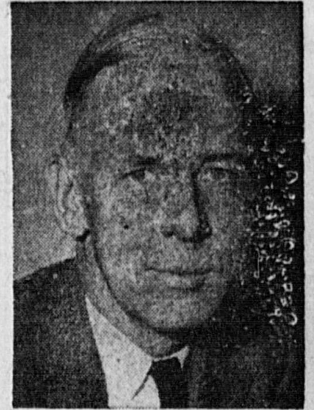

Mr. Green is a vice-president of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company and has been an active worker in the Newton campaign for many years. He has served as village chairman, major, captain and worker in Waban.

The residential division is by far the largest in the campaign with approximately 20,000 prospects to be called on. Each of the 12 villages has its own organization and the division enrolls each year approximately 1800 workers.

Working with Mr. Green as assistant chairmen are Morton S. Grossman of Chestnut Hill whose responsibility is Chestnut Hill, Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, and Oak Hill; Philip Segal of Newton who has charge of Newton, Newtonville, Nonantum and West Newton, and Frederic D. Tower of Auburndale who assists with Auburndale, Lower Falls, Upper Falls and Waban. Each of the assistant chairmen have assisted Mr. Green in the enrollment of village chairmen and they will be closely identified with the enrollment program. At campaign time they will give leadership in the program for the raising of the funds.

Village chairmen who have been appointed for the 1955 campaign are: for Auburndale, Edward Murray; for Chestnut Hill, Marvin N. Geller; for Newton, John W. Gurry; for Newton Centre, Leslie A. Pike; for Newton Highlands, Philip J. Baird, Jr.; for Newton Lower Falls, Robert J. Henley; for Newtonville, William R. Farrell; for Nonantum, John W. Blakeney; for Oak Hill, Harvey White; for Waban, Dr. Frank L. Springer, and for West Newton, Stephen B. Wellington. All of these chairmen were either assistant chairmen, majors or captains in last fall's campaign, with the exception of Harvey White who was named village chairman for the 1953 campaign but had to resign because of a change in business location. Mr. White is back in this area again and is taking up where he left off.

midst of a campaign to enroll assistant chairmen and majors. Two villages, Oak Hill and Waban, have completed their enrollment and are now starting to line up their captains. Many of the other villages have only one or two more majors to get. The residential division expects to have its usual strong team in the field by the time the campaign is under way and is making splendid progress in this direction.

Says Water At Crystal Lake Pure

Swimming water at Crystal Lake is laboratory tested by the Newton Health Department to determine whether or not it is safe for swimmers.

A new test, the "Membrane Filter Test" approved by the American Public Health Association, is used to determine bacteria content. Newton's Chief Sanitation Inspector Harlan W. Kingsbury explains the process: "The water to be tested is filtered through a special paper membrane which catches the bacteria. The membrane is then placed on a piece of bacteria food. The bacteria in turn sop up the food and then grow large enough to be counted."

The water test previously used required 72 hours to find out bacteria content. This new process takes 16 hours which means that if there is contamination it can be detected much sooner.

and search of the records, there has never been a fire in the high-pressure laminated industry of which we are a member.

Of course, to assume that our plant would never have a fire is quite ridiculous. We are subject to the same hazards as any other normal industry. Someone might drop a match in a waste basket, or someone might set fire to a can of cleaning fluid, or we might catch fire from an adjoining structure. These hazards are exactly the same as they are in any normal plant and in any normal household.

In order to take care of the normal hazards of any business, we have recently installed the very latest fire extinguishing sprinkler system, and we have equipped the plant with numerous fire extinguishers as well as having a regular safety drill and daily inspection of the premises. We employ a safety engineer to check not only fire hazards, but unsafe working conditions for our own employees.

Several years before moving into Newton we occupied premises in the heart of Kenmore Square in Boston, during which time we operated our plant with permits for storage of resins of a Class A type, both in drums and in an underground tank. No one at that time ever thought that there was any danger in our plant, nor do the insurance inspectors or the State Health Department find anything hazardous in our operation. Our own office sits right on top of the plant and I can assure my good neighbors that no money in the world would induce me to sit on top of a dangerous operation.

People of the Elmwood street area are entitled to know whether or not this is a safe operation and we welcome their visit at any time that they care to visit. This invitation was extended before and is extended again.

We should like to erase once and for all the false and erroneous impression that we are or ever were a fire hazard.

It is interesting to note in connection with the flash point of our water soluble resin, which is 117°, that the following familiar household items all have lower flash points. Brandy, Scotch and Rye 82 to 84°; cleaning fluids 80°; kerosene 100°; lacquer 80°; liquid metal and stove polish 80°; paint and grease eradicators 0 to 80°; paint 0 to 80°; turpentine 95°; varnish 80°; camphor oil 117°.

"Swimming water at Crystal Lake has always been of the highest quality," continued Inspector Kingsbury. "It is almost impossible to tell the difference between Crystal Lake water and drinking water when examined side by side. The swimming water is truly crystal clear."

Need to Banish Fear, Have Faith in U.S., 2 Clubs Hear

America's most pressing needs are for a great faith in our way of life and for a banishment of fear about the future of the nation's economy, Harry S. Barton, Atlantic Division representative of the American Can Company, told the Newton Rotary Club at its Monday meeting in the Brae Burn Country Club.

Wednesday afternoon, speaking at the Kiwanis Club's weekly meeting at the Commonwealth Country Club, Mr. Barton declared that this nation is engaged in the greatest battle of ideologies in the world's history.

He said that the battleground of Democracy versus Communism is worldwide. The future of every person in this country depends on the outcome of the struggle, but the average individual can most profitably "wage his share in the fight for the American way of life on the few square miles on which he lives and works," the speaker stated.

"Your fears," he continued, "are shared by millions of men and women throughout the world—in China, in Southeast Asia, in Central Europe, in India, wherever people live. Only a few of us, however, can make our voices heard or our actions felt on the distant fronts. Our first responsibilities are in our home communities, in our states, here in America."

Mr. Barton urged every man and woman to banish fear for the future and to sell Americanism by deeds rather than words. "The work of businessmen's service clubs, such as Kiwanis, here in Massachusetts provides a fine example of fearless campaigning through action," he said. "These clubs' hundreds of projects for the enlightenment of youth, community betterment and greater appreciation of the many benefits of Americanism stand as a beacon light to all people throughout our country."

"Americanism isn't just in Washington or our state capitals," he said. "Our future depends on what you do — on what happens — in your community."

He told the Rotarians that fear "stifles the very thing which makes America great — creative thinking." This nation's mastery of mass production techniques and cooperative teamwork among the various segments of our economy, he declared, are "the secrets behind our miracles of production, which have brought us the highest standard of living in the world."

Mr. Barton said, "A fine example of teamwork in action exists in America's great food canning and related industries. The canning industry, which comprises some 3500 plants and produces well over $3,000,000,000 worth of canned products a year, could never have reached its present high levels without close cooperation."

No one can predict exactly what the future holds, but there are many guideposts that lead to an optimistic view, he continued. "For example, approximately 4,000,000 babies a year are now being born, people are living longer, marrying younger and bringing up larger families," he said. "By 1975 the U. S. population may well exceed 200,000,000. The growth in population alone will create enormous new demands for homes, goods and services of all kinds."

Some sources predict that the value of goods and services produced in the U. S., will increase from the $370,000,000,000 level of last year to as much as $700,000,000,000 in 1975, he added.

In addition to expanded business that can be expected as a result of population growth, new ideas and products are sure to provide whole new industries and employment for countless thousands of people, Mr. Barton said.

"An average of 45,000 patents are issued every year in the U. S.," the speaker continued. "This means that a new idea is born every 10 minutes. A continuation of creative work of this kind is certainly one of our country's greatest needs and offers one of the brightest spots in the future outlook."

Winning major sports letters were John Cooke of 240 Otis street, West Newton, baseball; Joseph D. French of 6 Weldon road, Newton, outdoor track; Peter W. Schwartz of 38 Grove Hill avenue, Newtonville, freshman 150-pound crew; and Philip M. Williams of 733 Parker street, Newton Centre, freshman outdoor track.

A varsity outdoor track letter was given to the team's manager, Martin M. Doctoroff of 41 Sheldon road, Newton Centre, and the freshman outdoor track associate manager, Samuel J. Gilfix of 143 Mill street, Newton Centre, received a minor "H" in major colors.

A minor letter and a major "H" in minor colors was given to Edward A. Cooney Jr. of 1507 Centre street, Newton Highlands, for varsity golf. Other minor numerals went to Richard P. Lipman of 48 Avondale road, Newton Centre, for the freshman rifle team, and Bruce MacDonald of 150 Mt. Vernon street, Newtonville, for the second freshman 150-pound crew.

3 New Stamps Scheduled by Post Office

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield today announced the description of three additional stamps of the new ordinary series in the 1-cent, 2-cent and 4-cent denominations. These stamps will be issued in sheets of 100.

The 1-cent stamp has for its central subject a likeness of George Washington reproduced from a portrait generally thought to be the original of the Vaughan or "right-side of the face" type, by Gilbert Stuart, now in the Mellon Collection, National Gallery of Art, Washington, D. C. The color of the stamp will be green.

This stamp will be first placed on sale at Chicago, Ill., on August 26, on the occasion of the annual convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans.

The 2-cent denomination contains a likeness of Thomas Jefferson taken from a portrait by Gilbert Stuart, now in the Bowdoin College Museum of Fine Arts, Brunswick, Me. The color will be red and it will be first placed on sale at San Francisco, Calif., on September 15, on the occasion of the annual convention of the American Philatelic Society.

The 4-cent stamp has for its central subject a likeness of Abraham Lincoln, reproduced from a portrait by Douglas Volk, now in the Mellon Collection. The color of this 4-cent stamp will be lavender, and it will be first placed on sale at New York, N. Y., on November 19, on the occasion of the annual convention of the American Stamp Dealers Association.

Stamp collectors desiring first day cancellations of these stamps may send a reasonable number of addressed envelopes, with money order remittance to cover the cost of the stamps to be affixed, to the Postmaster of the issuing cities, endorsing the outside of the envelope, "First Day Covers."

Chas. C. Kefauver GOP Candidate For Congressman

Charles C. Kefauver, a cousin of Sen. Estes Kefauver, but a member of the Republican Town Committee of Brookline, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination to Congress in the Tenth Congressional District, which includes Brookline, the Newtons, the Bay Bay, and parts of Allston, Brighton, West Roxbury, Jamaica Plain, Dorchester and Roxbury.

Mr. Kefauver a well known business man and trustee of Brookline and Boston, commented, "There is no reason why the Democratic Party should have a monopoly of the Kefauver name. Perhaps a Republican Kefauver in Congress might be a good thing for the Republican Party. That is up to the voters to decide in the primary on Tuesday, September 14th."

Liturgical Music Summer School For Three Weeks

A liturgical music summer school will again this year be held from August 16 to September 3 at Newton College of the Sacred Heart, where three-week summer sessions in Gregorian Chant have been held since 1946.

Miss Leddy has a fellowship for music study at Catholic University for 1954-1955.

Also on the faculty will be Dr. Josephine Shine, musicologist, who has just completed music studies at New York University; Miss Mary Van Vleet of the Newton music faculty, who studied at the Villa Schifanoia in Florence, Italy on a Cardinal Spellman scholarship, and who is vice-chairman of the music committee for the convention of the National League of Catholic Women to be held in Boston in November; and Mother Margaret Smith RSCJ, supervisor of music at the Academy of the Sacred Heart in Overbrook, Pennsylvania.

Special events of this year's program are a Requiem High Mass on Wednesday, August 18, at 9 a.m.; Solemn Vespers of Our Lady on Thursday, August 26, at 2 p.m.; and an out-of-doors concert by the faculty and students on Monday, August 30, at 7:30. The concert will be given at the same time on Tuesday evening if weather does not permit a performance on Monday.

North LL All-Stars Beaten; West Wins 3-1 at Watertown

Newton North Little League All-Stars, district champions for the past two years in tournament play, were victims of a last-inning uprising by Arlington Monday night, but Newton West eked out a 3-1 victory over Watertown Tuesday night to remain in the championship tourney.

Newton's third entry in play for the right to enter the Little League "world series" in Williamsport, Pa., the Newton South All-Stars, will meet Belmont South tonight (Thursday) at 6 p.m. at Richardson Playground, Waban. Although four leagues were in play in Newton this year, the East League decided not to enter the tournament because of vacations.

The North All-Stars played in one of the few games not rained by Monday's late thunderstorm. The local boys, who last year battled their way into the Little League finals, were behind from the start against Arlington, giving up pairs of runs in the first two frames. Four walks, two hit batters and a wild pitch set up the four tallies.

North bounced back with three runs in the bottom of the second on three hits, a walk and Arlington miscues. Both hurlers settled down until the last of the fifth, when Newton North pushed across three runs to grab the lead. Back-to-back home runs by pitcher Steve Gordon and third baseman Jim Beatrice featured the rally.

But the next time up, Arlington scored five runs on only two hits as Gordon and relief hurler Dave Fontana walked the first four batters. Newton appeared well on the way to a counter-rally in its half of the inning, but North failed to score after loading the bases with none out.

Tuesday night at Watertown, Newton West's power laden outfit slammed two home runs in beating Watertown East. Alan York gave up only two hits in notching the win, while Newton made the best of its four safeties.

Tennis Tourney For Girls Starts Tuesday Morning

The annual Girls' Tennis Tournament sponsored by the Newton Recreation Department will be held Tuesday starting at 10 a.m. at the Burr Playground, Newton.

There will be two classes of competition. Juniors will include girls who were in Grade 8 or under in the last school year, and the seniors will include girls who were in Grades 9 or 10.

All rounds will be of one set only, and tennis balls will be furnished by the Recreation Department. Entrants are warned that an extra day may be needed to complete the tournament. Anyone in doubt whether the tournament will be played due to threatening weather should call LA 5676 (Burr Playground).

About 500 Attend Services Friday For 'Sonny' Gath

More than 500 persons attended funeral services Friday morning in Our Lady's Church, Newton, for Harry "Sonny" Gath Jr. of Newtonville, noted local sports personality and restaurateur, who died July 21 in Newton-Wellesley Hospital after a long illness.

Mr. Gath was well-known in Newton sports circles. For the past 18 years he has sponsored and equipped baseball, football, basketball and bowling teams in Newton Recreation Department leagues. All his teams were known as "Gath's Guards."

A firm supporter of organized recreation programs, he long had sought a swimming pool at the Albemarle Playground. He made four unsuccessful ventures into politics, twice running for alderman from Ward 2, running for the nomination for state representative in 1948 and seeking the Republican nomination as Middlesex County Commissioner in 1950.

Mr. Gath was in business in Newtonville for 28 years, being connected with the operation of Gath's Restaurant on Washington street. He had served as treasurer of the Newton Restaurant Owners Association for 14 years.

A charter member of the Newton Republican Club, Mr. Gath also belonged to the Republican City Committee, Middlesex and Massachusetts Republican Clubs, Newtonville Improvement Association, Community Chest, Elks and Moose.

He leaves his wife, Rachel; a daughter, Carol; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gath of Newtonville; a brother, Arthur, A. Gath of Newtonville; and a sister, Mrs. Ellis C. Rand of Marshfield.

At the funeral, the bearers were all members of the original "Gath's Guards" of 1936. They were Leo Lagusse, James Cahill, Peter Ryan, Joseph Ward, Clifford Boudreau and John Gallagher.

Also present were many city officials, delegates from the Police and Fire Departments, and others. After the Mass, burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Newtonville Store Marks Expansion With Celebration

The Midnite Food Shop at 719 Washington street, Newtonville, next to Wilcox Cleaners, will celebrate the opening of its enlarged quarters Friday and Saturday at the "unusual store with the unusual name."

The Shop, identified by owners Ernie and Russ Menelly as the "biggest little store in Newton," features a complete line of groceries, cosmetics, frozen foods, fresh fruits, vegetables and many other items on a self-service basis.

The shop, which is open every day from 9 a.m. to midnight, is now nearly three times its former size, and the popular luncheonette — which features giant hamburgers and submarine sandwiches — has been doubled.

In honor of the expansion, hot dog sandwiches will be given away free, with lollipops and balloons for youngsters.

Why Not Give Newton Business a Chance?

Editor, Graphic:

I want to call to your attention the fact that the firm of V. Ciulla and Sons, who are building the Oak Hill Park shopping centre, are renting four of their stores to residents and businessmen of Sharon, while the residents and business people of Newton are being denied the opportunity of establishing business in this Newton area.

It seems to me that the people who are homeowners, tax payers and voters in this area should get first choice in such a development.

We are the voters who elect the officials who extended the privilege of building this center here, and should therefore not be denied this opportunity.

I have talked to many persons in the neighborhood, and they resent the intrusion of outsiders when there are local merchants interested.

I want to thank you for the publicity I know you will give this matter.

Mrs. P. Edward Eden Resigns As Red Cross Exec. Director

William Falconer, chairman of the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, announces that the executive committee has reluctantly accepted the resignation of the executive director, Mrs. P. Edward Eden, effective July 31st.

Mrs. Eden has been associated with the Newton Chapter for the past fifteen years. She served as vice-chairman of staff aides and of First Aid, co-chairman of Volunteer Services and vice-chairman of the Disaster Preparedness and Relief Committee before accepting the position of executive director slightly over two years ago.

Said Mr. Falconer, "Mrs. Eden is to be commended for her loyal and faithful service in the various capacities in which she has served, and it is with sincere regret that the Chapter accepts her resignation as Executive Director."

Among 732 Naval Reserve Midshipman who received amphibious training recently at the Naval Amphibious Base at Norfolk, Va., was Winthrop M. Goodwin of Purdue University, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morrell P. Goodwin of 423 Lowell avenue, Newtonville.

Highlands Woman Directs Opening Of Hospital Shop

Under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Sibley of Newton Highlands, president of "Friends of New England Hospital Association," a small gift shop has been opened in the lobby of Richards Building of New England Hospital, Dimock street and Columbus avenue, Roxbury.

At the present time, newspapers, magazines, candy, cosmetics and toilet articles are available in the shop, and later it is planned that greeting cards, hosiery, toys and other items will also be included.

The establishment of the gift shop represents the first project undertaken by the recently formed "Friends of New England Hospital Association." It has been opened for the convenience of hospital visitors, patients, and personnel who now will be able to procure practical or gift needs easily.

"One of the distinguishing characteristics of American industry is its ability to adjust itself to changes of great magnitude." — Beverly (Mass.)

Political Overtones

Ex-Governor Paul A. Dever is expected to take the stump to urge the Democratic voters to stand by the choice of their delegates at their party's State convention. How active Senator John F. Kennedy will be remains to be seen. Mayor John B. Hynes makes it a practice to remain neutral in primary campaigns, and he is not likely to change that custom this year. There are not many other Democratic leaders with much real strength to swing.

Governor's Councillor Patrick J. McDonough of Dorchester may be an important figure in the primary conflict between Murphy and Kelly, and many voters will be watching closely to see what, if anything, he does.

McDonough was the leading contender against Murphy for the Democratic endorsement for Governor at the State Convention. He led Murphy on the first three ballots.

After the convention, McDonough charged that he had been "jobbed" by ex-Governor Dever and that the latter had contrived his defeat. McDonough later pledged himself to work for Murphy's election. But whether he will campaign for him in a primary against a Democratic opponent, may be a different matter.

What McDonough does probably will influence many of the people who worked for him before the convention. If he gives energetic backing to Murphy, it unquestionably would help the Malden man. If he sits on his hands or occupies himself with his own campaign for reelection to the Governor's Council, it hurt Murphy.

McDonough always gives unswerving support to the Democratic standard-bearers, whenever they may be, in partisan elections, but like many other prominent Democratic figures he usually remains aloof from primary fights between members of his own party.

Whether the fact that Murphy was endorsed by the Democratic State Convention, at which McDonough was a candidate, will cause the Councillor to abandon what would be his ordinary policy of neutrality, is still to be determined.

To some extent, McDonough is in an awkward position. His normal disposition probably would be to attend to his own affairs, concentrate on his own candidacy for renomination and await the decision of the Democratic voters in the September primary.

If he follows that course, he presumably would incur the resentment of the Murphy camp. If he wades into the fight behind Murphy, he will arouse the hostility of Kelly's followers.

Kelly, who is never one to underestimate his own political prospects, declares that surveys he has made have convinced him he can defeat both Murphy and Herter.

The former Attorney General asserts that he intends to base his campaign for the Governorship on an attack against the convention system of endorsing candidates.

He sponsored a bill back in 1937 which outlawed pre-primary conventions, and the theme of his appeal in the campaign he is now launching undoubtedly will be that candidates should be nominated by the people, not by a gathering of delegates.

An add aspect to the situation, in the opinion of some experts, is that Murphy may benefit from a fight with Kelly in that it may serve to make him better known to the people and, if he wins by a substantial margin, give him greater momentum for the subsequent fall campaign.

The reaction in Murphy's camp, when Kelly filed his nomination papers, however, was one of obvious disappointment, and Murphy himself said in a public statement that he had hoped to concentrate on his campaign against Governor Herter.

Murphy went on to say that he was confident of the outcome of his primary contest.

Since the die apparently is now cast between the two men, most observers will now sit back and watch the progress of their race over the next seven weeks before advancing any opinion as to its probable trend or outcome.

It presents both potential advantages and disadvantages for Murphy. On the one hand, it gives him an opportunity to become far better known than he is at the present time, and that is one of the things he must do, if he is to make a real fight against Governor Herter. On the other, the prospect of financing both a primary campaign and then an election drive is probably one that is giving Murphy a great deal of concern. An extensive primary contest could drain his financial resources for the subsequent election.

He Put Up a Good Fight, But . . .

Briscoe Halt of Jefferson City, Tenn., who waged an energetic campaign for the Republican nomination for Sheriff and wound up by polling 43 votes out of a total of nearly 4,000 cast, published the following lament in an advertisement in the Jefferson County Standard:

"I lost several weeks canvassing. I lost several acres of corn and potatoes. I gave away two calves and five goats for barbeque. I gave away five pairs of suspenders, six ladies' dresses and 15 baby rattlers.

"For prospective voters, I plowed 173 acres and spread 63 loads of fertilizer. I drew 24 buckets of water, put up 14 kitchen stoves, kindled 17 fires and kissed 115 babies. I walked 6,481 miles, shook hands 9,847 times and talked enough to make several volumes.

"I lost two front teeth and some hair in a personal encounter with a supporter of an opponent. I attended 26 revival meetings and sang in all the choirs. I gave to home and foreign missions, made love to nine grass widows and got dog-bit 39 times, and folks, I still got defeated.

"I want to thank my 43 friends, and they are friends, for casting their votes for me. And to the rest of Jefferson County, I warn you that I am now going armed with a sawed-off shotgun because a man that doesn't have any more than 43 friends in a county as big as Jefferson is definitely in need of extra protection."

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Twelve conscientious objectors in Denver, who are opposed to war on religious grounds, will begin a diet this fall on food which has been exposed to atomic radiation. The government-sponsored test in which they are to participate will last a year.

William Robinson, a prisoner in a jail in Franklinton, La., pulled a new dodge to cover up his escape. He hung a rough sign on his cell door which read: "Please let me sleep late today—I wasn't able to get much sleep last night." When the jailer finally decided it was time for William to get up, he discovered the cell bars had been sawed and that William had vanished. Perhaps we walks in his sleep.

Gov't Aid for Road Building Presents a Knotty Problem

By CONGRESSMAN LAURENCE CURTIS

Indochina is in the forefront of Washington thinking. There is general agreement on two points, that the situation is serious for the United States, and that Red China must not be taken into the United Nations at the present time. A resolution expressing the latter was before the House of Representatives last week, and received a unanimous vote. That vote gives backing to the same views already expressed by Secretary Dulles and also more recently by Prime Minister Churchill.

The President's speech to the Governors' Conference on the subject of federal highways is of especial interest to Massachusetts. Massachusetts is a compact state without wide open spaces comparable to other parts of the country, and at the same time is a high federal tax paying state.

The result is that in the opinion of many people Massachusetts has not fared too well under the program of federal highway aid. Under that program money received by the federal government through taxation of the people of all the states is distributed back to the various states for road building. In the formula for distribution, road mileage in each state is one of the factors, and there is always the danger that Massachusetts will pay more than her fair share. Some people argue that she would be better off building her own roads and paying for them herself rather than having her people taxed and then getting back part of that money, if other states did the same.

There is general agreement that there is a national interest in having adequate through highways, and that their cost is a proper national expenditure. On the other hand, there has been objection to applying the federal highway aid principal to roads of lesser importance, the costs of which until recent years were handled on a state or local level. The early appropriations for the federal program were passed under the heading of "post roads."

Congress this year passed the largest appropriation for the federal highway aid program to date. The President's suggestions that the states and the federal government get together and cooperate in finding a solution to the huge amount of road construction still needed is undoubtedly sound; but the coolness with which it was received by some of the governors undoubtedly stems from the points of view discussed above.

The legislation for further federal encouragement to vocational rehabilitation for the physically handicapped swept through the House with little opposition; and rightly so, because it has been well proved that everybody gains, if the physically handicapped can be trained vocationally so that they can go off relief rolls and onto payrolls. Modern vocational training for the physically handicapped stresses a job within the remaining capabilities of the man, and seeks to minimize the lost abilities. Experience has shown that physically handicapped persons who have been trained and placed in jobs within their capabilities give a better than average account of themselves.

This is a program in which I have long been interested especially in connection with work with the disabled veterans, of whom I happen to be one.

The House Committee on the Judiciary, on which I serve, has had before it some difficult problems with regard to control of subversives. In particular one bill had to do with the problem of insecure persons working in plants which were constructing new defense weapons the details of which were still classified. Another bill had to do with communist infiltrated organizations. This goes a step further than any of the legislation which has yet been passed. Unless this type of legislation is very carefully formulated, there is always the danger that it may hit too wide a mark. At the present reading it looks as though the Judiciary Committee would refer these bills to a commission for further study rather than attempt to put them into proper shape at this late date in the session. There was a good deal of feeling that the bills were not in the best of shape as presented to that committee.

Bud Collyer and Bert Parks, emcees on the television and radio versions of "Break the Bank," have quite a file of the "blunders" that have been pulled by contestants on the show. Bert told one of the seven-year-old boys on the show with his mother who was asked what she would do if she broke the bank, "Buy a Cadillac," he blurted. And the show's sponsor is Dodge.

Collyer reports about the couple who stood to win $5300 for one more right answer. The question called for the name of Jacqueline Cochrane. The little woman whispered this name in her husband's ear but he shrugged it off and said, "Amelia Earhart." Collyer said he was sorry, that was wrong . . . and with the whole country listening, the irate woman was heard to say, "You big dunce. Wait till I get you home!"

Collyer says his favorite slip is the one about the Kansas City housewife, about 60, who was at the gateway to the bank when Bert stopped and asked her about her future plans if she won. "I'll get rid of my big obligation," she answered. He pressed her further. What was the first obligation? She said, "My husband is first."

Former Waban Resident Marries Miss Sara Spencer of Milford, Ct.

A wedding of interest to Waban residents was that held last Saturday afternoon at the Church of Christ, Congregational, in Milford, Conn., when Miss Sara Spencer of Milford, Ct., formerly of Waban, but now of Rye Beach, N. H., and Cataumet, married Miss Sara Jane Spencer, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Leon O. Spencer of Milford.

Dr. Roy M. Houghton officiated at the three o'clock ceremony in a setting of white flowers and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents.

Escorted by her father, and given in marriage by both parents, Miss Spencer wore a white Alencon lace over satin gown, fashioned with an illusion neckline trimmed with seed pearls, a tucked bodice, an empire waistline and a lace bouffant skirt which ended in a chapel length train. Her silk illusion finger-tip veil fell from a seed pearl and lace crown and she carried a cascade of white roses, stephanotis and white orchids.

As matron of honor for her sister, Mrs. Dow Eldon Emerson, Jr., of Darien, Conn., wore a turquoise silk taffeta gown and matching hat, trimmed with seed pearls. Her bouquet combined white and apricot colored gladioli blossoms. Miss Marilyn Jean DeCoursey of Storrs, Conn., as the maid of honor, was identically gowned as were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Warren C. Brimblecom of Wellesley, a sister of the bridegroom; Miss Elizabeth Ann Kelly of Milford, Conn.; Miss Suzanne E. Slater of Evanston, Ill.; and Miss Mary Tebbetts of Bedford, N. H. Leigh Ellen Emerson, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl and wore an apricot colored and white organdy dress and matching bandeau. She carried a miniature bouquet.

Girls Evaluate Activities At Pomroy House Day Camp

Several girls wrote papers on why they like the Pomroy House Day Camp, a Red Feather Agency situated on Lake Cochituate in Natick. Forty-seven girls have enjoyed over 500 camper days for the first three weeks of the camping season with their leaders, Miss Ellenore Crean, swimming instructor; Miss Janet Farrell and Miss Ruth Corbin, assistants; and Miss Helen I. Sandstrom, director.

"Camp of 54"
Martha Turner—age 12
Camp means to me a lot of activity. It takes away a lot of the boring life of having nothing to do when you are at home. The counselors are always considerate and thoughtful as long as their patience holds out. There are only one or two suggestions I can think of (1) think of some kind of stuff and try to make ants extinct, and (2) provide some over nights for the older ones.

I enjoy all the handicrafts of wood, leather, sewing, embroidery, etc. I like the cookouts on Wednesdays when the girls can bring hamburg, frankfurts and chicken wings and toast marshmallows. I think any girl who had an opportunity would love to come.

"Why I Like Camp"
Janet Dallaire—age 11
I like camp because it gives you something to do. I like cookouts, walks and many other things. Most of all I like wood-working. Camp is out in the woods, yet it is not far from home. I like it very much. For suggestions, I would like to have painting and making things out of clay and, when it is time for a story, have the children take turns reading to the others.

"The Pomroy Camp"
Alicia Hebb—age 12
The Day Camp run by the Pomroy House is a very suitable place for many activities. There are fields for playing ball games, an excellent water-front for swimming activities and many other things.

The Camp provides me with an opportunity to learn to use different activities in different ways. The counselors teach us swimming, handicrafts, wood-working, etc.

The thing I like best is the swimming period in the morning. There we learn to do the different strokes and floats under the direction of a Red Cross teacher. I also like the story, handicrafts and afternoon swimming periods very much.

The camp swimming area could be improved by clearing out the weeds from the area immediately in front of the dock. Rest period could be improved by allowing the children to do quiet activities such as reading. I think Pomroy is very nice.

"Why I Like Camp"
Priscilla Farrell—age 11

I like camp because then I can mix in with the girls and have a good time. Then my mother does not have to worry over me while she is at work. We learn how to do all kinds of things, for instance: sewing and woodwork. We should have a raft for the good swimmers. We like the leaders and I hope I can come back next year.

"What Camp Means to Me"
Eleanor Antonellis—age 11
Most people think that camp is a place where children go just to have fun. Camp is fun, we also learn many things. Every girl I know or have met at camp says it is fun. The program we have is well planned. We have handicrafts in the morning. In these classes we learn to make things with our hands: woodworking, sewing, leather work are the ones I like best. Then we have swimming supervised by our leaders. After lunch and our rest we have a chapter in a story. We are taught songs, and sing in groups. We have another swim period in the afternoon. Camp, also, teaches a person to make new friends and to learn new things.

Camp teaches us the American way of living. I think that all children should go to camp. They are missing a great deal if they don't.

Laurence Cooke Files for State Rep. Nomination

Laurence E. Cooke of 43 Walker street, Newtonville, has filed nomination papers in the office of Secretary of the Commonwealth for the Democratic nomination as state representative from Newton's north side; Newton Corner, Nonantum, Newtonville and West Newton (Wards 1, 2, 3 and 7).

In a public statement, Cooke said: "An aggressive and informative campaign can win the Fourth Middlesex District for the Democrats. I intend to wage such a campaign with the aid and support of the growing number of people in Newton—Democrats, Independents and Republicans—who believe that the rebirth of a vigorous Democratic group within the city is the key to better representation on Beacon Hill."

Cooke is a practicing attorney, a member of the law firm of Gottlieb, Hargordon and Cooke in Boston. His elementary education began in St. Mary's parochial grammar school in Melrose, and was completed in a public high school. Cooke was graduated with honors from Harvard College in 1943 and received his L.L.B. from Harvard Law School after World War II. He served as a Naval Officer aboard an LST in the European Theater during the war. He is married to the former Jacqueline LaMarche and they have one child.

Active in community affairs, he served last year as assistant chairman of the Community Fund in Newtonville. In September of 1953, he was instrumental in annulling a special election in this district which had been called by the Republican speaker of the House in violation of the State election laws. He is a member of the Ward 2 Democratic Committee and was a delegate to his party's pre-primary convention in Worcester this Spring.

'Shooting Stars' In Annual Sky Show in August

It's "shooting star" time again! Any fine evening from August 4 to 16, stargazers will be rewarded with the sight of shining meteors plunging earthward.

The shower will reach its peak on August 12, when a pair of patient observers with the whole sky in view should be able to count almost a meteor a minute, says John Patterson, Director of the Hayden Planetarium at Boston's Museum of Science.

Director Patterson points out, however, that "shooting" or "falling stars" are not stars at all. They are simply tiny particles of cosmic matter traveling through space at a terrific speed. These particles are invisible until they reach the earth's atmosphere where friction heats them to incandescence. The streak of light that we see is properly called a meteor. The little particle of matter itself is known as a meteorite and most of them are no larger than the head of a common pin.

About 25 million meteors visible to the naked eye plunge into our atmosphere daily but—fortunately for us—it is only on very rare occasions that we encounter one of sufficient size to survive its trip through the atmosphere and actually land on the earth's surface.

"Some meteor showers are disappointing," says Director Patterson, "and others are complete flops, but the August shower, known as the Perseids, is really dependable." Real "shooting star" fans will find that they see more meteors after midnight. The reason for this is that the observer is then on the leading side of the earth in its progress around the sun, plowing through streams of cosmic dust—much as an automobile collects bugs on its windshield when driving through a cloud of insects. Before midnight, when we are on the following side of the earth, only meteors that can catch up with us are visible.

"I believe that my legal training and experience and my knowledge of community affairs in Newton will enable me to serve the city well in the House of Representatives. The need for two-party representation here is becoming increasingly apparent and I am confident that thoughtful voters are aware of this. I respectfully invite the support of the voters of Wards 4, 5, and 6 and I assure them that I seek this office with the purpose of serving the District to the best of my ability."

Mr. Delaney is an instructor at Boston College Law School and is engaged in the private practice of law. From 1942 to 1946, Mr. Delaney was on active duty in the U.S. Navy. He ranked second in his class at Boston College Law School, from which he was graduated in 1940. Mr. Delaney maintains a wide and active interest in civic affairs. He assisted in the organization of the Newton East Little League and has served variously as executive secretary, coach, director, and manager during the past three years. He is a member of the Newton Centre Improvement Association and has been an assistant Cub Scout master. tion of the devoted service given by him to this institution for over six years, of his generous assistance in its various projects, of his keen interest in its welfare and of his willingness always to give to us a large share of the time and thought which he devoted to organizations dedicated to the relief of suffering and the welfare of mankind.

"And further be it resolved, that this resolution be duly recorded and a copy sent to his family."

Riley Hampton read the following tribute to Charles B. Floyd: "The Newton-Wellesley Hospital and the citizens of Newton lost a loyal friend, unselfish worker and civic leader when Charles B. Floyd died on July 5, 1954. His associates in many business and civic activities—especially those of the hospital—will miss his wise counsel and devoted service in the many problems which come before us."

"Charlie" Floyd had been a trustee of the hospital for seven years and a member of the Board of Governors for one year. He always accepted any assignment or responsibility without question. He was respected for the sound judgment, integrity of purpose and energy which he gave so freely to any accepted task in business or civic activities. He was one of the best known and most active leaders in the community. His advice and administrative abilities were in constant demand by business, civic and philanthropic organizations as well as by our city and federal governments. He was admired for his keen sense of humor, good will, ideals and loyalty to his friends. He will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

"Be it resolved, therefore, that the trustees and the board of governors of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital record this tribute to his character and services in the archives of the hospital, and that a copy be sent to his family to let them know how much his associates share in the sorrow and loss of such a valued friend and to express our sincere sympathy in their loss."

Dr. David Skinner, in an illustrated talk on an atomic pathology explained to the trustees, using full-color slides, the three-fold function of the pathologist whose work is intended to provide an objective record of tissues removed during operation or those seen in patients, for teaching purposes, and for the control of patient care and for the diagnosis of disease both pre and post-mortem.

George S. Burgess, secretary to the board of governors reported to the board, announcing the appointment of five interns and five residents and the following staff appointments: to the Courtesy Staff: Dr. George J. Talis, Dr. Selma R. Deitch, Dr. George A. Pothier and Dr. Neville A. Booth; Dr. James L. Flynn was re-appointed to the Courtesy Staff and Dr. Edward L. Sleeper and Walter C. Guralnick were advanced to the Active Staff in Oral Surgery as also were Drs. R. Leonard White and Kelley K. Davis in Pediatrics. Dr. Frank M. O'Connor was granted a leave of absence from the Active Staff to pursue a course in dermatology; Dr. Edgar M. Holmes was placed on the Tumor Clinic as a consultant in plastic surgery and Dr. Milton M. Gilson was given privileges in obstetrics in addition to his appointment in Medicine.

The Board of Governors also announced that the fiscal year would become effective ending Sept. 30 and commencing Oct. 1. Henry Dunker reported for the investment committee and was able to comment on a "healthy increase" in the value of the hospital's investment portfolio.

William B. Chase reported for the School of Nursing, remarking that during this 66th year of the operation of the School 51 students were graduated to swell the total of graduates to almost 1,500. Of this year's graduates, 18 will remain at the Newton-Wellesley. Mr. Chase gratefully acknowledged a gift of $650 from Mrs. Susan Brown for the scholarship fund and announced with regret the resignations of Raymond Green and Miss Boweh from the Board of the School.

Dr. Richard I. Smith reported briefly for the executive committee of the Medical Staff, noting the graduation of interns and residents and the incoming class. Dr. Smith also cited certain improvements in the operating suites and the activities of the Tissue Committee.

Mrs. Robert W. Moore Jr. reported for the Hospital Aid in the absence of Mrs. Paul T. Babson, Aid president. Mrs. Moore stated that the Aid had accepted a $10,000 program for improving operating room facilities and told of the Aid's activities during Hospital Week.

Mr. William S. Brines concluded the program, giving his report as director. Mr. Brines introduced Mr. John Harrison, Administrative Assistant and Mr. Robert Moore, Administrative Resident. Mr. Brines also referred to the new contract being concluded with Blue Cross and commented on the declining hospital census, particularly in the obstetrical department. Mr. Brines stated that this was common to other hospitals in "With the appointment of Dr. Zonderman, Mr. Rabb said, 'we hope to continue the improvement to this department, whose high standards were set by Dr. Fred, and give greater service to patients with diseases of the ear, nose and throat.'"

Commenting upon this appointment, Dr. Cecil G. Sheps, executive director, said, "There have been a number of important developments in the field of Otolaryngology in the past few years. Not only do we now hope to offer a more extensive service to the community in this field but research will be expanded and an improved residency program undertaken."

Expenses Rise, Income Down, Hospital Treasurer Reports

At the regular quarterly meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, held at Usen Auditorium at the hospital Tuesday afternoon, the trustees heard reports from the several committee chairmen and were presented a talk on clinical pathology by Dr. David Skinner, chief of the Laboratories of Pathology at the hospital. Charles M. Cutler, hospital president, welcomed back Mrs. Theron B. Walker, recently returned from a long absence in California.

Mr. Samuel Brown presented the treasurer's report, commenting on the advance in operating expenses and the decline in income, due chiefly to a lowered census at the hospital during the first six months of this year. Mr. Brown also noted that Blue Cross payments for ancillary services were not keeping pace with costs and remarked that a new contract was being negotiated with Blue Cross which should alleviate this picture. A recent rate increase is also showing beneficial effects on the income and does not seem to have adver-

Three resolutions were offered and voted by the Board on the recent passing of board members. William B. Chase read the following resolution: "Philip S. Jamieson, a trustee of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital since 1938, passed away on May 7, 1954, after an illness of several weeks. Again, one of Newton's finest citizens has been called away at the very zenith of his service among us. Few men have spent their lives in broader fields of unselfish usefulness, or been as efficient in these fields as was Phil Jamieson."

"Besides being a trustee of our hospital, he was a director of the Newton National Bank, a trustee of the Newton Cemetery, a former chairman of the Horace Cousins Industrial Fund (established in Newton to assist working people to buy their own homes), a director of the Salvation Army and former chairman of the Salvation Army drive in Newton."

"He served with distinction on the Newton Board of Aldermen from 1929 to 1935 and was past president of the Boston Rotary Club. The fact that he was chosen to carry the burden of these responsibilities and to receive these many and varied honors bears witness to the very high esteem in which he was held by his wide circle of friends and the great respect which he commanded for his sound judgment and ability from all who know him and his work."

"His was a life filled with sympathetic and genuine interest in the welfare of others and devoted to the many agencies that make for human uplift. The trustees wish to record herewith their sorrow in his passing and to express their sympathy to the members of his family by sending them a copy of this tribute."

Clifford H. Walker presented the following resolution: "Whereas this Board has recently lost by death the services of one of its most helpful members, Israel Friedlander, of Waban, now

New Drive-In To Open Soon In West Roxbury
The VFW Parkway Drive-In Theatre on Route 1, West Roxbury, is nearing completion and is expected to open shortly. The most ultra modern Drive-In ever built in the East, there will be space for 1000 cars to park and see the films.
CinemaScope will be shown on the largest screen ever made and the actual picture will be 120 feet by 54 feet. The latest RCA sound equipment has been installed.
There will be four separate self-service cafeterias and an electric merry-go-round for the children. The management announces that children under 12 will be admitted free.
The new Drive-In, which will employ 30 people, will be open seven nights a week and the picture will go on rain or shine. The box office opens at 6:30 and the picture will start at dusk.
The films will be from all the leading studios and the latest offerings will be shown. The proceeds of the opening night's show will all go to the Jimmy Fund, to aid cancer research in children, and a host of celebrities will be on hand for the gala opening night festivities.

Juveniles Train At Wonderland For Rich Stakes
As Wonderland moves down the stretch and nears its last full month of greyhound racing, intense interest becomes focused on the juveniles. These youngsters are the 'name' dogs of tomorrow and to be eligible to compete in Wonderland's rich juvenile stake, they must be born after January 1, 1953 and survive a series of elimination contests.
To date, racing secretary Dick Price has received entry nominations for 82 of these brash youngsters, most of them offsprings of some of the elite in dogdom.
Beginning this week, Price will send them out under the lights, following the tenth races on Wednesday and Thursday nights. This schooling, under the mazes, with much of the crowd remaining, will serve to accustom them to the lights and the roar of the crowd, much as though they were in actual racing, so that when they do come up to the real thing, they will be sufficiently trained.
As the nominations now stand, Price will have to set up a series of eliminations so that when the quarter-finals are scheduled, he will have 32 of the country's best juveniles and then these will be pared down to 16 and finally to 8. And these 8 will go as Wonderland's 9th annual running of its rich juvenile stake.

What to Eat... Lazy Day Drink
When you sip a cooling drink made of ice cream with milk and plenty of fruit flavoring you get a refreshing pick-up and lasting nourishment.
It is easy to mix drinks of milk and fruit juice with a glamorous ice cream topping. This kind of creamy, colorful drink is popular with all the family. Guests, too, like these drinks in tall glasses.
Most home refrigerators are well stocked with ice cream, milk, and the easy-to-store cans of concentrated frozen fruit juice. For a new flavor treat, serve a Grape Cooler to your family or friends the next time you want easy refreshment for a hot day. It tastes good, and looks good.
GRAPE COOLER
1 pint vanilla ice cream
1 pint milk
1 can (6 oz.) concentrated frozen grape juice
Place all ingredients in a blender or mixer and mix well. Garnish top with extra ice cream if desired. Makes 3 generous servings.

Union Services on Sunday In N<sup>o</sup>ville Methodist Church

The Newton summer union services will be held at the Newtonville Methodist Church, 288 Walnut street, Newtonville, Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The guest preacher will be Dr. Wallace W. Robbins, president of the Meadville Theological School of the Federated faculty of the University of Chicago.

Dr. Robbins formerly held Unitarian pastorates in Alton, Ill., and St. Paul, Minn. Active in community affairs, Dr. Robbins was appointed by the former governor of Minnesota, Harold E. Stasson, to the wartime panel of labor mediators, and he also accepted appointment to the panel of the United States War Labor Board.

Mayor John McDonough of St. Paul appointed him chairman of the housing committee which recommended a project of slum clearance to the legislature. A member of the board of the Neighborhood House and president of the Urban League for six years, he made minority frictions one of his special concerns.

Since becoming president of the Meadville Theological School, Dr. Robbins has devoted his time to the work of forming and assisting in the administration of the largest faculty of Protestant theologians in America, in which professors of all the major denominations of the Protestant Church hold appointments.

Dr. Robbins, chairman of the Cabinet of Deans in this faculty, also holds the appointment of Ellery Channing Butler Professor of the Church at the University of Chicago. From January, 1948, until July 1, 1953, he held the position of associate dean of the University of Chicago Chapel. He still preaches to the university once a month.

Child Guidance Work Explained By Waban Woman

Miss Marianne Richardson of 9 East Quinobequin road, Waban, was the principal guest last Thursday on the WBMS radio program, "What's It To You?" Miss Richardson is a psychiatric social worker of the Child Guidance Unit at the New England Medical Center.

Interviewed by program director Lou Terri, she answered the question, "How can I stop my three year old from sucking his thumb?" Miss Richardson explained that one of the reasons a child will hold on to this phase of babyhood is because he feels unable to cope with new and strange changes in his world such as associating with older children or a change in the family and therefore, tries to hold on to the things he does know.

However, she said, sucking the thumb usually does no harm and it is better if the child resorts to that rather than repressing its fears and anxieties until the repressions show up as abdominal pains, headaches, sleeplessness and other such symptoms. When no physical disorder can be found, the family doctor may refer the parent to the Child Guidance Unit. There is a psychiatrist has play-talk sessions with the child and allows him to express in playing or talking the feelings that have been hidden.

Miss Richardson suggests that anyone in need of more complete information call the Red Feather Information Service at RI 2-2000.

"What's It To You?" is a public service program heard on WBMS, 1090 on the dial, every Tuesday and Thursday from 12:35 to 12:45 p.m. A question of interest to the general public is answered by a Red Feather expert in the field.
